Huge Plastic Sphere Shot 225 Miles Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A giant plastic sphere was shot 225 miles into the air Saturday night and used to bounce a radio voice signal back to the earth.

The 130-pound bundle of plastic sheeting was rocketed into the sky from Wallops Island, Va., at 8:21 p.m. EST. and blossomed into a sphere as tall as a 10-story building.

This was the third test of the big bags but the first time one was used for the main purpose for which it is designed. The spheres ultimately are to be placed in orbit to serve as reflectors for radio signals including voice transmission.

IN THE TEST, a 12-sentence oral message was beamed at the sphere from the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Holmdel, N. J. It was received, on the bounce, at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's station at Round Hill, Mass., and at the General Electric Co. Laboratories at Schenectady, N. Y.

Observers noted a red glow around the sphere and it was explained this was caused by light reflecting from a red dye mixed with the sublimating powder which was used to expand the balloon.

Rayburn's Brother in Grave Condition

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Tom Rayburn, 72, brother of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, remained in serious condition in Baylor Medical Center here Saturday. The speaker was with him.

EXECUTIONS DECLINE

41 States Keep Death Penalty Despite Trend

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Does the death penalty deter crime? Is it contrary to religious and humanitarian principles? Are innocent people sometimes executed?

These are some of the questions that will face the California Legislature when it convenes Monday to consider Gov. Edmund Brown's proposal for abolition of capital punishment.

Citizens of other states will follow the California debate with intense interest. Churches and other groups have been campaigning vigorously in recent years to repeal the gas chamber, the electric chair and the hangman's noose to museum chambers of horror. And while they have so far achieved few victories in state legislatures, they have succeeded in stirring nationwide concern.

During the past century, nine states have abolished capital punishment. They are Michigan, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Maine, Delaware, Alaska and Hawaii. Delaware repealed its death penalty statute in 1958—the first state to do so in 40 years. Alaska and Hawaii came into the Union with life imprisonment as the maximum punishment.

ALTHOUGH ABOLITION BILLS have been introduced in most of the remaining state legislatures in recent years, they either did not come to a vote or were decisively defeated. The California lawmakers themselves have rejected eight abolition bills in the past 27 years.

Of the 41 states which still have laws authorizing the death penalty, nine have not carried out any actual executions in more than five years. There seems to be a pronounced national trend away from executions.

During the 1930s, the number of executions throughout the United States averaged 167 a year. The average dropped to 128 during the 40s, and to 74 during the 50s. In 1958, there were 48 executions, and last year 49.

Those who favor retention of the death penalty argue that it is a necessary deterrent to crimes like murder, rape and kidnapping. Their viewpoint was expressed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon in recent comment on the California debate.

"You must balance the taking of the life of a criminal against innocent lives that would otherwise be taken," Nixon said. He noted that kidnappings fell off after passage of the Federal Lindbergh Law making the offense a capital crime.

"The death penalty was an effective and probably the only deterrent for kidnappings," he said. "I believe it should be retained as a deterrent for crimes of that magnitude."

Opponents reply that history has refuted the claim that the death penalty is needed as a deterrent to crime.

VA Hospital Modernizing Meets Delay

New Establishment Elsewhere to Ease Congestion Here

By BILL BROOM

WASHINGTON — Modernization of Long Beach Veterans Hospital will be delayed and its bed capacity reduced under a major shift in Veterans Administration hospital policies.

But the end result will be more hospital beds in a new Southern California VA Hospital for the growing veterans population in Los Angeles and surrounding counties, said Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Long Beach), who learned about the shift from VA Administrator Sumner G. Whitier.

Unaffected by the change will be a $1.5-million renovation and modernization of clinical and research facilities at the Long Beach hospital. Money for the work has been allocated and construction will go ahead on schedule in 1961, Hosmer said.

STILL UNDER study, the VA's plans for the area call for construction of a new veterans hospital with up to 1,000 beds somewhere in the Southland. It will siphon off 250 or more beds from Long Beach, Hosmer said, because VA officials believe the hospital is overcrowded.

British Ship's Safe Looted in U.S. Port

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — Newark police reported Saturday night that some "top-secret" documents were taken from the British freighter Whararui, but a spokesman for the British consulate in New York said the papers were routine maritime documents that had no military value.

The British spokesman said the object of the theft apparently was money. The master of the vessel, Capt. F. M. Williamson, discovered the theft about 2:30 p.m.

He described the papers as "classified and top secret" and said they had been taken from an open safe in his cabin.

Police were searching for a man seen aboard the freighter earlier in the day. The man was reported to have told crew members he was checking electrical equipment.

FAMILIAR GREETING

Despite hectic pace of tour, President Eisenhower displays the famed Ike grin and raises his arms in greeting to crowd outside Argentine Supreme Court in Buenos Aires where he visited Saturday morning. — (AP Wirephoto.)

THINK TOUR IS EASY?

President Earns His Day of Rest

By WALTER T. RIDDER

Chief, Independent Press-Telegram Capital Bureau

BARILOCHE, Argentina—President Eisenhower has reached the half-way mark in his tour of South America.

Work in two countries, Brazil and Argentina, has been completed; Chile and Uruguay lie ahead.

If ever a man deserved this one day of rest, it is the President.

While the common conception of these so-called ceremonial visits is to think in terms of President Eisenhower making a few public appearances and letting it go at that, the facts are that these visits are work — hard work. The hours are murderously long, the work not always interesting, and both the physical and mental strains are great.

TAKE A TYPICAL day, for example. Take last Friday when the President journeyed from Rio de Janeiro to Buenos Aires and spent most of the day at public functions in the Argentine capital. His day started when he was awakened at about 7 a.m. Work started at about the same time, because he had to re-vamp the speech which had been prepared for delivery at the Rio de Janeiro Airport.

The crash of the Navy plane and the Brazilian airliner necessitated changes in both words and script. He had to take his farewell of people at the United States embassy before taking the helicopter to the airport, where he heard speeches and had to make his parting talk.

The two-and-a-half-hour flight from Brazil to Argentina was taken up largely with briefings about subjects which were likely to come up during his stay in Buenos Aires, with final touches on the various public speeches he was to give, a glance at preparatory talks in Chile and Uruguay, and such routine or exceptional business which regularly must come to a President.

THE MACE missile, an atomic-tipped descendant of the German World War II V-1 pilotless bomber, will give the new air force a degree of strategic striking power.

Made by the Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md., it is a jet-propelled weapon with swept-back wings and is boosted from its launcher to flying speed by rocket power. Its range is 1,200 miles and speed about 650 miles an hour.

Its warhead is understood to pack about double the destructive force of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile.

Store Violence Spreads; Jail 100

A young Negro woman was hit with a miniature baseball bat and more than 100 persons arrested Saturday as violence erupted in the South where Negroes are pressing their campaign for equal service at lunch counters.

In Washington, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) charged efforts are being made to spark Southern race riots in hopes of winning support for passage of pending civil rights legislation.

Student demonstrations and picketing occurred in several Southern cities and at Madison, Wis.

Montgomery, Ala., was the scene of the racial incident involving the Negro woman, Christine Stovall, about 22.

POLICE SAID she was struck on the head by one of about 25 white men who gathered in the downtown area carrying miniature baseball bats in paper sacks. The blow drew blood but she was not knocked unconscious.

About a dozen whites and Negroes scuffled briefly after the incident. They disappeared in the gathering crowd before police arrived, however, and no arrests were made.

At Nashville, Tenn., police broke up a series of "sit-ins" by Negroes in downtown stores and arrested 75 persons. Two fights were reported and auto traffic was detoured around one business block for a time while demonstrators milled about.

LUNCH COUNTERS at three variety stores, a drug store and a department store were closed. Police said all those arrested would be charged with disorderly conduct.

"We're going to fill their jails," Earl Mays, a Negro student at Fisk University, Nashville, told a reporter. "That's a promise."

"We did not take all the seats," said Diane Nash, another Fisk student. "We did not want people to think we were trying to take over. But it is a moral issue. We want to be treated equally."

Between 300 and 400 Negro students at Tuskegee Institute marched two abreast on the sidewalk around the square in Tuskegee, Ala., carrying placards appealing for voting rights and civil rights in general. Tuskegee is 40 miles east of Montgomery.

The demonstration was orderly except for one scuffle between a Negro student and a white mechanic. They were separated quickly. Both were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and affray.

SENATOR RUSSELL Fears Powder Keg

Suspect Held in Slaying of Officer

STATELINE, Calif., (UPI) — Arnold Ray Reese, 24, of Riverside, Calif., was arrested Saturday as a suspect in the slaying of California Highway Patrolman Richard Duvall last Tuesday.

Reese and a woman identified as Mrs. Sheree Jones, San Bernardino, were seized by California and Nevada authorities in the climax to a 12-hour all-night stakeout at their motel cabin in this community at the south end of Lake Tahoe.

Reese was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder and burglary. Mrs. Jones was booked on a burglary charge.

EL DORADO County Sheriff Ernest Carlson said he had received a teletyped message from the California Highway Patrol in San Bernardino, asking him to watch for a 1956 Lincoln.

Carlson said deputies Friday night found a car matching this description at the motel after being tipped by Reno, Nev., police that it was in the State line area.

Duvall, 27, was killed Tuesday and his body discovered near his patrol car near Victorville, Calif. He had been shot in the heart and in the head. Authorities were also searching for James Kendrick, 29, a San Quentin Prison escapee, believed to have been with Reese at the time of the shooting.

Are You Headed for Heart Attack? Doctor Lists Factors

By BEN ZINSER
Are you likely to have a heart attack?
If you are a man approaching middle life, you have to think about that question. Coronary heart disease, the nation's No. 1 killer, is currently striking hardest at the middle-aged man.
More and more, men under the age of 45 are being stricken.
The Independent, Press-Telegram has asked a Long Beach heart specialist to discuss the "coronary man"—the man most likely to be hit with coronary disease.
The doctor has also been asked what this man can do to avoid becoming a victim.
The questions were put to Dr. Eugene Temkin, medical education chairman of the Long Beach Heart Assn.

Question: Dr. Temkin, what causative factors have been implicated to date in the development of coronary heart disease?
Answer: In general the numerous studies in our country and abroad have shown that the behavior of certain blood fats and cholesterol, as well as obesity, and probably stress are contributory to coronary artery disease. Other factors which are known or believed to be involved are the existence of high blood pressure, the lack of regular exercise, smoking and some hereditary tendencies.
Q. How does each fit?
A. Before I answer, please remember one point: the opinions stated here today may not hold tomorrow. New research findings may change or modify our concepts. But as of now this appears to be the picture:
CHOLESTEROL—Cholesterol is a wax-like substance that occurs naturally in blood and tissues of all animals. By some process this substance deposits under the lining of the coronary arteries—the blood vessels that nourish the heart muscle—and they eventually become narrowed or plugged so that blood cannot reach the heart muscle in adequate amounts. Ultimately when the vessel is completely plugged, a heart attack occurs—coronary occlusion.
In some conditions cholesterol in the blood may be increased, with the coronary arteries remaining unaffected and no heart attack occurring. In other instances the elevated cholesterol levels of the blood do parallel the formation of coronary artery disease. Obviously some other factor, unknown at this time, is causing cholesterol to misbehave in the walls of the coronary artery to bring on a heart attack.

Cholesterol, as such, is not the villain.
Normally, your liver's own production of cholesterol will increase in the event your cholesterol intake by way of food dwindles. In other words, what you do not eat, your liver will manufacture from other food substances.
In view of this, a no-cholesterol diet is not recommended unless the blood cholesterol levels are found to be very high. The question as to whether the kind of cholesterol you eat is better or worse than the kind your liver makes has not yet been settled.
DIETARY FATS—The body needs certain fats as an energy source and tissue-building substance. Certain amounts are required daily to maintain good nutrition. There are several types of fats. Those called saturated

L.A.C. Says: Obscenity Trend

Unless television, moving pictures, comic books, magazines and newspapers overcome the trend toward obscenity they will inevitably have censorship by government. A folder just released, "Scoreboard," is adamant against any such censorship. It pleads for help from the general public in fighting the threatened censorship. But it does not condemn the groups who are flooding the nation with obscenity.

As a writer and former publisher of a newspaper, we are opposed to censorship. We fear the zealots who see something obscene in everything with which they disagree. But we also know that the playing up to the emotions of readers is the surest way to sell a product. This is unfortunately true. But wherever this attitude has been rampant it has destroyed the nation that fostered it, as happened to many civilizations of the past.

We recall past years when "Three Weeks" was looked upon as an obscene book. It was mild compared to the flood of books distributed today. We recall when "Fanny" Arbuckle was in trouble and had to retire from the films—his pictures ready for release were junked by the producers. But today we find stars with worse records and notoriety built into leading box office attractions.

The Post Office Department is under attack because it banned from the mails a best seller. The U. S. attorney told the court this book, taken as a whole, is nothing more than indecent exposure. But it continues to be listed as one of the 10 best sellers.

Recently we wrote a condemnation of the motion picture, "Anatomy of Murder." It was a vividly portrayed story of court scenes where rape and obscenity were major factors. It went into such detail little was left to the imagination. The Saturday matinees were crowded with children who saw the rapist go free and all the sympathy was with Jimmy Stewart, who was the defending attorney.

We received very heavy mail from parents agreeing with our criticism which was deeply appreciated and inspiring. But we hope our readers also wrote to the theaters and producers of the picture. Such letters should also go to their congressmen and senators. We do not suggest that censorship should be provided at this time. But if those responsible for obscene books, pictures and other publications do not clean up their own house such censorship will come.

We have little patience with these purveyors of filth. They cry out against censorship because it would cut their sale of obscenity. We also have little patience with parents who permit teenagers to take their girls to such shows—or who are too apathetic to inform the purveyors that such "literature" or pictures are opposed by a large portion of the population. It is doubtful such protests will be made in sizable numbers. But there must be curtailment of such obscenity if the already weakened morals of the nation are not to be entirely destroyed.—L.A.C.

Kuchel Offers New Bill Aimed at Air Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new bill aimed at ending air pollution was introduced Saturday by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.).

Joining as cosponsors were Sens. Clair Engle (D-Calif) and Joseph S. Clark (D) and Hugh Scott (R) of Pennsylvania.

The proposal is Kuchel's third in six years to have the federal government provide leadership in campaigns to prevent atmospheric contamination.

In accordance with recommendations of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the bill would lift the ceiling on annual appropriations for research and investigation and remove the terminal date for the U. S. Surgeon General to hold hearings and make investigations of air-pollution problems.

MARGARET SHOWS OFF RING

Tony's Ex-Girl Friend in Hiding

LONDON (UPI) — Jackie Chan went into hiding Saturday after the shock of learning that her former boy friend, Antony Armstrong-Jones, had become engaged to Princess Margaret.

The 23-year-old Eurasian actress had been playing what is politely called a "Yum-Yum Girl" in the stage version of "The World of Suzie Wong" here and acting a similar role in the film production being made outside London.

She slipped away from the theater before the final curtain Friday night to avoid reporters and went to the apartment of a girl friend who said that many offers had been made for Jackie's memoirs of her romance with the photographer who will wed the princess.

"She doesn't want to talk about it," said the friend.

JACKIE WAS first spotted by Tony as a possible model. Her exotic, expressive face appeared in many of his pictures and they were often seen out together.

Saturday the Daily Sketch said Tony's friends once thought he would marry Jackie. The newspaper called her: "The girl he left behind." They kissed at London Airport a year ago when Tony returned from a trip to the United States. They went on a holiday to Switzerland together that spring.

Meanwhile Saturday Princess Margaret, smiling shyly but proudly, flashed a modest new ruby-and-diamond engagement ring for all the world to see as she posed for the cameras arm-in-arm with her fiancé.

THE COUPLE held hands at Windsor amid indications their wedding probably would take place in April or June. There was speculation that an American honeymoon could follow for the princess, and the longshot from Pimlico Rd. who won her heart.

For her honeymoon, Margaret could have her pick of any of the commonwealth nations that would be honored to have her. But some thought she just might convince the queen that this would be the right time for her long-desired trip to the United States.

The princess and her commoner fiancé emerged for the official picture-taking rites from the royal lodge at Windsor where they are spending the weekend with Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Monday, Armstrong-Jones will move from his Bohemian basement apartment at No. 20 Pimlico Rd. to a suite in Buckingham Palace.

The 29-year-old princess wore a two-piece costume of pale blue. Armstrong-Jones, who will be 30 next month, wore a lounge suit.

Despite his long experience behind the camera as a society photographer, he was somewhat stiff and self-conscious before the lens.

The smiling princess held her new engagement ring in such a fashion as to make sure the camera would capture it.

THE EX-SOCIETY photographer and the sister of Queen Elizabeth came to the posing

Sen. Russell Sees Plot in Race Clashes

and later released under $50 bond apiece.

FIVE NEGRO youths were arrested in downtown Chattanooga, Tenn., by police alerted to head off racial demonstrations. Four were charged with loitering and a fifth with carrying a leaded cane.

Thirteen white students, seven of them seniors, were expelled from Notre Dame High School for going into downtown Chattanooga. The principal, the Rev. J. J. Driscoll, said none of the expelled youths took part in any demonstrations, however. He said they simply violated his order not to go downtown.

Three white youths grabbed a placard from a Negro picket in Shelby, N. C., broke the sign in two and struck the picket several times with the broken staff. The youths then kicked the Negro. Police quickly broke up the scuffle but no arrests were made.

ABOUT 30 University of Wisconsin students picketed two downtown variety stores at Madison, Wis. The demonstration was orderly and business went on as usual in both stores.

A leader of the group, Richard Wands of Fargo, N.D., said the picketing was inspired by Southern sitdown demonstrations started by Negro students about three weeks ago in Greensboro, N.C.

In Washington, Russell told the Senate he believed a group known as the Congress for Racial Equality in New York advocated mass efforts by young Negroes to get into traditionally segregated places in the south.

"They fostered, planned and incited these incidents that could lead to a great tragedy in some cities," Georgia's senior senator said. "It demonstrates to me that they were anxious to start a race riot of terrible proportions."

"THIS IS NO time to be going down there and trying to promote a race riot," Russell said. "Gentlemen, you are playing with powder and I hope the match won't catch fire to set off a disaster."

Senate leaders have set Monday as the day for the start of around-the-clock sessions to try to break filibuster tactics some Southern Democrats have been waging against the administration bill to help guarantee Negro voting rights.

Meanwhile, in Montgomery, Negroes hinted at an economic retaliation against downtown merchants.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernethy, president of the pro-integration Montgomery Improvement Assn., said a state of terror prevailed on downtown streets. The Negro minister urged his people to stay away from the business district as long as it existed.

Capital Punishment Used in 41 States

serious crime. They cite statistics showing that no rise in capital crime has occurred in the nine states and 30 foreign countries which have substituted life imprisonment for execution. They also note that the homicide rates in the "abolition states" average about 1.5 per 100,000 compared to an average of 4.8 for the entire nation.

Opponents also argue that capital punishment is massively unjust in actual practice. They cite a Yale professor's grisly list of 146 known cases in which people were found to be innocent—after they had been executed. They quote former warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing who says that the men and women who actually get executed are not the most guilty, nor the most wanton killers, but the poor, the friendless, the ignorant who lack the means of "beating the rap" through technicalities and endless appeals.

RELIGIOUS CONVICTION is a major source of opposition to capital punishment. Quakers began the fight for abolition, and they have been joined in recent years by national denominations of Episcopalians, Presbyterians and Baptists, and by many state and local Protestant church councils.

Although the Catholic Church has taken an official stand, many of its priests and laymen are active in the abolitionist cause.

These Christians hold that human life is sacred and that each individual, however depraved he may have become, is the object of God's redemptive love. They say that society has the right to restrain offenders against its laws. But it has no right to seek vengeance against a criminal, and it usurps God's role when it decides that any person is incapable of reform and unfit to live.

France Seen Balking L.A. Lists Disarmament Plan First 1960 Polio Death

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allied officials were reported near agreement Saturday on a new three-stage disarmament plan for negotiation with Russia, but France may block a final Western accord.

Diplomats said the heavy involvement of French military forces in Algeria and France's determination to develop atomic weapons make it difficult for President Charles de Gaulle to accept now disarmament proposals that are agreeable to his allies.

The tentative Western plan is designed to halt the arms race and achieve cutbacks in both conventional and nuclear weapons while preserving at each stage the "balance of deterrents" between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Each of the superpowers depends on its capacity for mass destruction to prevent the other from attacking. Under the Western proposal, this defensive reliance on deterrent strength would be preserved until an international police force some day took over the job of maintaining peace.

THE UNITED STATES, Britain, France, Canada and Italy will open negotiations with Russia and four other Communist countries at Geneva on March 15.

Western disarmament experts have been meeting here for more than a month to develop proposals for the session. Early next week they hope to know whether these proposals will go into a single Western plan or whether they will have to come up with a Western proposition statement and let each country propose whatever plan it wishes in line with the generally agreed policy.

A third possibility is that the Western powers may confront Russia with a single pital there can operate more efficiently if scaled down from 1,500 beds to around 1,000 to 1,250. The new hospital also will drain off 500 beds from VA hospitals in other states.

Another location in the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area will be sought for the new hospital for convenience and access of veterans, the congressman said.

The VA's study of how to allocate its patient load in the area for better convenience of patients will delay a 10- to 15-million-dollar modernization program. It was mapped to replace cantonments built during wartime with modern structures. An 8-million-dollar modernization completed in 1958 resulted in the shift of 561 beds from the old structures.

WHITTIER explained that the bed shift from Long Beach depends on detailed planning, and project and property costs for the new Southland hospital. Until new plans for the additional hospital are definite, the requirements for Long Beach modernization cannot be determined.

The VA will stick to its plan to complete modernization of the Long Beach Hospital with permanent buildings, Whittier assured Rep. Hosmer.

In its essentials, the new VA policy involves shifting hospital beds from areas of lesser need to major or growing population centers. There will be no increase nationally in the Veterans Hospitals' total bed capacity.

The new construction and shift of hospital beds will be carried out under a new White House policy directive. It allows the VA to shift beds from less densely populated areas to cities where veterans' medical needs have risen. Under the new directive, VA hospital capacity nationally will be kept at a 125,000-bed level and modernization of existing facilities accom-

Heart Attack Factors Told

—the ones usually sold at room temperature—combine with cholesterol to form compounds which are deposited in the walls of the arteries. Saturated fats are usually of animal origin. When these fats or hardened vegetable oils or coconut oils are fed to animals, the blood cholesterol level rises.

When unsaturated fats—those that are liquid at room temperature like corn oil—are fed, the blood cholesterol level quickly falls. These observations are responsible for the theory that high animal fat content in the diet is conducive to formation of hardening of the arteries. Final experimental proof, though, is lacking.

At present, many physicians recommend that the fat intake be minimized by the elimination from the diet of all visible fat and all solid fats. In these instances the use of unsaturated fats such as corn oil is recommended. Broiling of meat which permits the fat to drain out of the meat is advised.

OVERWEIGHT—If you are 40 to 50 years old and overweight, your chances of having a heart attack are three times greater than if your weight is normal for your age.

If you are overweight and also have high blood pressure, your chances are nine times greater.

To reduce the risk of having a coronary, you must reduce to a normal weight and stay there.

Crash or fad diets are of no real value. Most people return to their old eating habits and regain their excess weight.

Recommended: A 1,000-calorie diet will induce a 1½ to 2-pound loss of weight each week. Under such a program one becomes adjusted to eating less and maintains a high protein intake. The goal is to change eating habits. The key to weight reduction and maintenance: motivation.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE—If you have high blood pressure, your chances of having a coronary are three times greater than if your blood pressure is normal. If you're overweight, as mentioned before, the odds increase to 9 to 1.

High blood pressure accelerates the rate of formation of hardening of the arteries. Anyone with elevated blood pressure should have medical care now. Better treatment is now available, thanks to drugs like chlorothiazide or its relatives.

STRESS—Stress itself is not well understood. But it appears that when it occurs, there is an elevation of blood cholesterol. One authority feels that this stress is a result of constantly fighting against time—battling real or imaginary deadlines—that disposes one to a coronary occlusion. Stress reaction also can cause the blood to increase its tendency to clot. Together these conditions may trigger a heart attack.

Recommended: Persons under such stress might take a week's vacation every three months. They should organize their work so they do not meet deadlines all the time.

healthful. Also, persons should park their cars at least two blocks from their offices or shops and walk.

HEREDITY—Not much is known on this subject. Racial predisposition may be a factor. Cultural habits of eating and environmental factors can be managed.

SMOKING—One cannot prove that smoking causes heart disease, but one can be sure that excessive smoking can be harmful to an already impaired circulation to the heart muscle. All excesses are harmful to health. What is moderation in smoking? For most persons, less than one-half package of cigarettes a day.

Q. How would you sum up, doctor?

A. At present we are trying to put into practice whatever possible application exists from inferred, proven and theoretical data.

It would appear that we have to control overweight and modify the "richness" of our diets.

We can control most high blood pressure if the patients will seek the doctor.

Daily exercise should become a renewed interest.

Rest is wholesome, and all other things should be done in moderation, including smoking.

With the increasing interest in the No. 1 killer, much more research will be conducted. We are certain now that the answer to coronary heart disease is close at hand.

Young Dope User Shocked Into Cure

21, have wonderful parents who I love very much and, until a few months ago, I was one of the happiest people alive. I attended a church and had real peace of mind. I had great and wonderful plans for the future, but most of all I wouldn't do anything that might bring hurt to my parents. Then I fell in with some friends who took drugs just for kicks. At first, I took only barbituates (sic), then I started "joy popping."

Mrs. Moore, the reason I'm writing to you is to tell you that your son's death hasn't been in vain—not entirely, you see.

After reading about the tragedy of your son's death, I began to think clearly for the first time in months. I realized that some time after "joy popping" perhaps I, too, might kill someone. For you can't imagine the crazy desires you can have until you've taken dope.

I, too, carried a gun. I lived in constant fear—fear of being watched; fear of being "busted" and fear of my parents finding out and being hurt.

I've never been hooked physically, but emotionally and mentally.

Dear God, I was hooked from the first.

I felt I couldn't give the drugs up and remain sane. When I tried, I would actually pull my hair out by the handful. I knew that barbituates, between my "joy pops" wouldn't satisfy me long. My "pops" were getting closer together, but I told myself I was different—I'd never get really hooked.

Taking narcotics changed me too. I began thinking college, a good moral life, the golden rule, being careful not to hurt my parents, were for "drips" and that rules were made to be broken. I got to the place all I wanted was to be left alone to live my own life. All I wanted to do was hang around beats, "joy-popping" and listening to music. I renounced my religion and said there was no God. After knowing Christ as my personal Savior, still I could deny him. After having a complete peace of mind given to me from God, I could still say there was no God.

I lost my ambition to go to college; my plans for the future dimmed and I felt that if my parents found out, well,

I had to live my own life. That's what dope can do to you.

You lose interest in everything and everyone. All you want is to go off into that dream world. Why, why, can't they find an answer to the problem of narcotics? They put pushers in jail for a while, then allow them to go free to again peddle dope to high school kids.

My God, I wish I'd never taken anything ever. Now, even though I've never been hooked, I'll go through life fighting for the yen for dope, never to be free of it. At least, that's the way I feel now.

But fight I will, because I want to live like a normal, decent human being again, without any fear of any kind. But most of all, I don't want to hurt anyone ever, in any way. No, Mrs. Moore, your son didn't die in vain. For your tragedy has caused my eyes to be opened.

May God bless and comfort you.

(Mrs. Moore's statement was: "I just hope if my son's death helped this person, it will help a lot of other persons the same way. And let's hope that a lot of parents' eyes will be opened too.")

Paris Spy Suspect 'Stunned'

Miss Gloria Claire de Herrera, 30-year-old Long Beach woman being held by French officials on charges she aided the Algerian nationalist rebel movement, Saturday told a U.S. Embassy official she was a "trifle stunned" at her arrest.

Miss de Herrera, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin de Herrera, live at 3255 Petaluma Ave., was arrested along with 12 French citizens Wednesday.

Although the charge technically is serious, French police apparently consider her role in the Algerian underground in metropolitan France a minor one.

Mr. and Mrs. de Herrera said Saturday night they had received word from Congressman Craig Hosmer, (R-Long Beach), that there were no new developments in the case and that he had no further word from the U.S. State Department.

Visit Discussed

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Konrad Adenauer Friday held a lengthy meeting with West German Ambassador to Japan Wilhelm Haas to discuss details of the Chancellor's visit to Tokyo starting March 25.

Eisenhower's Day Begins Early, Continues Busy, and Lasts Late

President's attention. In addition he talked to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, and other members of his staff.

On arrival at Buenos Aires Airport, he had to stand in the blistering sun while the national anthems were played and, believe me, some of these South American anthems are long.

He reviewed the troops, exchanged formal greetings with President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina, and finally mounted a helicopter for the flight into town.

IN TOWN he was met by the mayor of Buenos Aires, and there was another round of speeches, anthems, salutes and reviews. He had a private lunch at the embassy residence, but this in itself is work, for at such a lunch the President is necessarily the focus of attention and therefore he must carry the conversation ball. He had an all-too-brief rest and then the day really got going.

He made a ceremonial tour of the city during which he stood on his feet in his automobile for one hour, waving and smiling, and responding to the cheers of the hundreds of thousands who lined the streets. The day was hot and sultry, the pace of the parade slow, the strain of constantly smiling and nodding and waving great.

WHEN HE reached President Frondizi's palace, he had to pose for photographers and then proceed to meet all the diplomatic chiefs. Here again there was no chance to relax or to be free.

Next came another parade through the streets to the Argentine Congress—a short drive but one in which he again was forced to stand in his automobile. In the hot, overcrowded, klieg-light filled congressional chamber, he delivered a 20-minute speech, which, because of translation, lasted approximately 40 minutes. After that still another journey through crowded, noise-filled streets to the embassy. Little time to rest here. The President freshens up a bit and dashes out to a reception where he greets members of the diplomatic corps, workers at the U.S. Embassy and prominent Argentinians to each of whom he tries to speak some suitable words.

WHEN THE reception

closed, he was hustled back to his embassy quarters, where he was brought up to date on such immediate questions as needed the President's attention. He then changed into formal clothes for a dinner.

At the long dinner, it lasted over two-and-a-half hours, the President must make conversation with the people on his left and right, must be careful not to say anything which could conceivably be misconstrued, must listen to the interminable speeches which are a part of diplomatic dinners and must not look bored, and finally must make another speech himself.

When all of this was over, he had to say gracious good-bys and finally at 11:30 p.m. toddled off to the embassy, where he had to prepare himself for a similar schedule on the next day.

If you don't think all the foregoing is not hard work, just try it sometime.

BARLOCHE, Argentina (UPI)—President Eisenhower Saturday night warned his Latin American hosts that a threat to democracy in any one nation was a danger "to all free countries of the world."

Eisenhower, looking tanned and rested, made the declaration at a formal dinner that marked the start of a week-end of golf, fishing and secluded talks with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi in this Andes Mountain resort area.

Before the dinner he managed to get in four holes of golf at the nearby Liao Liao course, one of the toughest in the world. The brief practice round was believed to have been the first time since his 1955 heart attack that Eisenhower played a course without the help of a mechanical cart to whisk him from tee to tee.

Burlingame Man Elected by Painters

Kenneth Hower of Burlingame was elected president Saturday as the 119 delegates to the 24th annual California State Conference of Painters prepared to wind up their three-day convention today in the Lafayette Hotel.

Elected as vice presidents were G. Gibson, B. Rasnick, William Farley, H. Bigarani, Tom Prophet, Floyd Prince, Wayne Berry, and J. A. Lee. Farley lives in Long Beach.

H. C. Baker of San Diego was chosen secretary-treasurer and Milton Love of Santa Cruz was elected as a trustee.

The new officers will be installed today shortly before the convention closes.

Delegates Saturday approved resolutions calling for increased Social Security benefits, the inclusion of medical services under Social Security and improvement of FHA inspection of homes.

Downey Woman Hurt, Two Men Killed in Crash

LEE VINING (UPI)—Two Auburn, Wash., men were killed instantly and two Los Angeles women were critically injured early Saturday in a head-on collision on Highway 395, three miles south of here, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Dead were driver Ronald Rolands, 27, and his passenger, Patrick Cassidy, 26.

Driver of the northbound car was Annabelle Tweedle, 31, of 8523 Cleta Ave. Downey. Her passenger was Mary Colman, 29, West Los Angeles. The women were treated for multiple fractures including skull fractures.

Truman Charges GOP Planning 'Brainwash'; Morton Asserts South Will Support Nixon

INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM—A-7
Long Beach, Calif., Sunday, February 26, 1960

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Harry Truman charged Saturday night the Republican administration will try to "brainwash" the American people before the November election to cover up the "worst mess since the days of U. S. Grant and Harding."

The former President accused the Republicans of using public relations to gloss over the true facts of Russian strength and the failure of U. S. leadership.

"WE WILL NOT survive as a free people without leadership," he said, "leadership that has the integrity to tell the people the facts and the courage to call on the people for whatever work and sacrifices are required."

Truman delivered his charges in a speech at a Democratic fund-raising dinner. In his best "give 'em hell" style, Truman said the Eisenhower administration lives by labels rather than leadership.

"They exalt form above substance, appearance above reality, the public relations above public service," he said. "In other words, they regard the label as more important than the contents of the package."

"We must do something to save our country from the terrible mess... and it's the worst mess since the days of (presidents) U. S. Grant and Harding."

The answer, Truman said, is to put a Democrat back in the White House.

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton predicted Saturday night the South will support Richard Nixon for President because both Nixon and southerners recognize the nature of the Russian threat.

"I think southerners are aware of the Russian threat more than any other group of Americans," Morton said.

"The southerner has a quick ability to comprehend danger and to go after it without regard to the cost," Morton said.

The southerner has an appreciation for liberty and individualism, he added.

HARRY S. TRUMAN
"Worst Mess Since Grant"

On the farm front, Morton said the Democrats have made a whipping boy of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to blame him for all the ills caused by the rapid industrial revolution through which agriculture is passing.

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A severe cold and high fever confined Sen. Hubert Humphrey to bed in Minneapolis Saturday in what was to be the first day of another campaign swing through parts of Wisconsin.

Humphrey, a candidate in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary, was stricken Friday night on the eve of a tour that would have started here and taken him through much of the area covered Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by his rival, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Aides to the Minnesota senator said Humphrey hopes to pick up his schedule today.

DANVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) Saturday night charged the Eisenhower administration with "squandering billions with one hand and stifling the nation's destiny with the other."

Symington, addressing a Danville Democratic dinner during a weekend tour of the state, said there was an "unhealthy" leadership corps now in the capital.

The senator is considered a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"There is in Washington," he said, "an unhealthy and vastly expensive combination of empire-building bureau chiefs and of tourists from private enterprise whose stay in office is hardly long enough for learning the job and too short for doing it well."

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—"I'll cross that bridge when I come to it," Adlai Stevenson replied Saturday when asked if he would accept the Democratic nomination for President.

The former two-time Democratic nominee emphasized at a news conference, however, that he would play no part in the primary elections.

Asked if he would support Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) or Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) for the nomination, Stevenson replied:

"I have no preference between my two dear friends, and among others. Both are very well qualified to occupy the presidency."

TRY 'OVER-WITHOLDING'

Here's Way to Get Federal Tax Refund

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Taxpayers these days fall into two categories: Those getting refunds from Uncle Sam and those sending in checks for unpaid taxes with their 1959 returns.

"People who get refunds just love it," Internal Revenue Commissioner Dana Latham said. "They spend it before they even get it."

Latham's tax experts have a suggestion for people who would rather get a check from Uncle Sam than write one. They recommend "over-withholding."

For example, John Q. Taxpayer has a wife and three children. He is entitled to five exemptions, since he gets one for himself. Hence the first $3,000 of his income is tax free.

His company's payroll department will take that into account in computing how much federal income tax should be withheld from John Q.'s pay. So, if he claims only four dependents instead of five, taxes will be withheld on $600 of John Q.'s pay which actually is not taxable.

When John Q. files his return, he probably will be entitled to a refund.

The advantage of over-withholding is this: The taxpayer gets a refund (probably) in the spring, a sort of cash bonus, and he does not have to face the possibility of finding some extra dollars to fork over to the Treasury. The disadvantage is that government has the taxpayer's money for up to a year when it could be earning interest for him in a bank.

Hits Demo in Missile Data Row

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey said Saturday there is no basis whatever for any suggestion by Democrats that intelligence data on Soviet missiles have been withheld from U. S. Military leaders.

Case's statement obviously was in reply to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Johnson, on Wednesday, said Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was being recalled by defense investigators "to clear up confusion arising from previous testimony concerning our national intelligence estimates."

Case, a participant in the Senate inquiry by the space and armed services preparedness subcommittees, said that "confusion can exist only in the minds of those who want to be confused."

'GIRLS' DO FINE—UNTIL

Masher Trappers Trip on 1906 Law

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—Patrolman Donald McGlensey and Vincent Wall, who dressed as "girls" and strolled lonely sections of the city late at night to trap mashers, had a good thing going for them.

The slim policemen were convincing enough in their wigs, makeup and high heels to nab nine would-be molesters.

Wall even managed to fool former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott who came to the aid of a young "blonde" last month and ended up joining the pistol-packing officer in nabbing a suspect.

THE RECORD in court was even more than encouraging. They were battling 777 on convictions with one case postponed.

But then they ran into a law.

A defense attorney for one of the suspects claims a 54-year-old city ordinance prohibits anyone appearing in public "in any dress not belonging to his or her sex."

ATTORNEY Benjamin Asbell, former assistant Camden County prosecutor, brought up the point while appealing the conviction of Angel Rivera, 21.

Rivera was arrested after he allegedly approached McGlensey on Feb. 1. Municipal Judge Julius Sklar convicted Rivera of disorderly conduct and he was sentenced to six months in jail.

Asbell appealed the conviction, citing the 1906 ordinance, and County Judge Benjamin Dzick vacated Rivera's sentence. But the jurist imposed another sentence which he promptly suspended. Judge Dzick also vacated the sentence imposed on another suspected molester.

New Snow, Sleet Lash Plains Area

By The Associated Press
A new winter storm flung heavy snow, sleet and cold temperatures across the plains Saturday while the Northeast struggled to shake off a thickening blanket of white.

The storm, which earlier in the week gave the Ohio Valley its worst lashing of the winter before moving into New England, lingered in up-state New York. It buried communities along Lake Ontario in up to 15 inches of snow.

WINDS HEADED the new-fallen snow into traffic-paralyzing drifts in western New York.

The Weather Bureau in Kansas City termed the latest February out-break on the plains dangerous. Heavy snow warnings were in effect in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Hazardous driving conditions prevailed from northern Arizona to western Missouri and southwestern Iowa. Sleet and freezing rain increased the hazards in parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Up to six inches of new snow fell in northern Oklahoma, northern Arkansas, eastern Kansas and western Missouri.

Saucer Reports Now Serious AF Business

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force has sent its commands a new warning to treat sightings of unidentified flying objects (UFO's) as "serious business" directly related to the nation's defense, it was learned Saturday.

Issuance of the directive was confirmed after portions of it were made public by a private "flying saucer" research group.

The regulations outlined procedures and said that "investigations and analysis of UFO's are directly related to the Air Force's responsibility for the defense of the United States."

Existence of the document was revealed by the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena (NICAP).

The privately-financed committee accused the Air Force of deception in publicly describing unidentified flying object reports as delusions and hoaxes while sending the private admonition to its commands.

Vice Adm. R. H. Hillenkoetter (Ret.), a NICAP board member and former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, said in a statement that a photo-copy of the inspector general's warning had been sent to the Senate Space Committee.

Pentagon aides said the new regulations, covering seven printed pages, made no substantive change in policy but were rewritten as a matter of course.

The Air Force has investigated 6,312 reports of UFO's since 1947, including 183 in the last six months of 1955. The latest Air Force statement, issued a month ago, said "no physical or material evidence, not even a minute fragment of a so-called flying saucer, has ever been found."

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Italian Airliner Crash Toll Rises

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI)—The crash of an Italian DC7 airliner near Shannon Airport claimed its 30th fatality Saturday with the death of a young immigrant bride who had been making her first trip to America to join her husband.

The bride, Mrs. John Lisi, 23, had been among 23 survivors of the fiery crash, which took place Thursday in unusual circumstances, leading some officials to speculate the pilot might have died at the controls moments after take-off.

Mrs. Lisi succumbed to multiple injuries only a few hours after her husband, John, had arrived from his home in New York to be at her hospital bedside.

Indians Assail Film About Hero

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Pima Indians, usually a quiet agrarian people, have taken the warpath against the National Broadcasting Co. in a dispute over a proposed television show.

Shooting for the NBC presentation of "The Ira Hayes Story" started Saturday in Tucson, despite protests from Indian groups.

Z. Simpson Cox of Phoenix, attorney for the Gila River Pima-Maricopa tribe, said the tribal council has strong objections to the script of the show, because it portrays Hayes as "merely a drunken Indian."

Hayes, one of the U.S. Marines in the famed photo of the flag-raising on Iwo Jima in World War II, was catapulted into national prominence. After the war, he developed a craving for alcohol that kept him in continual trouble.

In January 1955 he was found dead in a field on the reservation south of Phoenix. Doctors said the 32-year-old hero died of exposure and too much alcohol.

The tribal council has carried its protest to Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton and hopes to send a delegation to Washington this week to testify before a congressional committee investigating the radio-TV industry.

K Grants Loan to Indonesia

BOGOR, Indonesia (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to extend long-term credits, up to 250 million dollars, to Indonesia on condition that it keep out of any Western alliance, high sources said Saturday.

Khrushchev and President Sukarno will sign the credit agreement, a cultural agreement and a joint statement today in Sukarno's white-columned summer palace, a former Dutch governor's mansion.

The Russians have shown concern about Sukarno's increasingly friendly relations with the United States, a highly placed Indonesian source said, noting "they seem to have a very real fear we might commit ourselves in some way to the Western bloc."

Hunt Parents of Starved Child

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Officers continued efforts Saturday to find the parents of seven children, one of whom they said died of starvation.

Two policemen found a 13-year-old girl Friday carrying the body of her infant sister. She told them she was looking for a funeral home.

An 8-year-old sister was with the older girl in the freezing weather. Four other children were home.

Detective E. B. Meals said the 13-year-old told him she had saved some food for the infant "but she didn't wake up." The officer said he was told that the older girl had fed her brothers and sisters pie crust for two days.

AF Plane Crashes Near School

LIBERTY, S.C. (UPI)—A four-man Air Force Reserve crew bailed out of a stricken C119 Saturday just before the "Flying Boxcar" clipped treetops and missed houses less than 15 feet in crashing 100 yards from Liberty High School.

The plane crashed into a vacant lot covered with trees and tangled undergrowth inside the limits of this textile town of 3,500. All four of the crew parachuted without injury.

Ann Sheridan Calls Report of Affair 'Lot of Nonsense'

OMAHA (AP)—Actress Ann Sheridan Saturday branded reports about an affair between her and her costar in the touring play, "Odd Man In," "a lot of nonsense, ridiculous."

She declared she and actor Scott McKay "are professional associates and that is all."

McKay earlier had denied the statements, which came out of a hearing in the New York State Supreme Court on the application of McKay's estranged wife to have her temporary alimony increased from $75 to $300 a week.

Arnold L. Fein, an attorney for McKay's wife, actress Joan Morgan, said McKay walked out "because of an affair" with Ann Sheridan, but he added he was not alleging adultery.

McKay said in Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday there was no truth in the allegation he was having an affair with his costar.

How High Should Douglas Fly?

By RALPH DIGHTON

SANTA MONICA (AP)—The Douglas Aircraft dynasty has two different flight plans for the giant company's future.

"We expect to dominate space travel just as we have dominated atmospheric flight for the last 25 years."

This is Donald Douglas Jr., talking.

But 67-year-old Donald Douglas Sr., has a different outlook:

"I don't suppose we'll ever dominate aviation again the way we did with the DC3, but we intend to have our full share."

Which one is right?

The elder Douglas, as chairman of the board of a billion-dollar-a-year plane and missile empire, is the chief pilot of the company destiny.

But his son, at 42 an able president of the firm founded when he was learning to walk, is today assuming more and more responsibility.

Which way the Douglas company goes will depend on many things—continued government interest in space research, the viewpoint of the company's board of directors, and the outcome of obvious differences between father and son.

Publicly and in private, Don Jr. makes it clear that he admires and respects the patriarch. It is only when you talk to them separately that you realize the extent of the gulf between them.

They don't think alike, act alike or look alike.

DON SR., sturdy and heavy shouldered despite his years, has the hard gnarled hands of a mechanic. In the early years of his career he built his own plane.

Young Don knows the feel of a wrench, too—his father started him out installing engines in DC3s 20 years ago—but his calluses come from a rich man's pastime, yachting. The younger Douglas thinks fast and talks fast. Douglas Sr. chooses his words carefully.

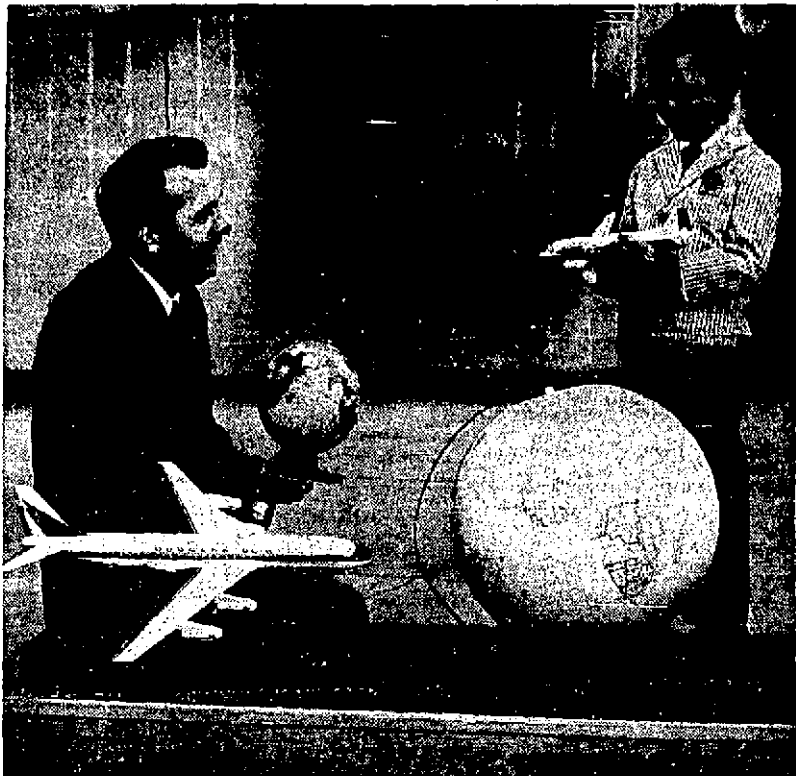

After the certification flight of his new all-jet DC8, the elder Douglas showed how far into the future he can plan.

Aircraft leaders have been predicting the next big advance would be the Mach 3 plane, capable of speeds three times that of sound—or about 2,000 MPH.

Douglas, however, pointed out that they would be very expensive and very difficult to build.

"Why should we go to all this trouble making a plane that will cross the country in an hour and a half," he asked, "when with just a little more time and effort we can build missiles that will carry passengers from Los Angeles to New York in 20 minutes?"

This may have come as a surprise to Don Jr. Just a few weeks earlier he had explained to an interviewer his plans for a Mach 3 airliner.

The younger Douglas got on the subject in defending the deliberate ruggedness of the workhorse DC3s, known as C47s during World War II, on which the company's fortunes were built. (Of the 11,000 DC3s made since 1935, more than a third are still in use.)

The same ruggedness, he said, would be built into Mach 3 airliners which within 10 years will be whisking passengers across the continent in less than two hours.

"Our big problems are in making the jump to the Mach 3 ship," said young Don. "Once we do this, it is only a short step further to space travel."

YET IT IS the Mach 3 plane that Douglas Sr. is thinking about bypassing in favor of passenger missiles.

Both the Douglases admit they have arguments. How do they settle them?

Says Don Jr.: "I'm no help to him if I simply say yes in every case. The one who wins is the one who is right."

"I got this job," he adds, "because I was the best man available, not because I was Donald Douglas' son."

If he hadn't been Donald Douglas' son, what would he want most to be today?

Without the slightest hesitation, he answers:

"The president of an aircraft company."

Douglas Sr. says he settles any arguments by making young Don prove he is right.

Young Don is a man on his toes. Although he has not yet displayed his father's inventive genius in design, he is energetic and at least as stubborn as the elder Douglas.

The trait that is sometimes called bull-headedness enabled Don's father to design and build the first plane to sink a battleship—when the experts said it couldn't be done; the first plane to lift a payload equal to its own weight; and the planes that opened air travel for millions—the DC (Douglas Commercial) series.

AT THE END OF 1958, Douglas had delivered more airliners than any other company—about 53 per cent of the world total.

The senior Douglas says he has never regretted making Don Jr. president two years ago.

"It was a hard decision to make," he says. "Being my son was a handicap to him. I gave him a lot of hell on the slightest occasion—I wanted to be sure he could take it.

"I think he can. And it's no longer fair for me to sit on top of him," he adds. "He has the know-how and the want-to."

"But I'm not ready to tell him yet just when I'm going to walk away. I want to keep him on his toes."

Hashish Takes Big Egypt Toll

CAIRO (AP)—In the past 30 years 325,000 smugglers of hashish, a drug similar to marijuana, and 602,000 hashish addicts have served a total of 75,000 years in Egyptian jails, the Cairo Institute of Social Research reports. Sixteen thousand Egyptians have died from consuming hashish, 35,000 addicts have been admitted to mental institutions and 110,000 wives have divorced their husbands for using the drug, the institute says.

Smallpox Cases in World Drop

GENEVA (UPI)—The number of smallpox cases throughout the world dropped from 242,000 in 1958 to 72,000 last year, according to the World Health Organization. The report showed the biggest decrease was registered in Pakistan and India which had 218,000 smallpox cases in 1958 and only about one-fourth that number in 1959.

Vaudeville Revival Doesn't Quite Click

A group of eager and hard-working amateurs tried this weekend to revive vaudeville as they opened in a review-drama at La Ronde Rue.

Composed about equally of novelty acts and a hooked-up version of "Ten Nights in a Barroom," the bill is loud and lusty, but it never quite clicks.

There just isn't enough talent to go around, and some of the material is senile at best.

THERE ARE A couple of redeeming high points, however. Pat Frazer is a lovely girl with a fine voice who ought to be allowed to do more. The skit in the doctor's office is genuinely funny, and MC Lou Frank has great possibilities if he loses his self-consciousness and finds some new jokes.

Maybe some of the other acts will be better when the show has had a chance to shake down a bit.

In the cast besides Frazer and Frank are Walter Taylor, who also produced the show, Ken Kennerson, who directed it, Carole Pondiller as, among other things, the poor man's Ethel Merman, Shelley Bouck, Doris Marie, Ray Ross, Alex Burton, Guy Mann on the piano, and Arnold Berman on the banjo.

The show will continue at La Ronde Rue, on the Traffic Circle, on Fridays and Saturdays, 8:30 and 10:30 p.m.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Dieter Needs to Be Coaxed

("Medicine and You," a regular Sunday feature of this newspaper, is prepared in collaboration with the Department of Medical Education, Seaside Memorial Hospital.)

By BEN ZINSER AND GEORGE X. TRIMBLE, M.D.

If a weight-reducing program is to be successful, the doctor must give repeated encouragement and advice, says Dr. Ann Mullins, London, in the journal Lancet.

Advice given only once is seldom sufficient to bring about a satisfactory weight loss, she says.

"The patient," she states, "must be seen at short intervals to reinforce and repeat the advice and to encourage, praise or admonish."

Studies show that repeated visits to the doctor pay off for the overweight patient.

Says Dr. Mullins: "Many obese patients, hitherto regarded as untreatable, can be helped to regain normal weight if this method is followed."

AN AIR FORCE DENTIST has placed cavity-size radio transmitters in his patients' false teeth. Object: to listen in while they gnash their teeth at night.

Finding: a person who chews only 10 minutes a day during waking hours may grind his teeth for up to four hours while sleeping.

Dr. Allen Brewer of the Aviation Medicine School at Brooks Air Force Base, Texas, says the study may show why one man's teeth wear out at 39 and another man's molars last a lifetime.

LATEST ITEMS on peptic ulcer:
The use of a fixed treatment formula for all ulcer patients is not the answer, says a report in the American Journal of Digestive Diseases. Most important factor in treatment: the doctor-patient relationship—that is, how the doctor gets along with the patient. . . .

Tobacco, coffee and alcohol may have no effect on ulcer healing, adds the report. . . . But in another report, Dr. J. Arnold Bergen of Mayo Clinic says: "In my experience, coffee is the commonest offender in producing distress in patients who have digestive symptoms." A close second: alcoholic beverages. . . .

And in the AMA Journal of Diseases of Children: Peptic ulcer in children is not rare. . . . Symptoms are vague in children until the age of puberty when they begin to resemble those of adults. . . . More boys than girls have chronic peptic ulcers. . . . Cause of ulcer in children: obscure.

AVERAGE LENGTH of hospital stay for the maternity patient is 4½ days, but this may be too short, suggests Dr. Alice D. Chenoweth, U. S. Children's Bureau, in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. Says she: "Early dismissal of the patient deprives her of some undeniable benefits of hospitalization."

Among the advantages of longer hospitalization: physical safety, rest, support from professional personnel, counseling.

Dr. Chenoweth's recommendation is contrary to that by other doctors in recent years. Other medical scientists have stressed benefits of shortening the period of hospitalization.

A FOLLOW-UP STUDY of 500 delinquent or neurotic children seen in St. Louis psychiatric clinics 30 years ago shows that "antisocial" delinquents are predisposed to a violent death. Of the male youngsters classed as antisocial, 4 per cent had been killed, half of them by police gunfire. Many of the neurotic children grew into well-adjusted adulthood, Lancet reports, adding: "The antisocial is the one most in need of help—not the neurotic."

WOOLEN BLANKETS can harbor disease germs that cause flu, sore throats and similar illnesses, says a publication of the American Medical Assn. Reason: the low-temperature washing recommended for wool fibers is not hot enough to kill the germs.

Rx for safety: Soak blankets briefly in water and disinfectant solution before laundering. Then launder regularly. Cover with bedspreads when in use. Disinfect after illness.

Independent Insurance Agency Benefits Stressed

W. G. Bill Wilson, California chairman of the advertising campaign to acquaint the public with the advantages of buying insurance through a local independent agent, says: "There are basically two kinds of insurance companies: Those who write directly by selling through hired employees who represent only that one company, and those who sell through trained independent insurance agents."

Wilson, 944 Pacific Ave., continued: "The independent agent represents his client, and buys the insurance from a variety of sources so as to best serve the client. He is not a salesman for any single company, but is an independent agent free to select the best company or companies for his client. When there is a claim, he is the personal representative for the client and not for the insurance company."

Speaking of "cut-price" insurance rates, Wilson said, "The independent insurance agent offers the lowest rates commensurate with safety, complete coverage and personal service. Most of the claimed cut-price 'savings' boil down to very little when it comes to most people. What you should find out first is what you have to give up to get such so-called savings. It is poor economy to save on an insurance policy if you will not get adequate coverage and not get prompt fair claims payments through someone you know and trust."

Citing an example of true savings on insurance policies, Wilson pointed to the "Safe Driver" automobile insurance, available only through independent insurance agents, and which saves as much as 20% for those who qualify.

Health Show Products Here

Over 15,000 people visited the Health and Diet Food Show held in Los Angeles last week. This indicates a growing interest on the part of the public in the subject of better food and nutrition.

Outstanding in point of interest was the booth featuring colored eggs which are produced by a breed of chickens formerly from South America. Many old customers as well as new prospects were attracted to the organic fruit and vegetable display. With the health hazard encountered in much produce grown today, a hearty response was given by those learning that chemical fertilizers and poisonous sprays are not used in the organic method.

All products at the Food Show are on sale at Haseltine's, 638 E. 4th St.

HOWARD SWANSON
Dies In Washington

Rites Set Tuesday for H. S. Swanson

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Lakewood Village Community Church for Howard S. Swanson, former Long Beach man who died Wednesday at Olympia, Wash.

Swanson, 37, was research and statistical officer of the Washington State Department of Institutions at the time of his death. He had held that position for the past two years.

HE WAS BORN April 30, 1922, in Long Beach and was graduated from Pomona College in 1950. He taught in the department of sociology at Washington State University and received his master's degree.

Murderer's Son Accused as a Bookie

A 25-year-old man, whose Torrance father was sentenced last September to life imprisonment on a murder charge, is one of four persons arrested in connection with a $150,000-a-week book-making ring, police reported Saturday.

Rex E. Thwaites, 25, of San Dimas, identified himself as the son of John Henry Thwaites, 45, of Torrance, one of four men sentenced to life in prison for the murder of San Diego tavern owner Tony Mirabile.

Arrested with Thwaites, whom police described as the actual "brains" of the book-making operation, were his wife, Dolores, 25; Miriam Hedrick, 34, an attractive blonde, and her husband, James, 28, both of Pomona.

Police said the bookie operation was centered in an aristocratic old home in Pomona and took bets from as far away as Redondo Beach.

Guided-Missile Ship Launched

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—The guided missile destroyer USS Lawrence was launched Saturday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yard.

It is the first of six such vessels being built for the Navy here, and is named after Capt. James Lawrence, a hero of the War of 1812.

The Lawrence weighs 3,370 tons and is 47 feet wide and 431 feet long. Besides being equipped to launch guided missiles, it will be fitted with the latest anti-submarine weapons.

Two Injured in Collision; Driver Held

Two persons suffered minor injuries Saturday in a collision of two cars at Santa Fe Ave. and 16th St., police said.

Injured in the accident were William R. Janzer, 34, of 971 Truman Boyd Manor, driver of one of the cars, and his passenger, Jack E. Belden, 33, of the USS Rochester. Both men were treated for facial cuts at Seaside Hospital.

Joe C. Aroz, 34, of 343½ E. 19th St., driver of the other car, was booked by police on suspicion of drunk driving. Officers said Aroz's car ran a boulevard stop.

Marine Forecasts Will Be in Knots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said Saturday that starting March 11, all its marine forecasts will describe wind speed in knots rather than miles an hour.

The change was recommended by ship captains, boatmen, and marine organizations. A knot is equal to one nautical mile an hour, or 1.1515 statute miles an hour.

WITH MALCOLM EPLEY

THE City Council's hearing on the proposed shoreline development plan was generally a fine demonstration of democracy in action, but there was a disturbing angle.

One citizen, objecting to some feature of the plan, complained that it would be used as a lover's lane. And presently, another witness at the public's microphone echoed the same complaint.

Both times, there was in the audience a murmur of protest against such a horrible thing as the shoreline contributing to love. Even some supporters of the plan seemed shaken.

Now what is the matter with love? This obvious question wasn't missed in the little gang out in the hall having a smoke. (Funny how a little distance from the scene of action will improve perspective.) Said one, around his cigar:

"I'll betcha there are plenty in there who have stopped for a little smooching in lover's lane. Now listen to 'em."

ALONG with some good inspirational philosophy, Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch told some pretty amusing stories when he talked to the Eagle Scouts of Long Beach area and their adult sponsors at the Petroleum Club the other eve.

One yarn was about a member of the old Chicago Rockets team and what happened on a barnstorming trip to Muskegon, Mich. The Rockets were to play in a boys club beneficiary game sponsored by the Optimists, and a large gang of the club men, wearing T-shirts with OPTIMIST printed across the breasts, came down to drive the players to their hotels.

This particular player, who sometimes had a little trouble figuring things out, kept looking at the lettering on the shirt of his driver. Finally he asked him how big was Muskegon. The Optimist replied it was about 90,000.

"Say," said the gridster, "you sure have a lot of eye doctors for a town that size, don't you?"

THE washing on the line in the back yard of the W.C. Farley home, 2535 E. 219th St., was by far the most colorful in town.

It seems that the state painters' convention in session here was to have a luau Saturday night, and Farley's job was to get and preserve the leis for the occasion. He got several hundred made of wood fibre.

A dunking in water restores these things from a crushed state to a soft, lush appearance. And of course, they must be dried.

For two days running blue, red, green, yellow, orange and pink leis adorned the Farley lines, making a very festive scene. There was a lot of sleuthing among the neighbors to find out what it was all about.

THIS is the first column written on a new typewriter, and if it reads a little more peculiar than usual, that may be the reason.

I find it hard to give up an old typewriter. It's like forsaking an old friend. I get accustomed to the temperament and idiosyncracies of the old machine, and after a while, it seems to think along with me (yeh, I claim I think now and then.) It's a little difficult to get the words coming out of a new one.

First time the new machine was offered, I bucked a little. But they brought it in and dangled it before my eyes, and I fell for it. It made the old wreck look pretty bad, so I let it go.

'Me and My Shadow'

WYNNE WILSON, coed owner of a Long Beach dance studio, leads Janie Nutt, 11, in practice routine.—(Staff Photos by Kent Henderson.)

WYNNE'S A WINNER

Coed, 23, Boss of Dance Studio

Thirteen years after she took up dancing "seriously" at the Frances L. Bowling Studio at 3434 E. Broadway, a pretty Long Beach State College sophomore owns the studio and employs Miss Bowling as instructor.

A petite coed with dark brown hair, blue eyes that "turn green when I'm mad" and liquid curves, Wynne Wilson has turned her back on the whirl of glamour which began when she was graduated from Wilson High School in 1954. At the studio she is busy with her own classes and the business of keeping black ink on the ledgers, but still takes lessons in advanced tap dancing from the former owner, who signed over the place last October. At Long Beach State Wynne is a drama major.

When Wynne finished high school, her parents, Frank and Esther Wilson, moved to Hollywood to launch her career. She danced all over—at Los Angeles, at San Francisco, in Kentucky, in Las Vegas, in New York summer stock, at Lake Tahoe. At the Flamingo Hotel she wound up as assistant choreographer. Then came college.

On the "It Could Be You" TV Show last November, surrounded by her Delta Zeta sorority sisters, Wynne won $200, a stereo-sound machine and enough paint to cover everything in her studio, including the leotards.

At 23 she's "too busy for romance," but since this is Leap Year her occasional dates should know all the signs indicate that what Wynne wants Wynne gets.

Don't Make It Easy for Burglars

Don't make it easy for a burglar to break into your home when you are away. Here are rules which may thwart a burglar, according to police:

Keep at least two lights connected on an automatic timing device, which turns lights on at dusk and off at bedtime.

Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on all doors.

Always inform neighbors, or police, when you are to be away for an extended time. Arrange for mail deliveries to be suspended during your absence.

Check Forgery Warning Issued

Merchants were cautioned Saturday by Howard Lyon, printer, of 420 Waite Court, not to cash checks bearing his name since a forger is cashing checks against his account.

Since Feb. 4 about $2,500 worth of checks have been passed by the forger, Lyon told police.

Club Owner Is Fined for Fund Lapse

Failure to file reports of workers and pay contributions as required by the California Unemployment Insurance Code has resulted in a $52 fine or five days in jail and one year probation for Ellrey F. Grimwood, owner of the Elroy's Club at 2003 Orange Ave.

Judge Kenneth Sutherland, in imposing the sentence, ordered the club operator to make full restitution of the amounts owed within 60 days.

THE ACTION was taken in Long Beach Municipal Court as the result of a complaint filed by T. D. Weld, auditor in charge of the Long Beach office of the Department of Employment.

Auditor Weld stated: "Deductions from wages of employees are trust monies and must be paid over to the state at the proper time.

"Employers who take deductions from the pay of their workers and fail to remit to the state or fail to file wage reports face the risk of criminal prosecution."

City Will Dedicate Police, Port Bldgs.

By GEORGE WEEKS

The City of Long Beach will dedicate this week two handsome new buildings representing an investment of almost $8 million.

Ceremonies will take place at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Public Safety Building, 400 W. Broadway, and 10 a.m. Friday at the Harbor Administration Building, 925 Harbor Plaza, Pier A.

In both instances the public is invited, and the buildings will be open for inspection afterward. City officials and community leaders will take part in both ceremonies.

At the Public Safety Building Mayor Raymond C. Keeler will preside over the dedication of the first unit of what he publicly envisioned, when ground was broken two years ago, as an expanding civic center.

THE PRINCIPAL ADDRESS will be given by Lawrence A. Collins, Independent Press-Telegram columnist. Other participants will include the heads of all departments housed in the building—Police Chief William H. Dovey, Fire Chief Frank S. Sandeman, City Prosecutor James T. Starr and Public Defender Joseph R. Laird.

Ministers of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths will take part, along with one member of each of the armed services.

City councilmen will attend in a group.

Chairman H. E. Ridings of the Harbor Board will officiate at the port building's dedication, recalling a celebration in 1911 when one of the first large ships arrived in Long Beach.

A contingent of Sea Scouts will open the program. Later 30 girls in the costumes of as many cities and nations will pour gift containers of water from the principal ports of the world into a reflection pool, an architectural embellishment of the building.

AMONG THE SPEAKERS will be Mayor Keeler; A. L. Code, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Keith Houdyshell, president of the Downtown Lions Club, and members of the Harbor Commission.

On the theme of international friendship, a special guest will be Dr. Alois Lugger, mayor of Innsbruck, Austria, whose visit to California happens to coincide with the dedication date.

The seven-level Public Safety Building, constructed at a cost of $4,900,000 as one item in a $29,219,000 municipal bond issue, provided 176,000 square feet of floor area as the first modern home of police and fire departments. It has been occupied almost a month, replacing the cramped working space in the basement and on the first floor and mezzanine of the City Hall.

Long Beach Harbor, described as America's most modern port, also gets its first administrative center matching that distinction. It also is a seven-level building.

Foasberg Presides

with 102,000 square feet of floor area. The $3 million cost came primarily from tideland oil funds. Administrative departments moved into the building last weekend.

CHAMBER INFORMATION GIRL 'Who Owns the Goats in L. A. County?'

IF GIRDLE PINCHES...

Here's How to Get Sympathy at Least

By JIM McCAULEY

If your girdle pinches or some wild goats wander into your yard, there is a phone number you can call. The number: HEMlock 6-1251.

There you can get sympathy, possible help and a referral to the place that may be able to assist you directly. It's an information service of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, 121 Linden Ave.

You don't need to be a big business to call Chamber, though some of the calls may culminate in a new industry coming to Long Beach. Most of the 90-a-day information calls are from housewives with local problems.

WAILED ONE unhappy housewife to a chamber information girl:

"My new girdle pinches so tight it has caused a skin rash, and the clerk won't take it back."

She was given some understanding feminine sympathy, then offered the phone number of the Legal Aid Foundation of Long Beach.

Most of the calls are requests for tourist and business information. They pay off in more commerce for Long Beach, and build goodwill for the community.

BUT SOME QUERIES are remote enough to stump the best-informed person on the Chamber staff member. Among the recent brow-wrinklers:

—Who owns the goats in Los Angeles County? (This question was asked three times.)

—What happened to the chef who made the good lobster soup in that Ocean Blvd. restaurant? "No I don't know which restaurant..."

—Do you know where I can find a wooden barrel to plant strawberries?

—When do the wild flowers bloom in Bakersfield?

—Can you give our Navy ship the name, address and phone number of Miss Holland?

ESTHER FITZGERALD, information service receptionist, fields most calls and uses a vast card index system to answer the queries. Lo Rayne Baird, communications secretary, takes some of the calls. When a call stumps the girls, sometimes it is relayed to William C. Boyd, manager of the chamber's Communications Department and information service.

Asked to give the figure statistics of Miss Universe and Miss USA, Boyd was able to recall them by memory. The woman who called explained she had wanted the figures to settle an office bet, then said: "Hrrr-rm-ph. I thought they would be top heavy."

Some 400 representatives of the electrical industry from California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii will meet at Lafayette Hotel Monday to open a two-day conference of the Pacific Coast Electrical Assn.

WYNNE LEARNED DANCING by experience. Long Beach State College drama course is teaching her techniques of lighting and staging.

Civic Leaders, Council Ponder Future of City

Six of the most influential organizations in Long Beach will meet with the City Council Tuesday to discuss the future of the community.

Councilmen will sit down simultaneously with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Convention Bureau, International Beauty Congress, Downtown Long Beach Associates, Apartment House Assn. and Board of Realtors.

"An important announcement will be forthcoming," an organization spokesman said.

Judge Lyman B. Suttler, former mayor, will lead the discussions for the organization. Representatives of all Long Beach organizations are invited to the council session. Exact scope of the talks is secret till Tuesday.

Boy Scout Council Fund Drive Gaining

The halfway mark in the Long Beach Area Boy Scouts Council's drive for $49,000 has been reached, council chairman James G. Craig Jr. announced Saturday.

Ten dollars or more per family is the amount being asked by some 2,000 volunteer "Dads" who are contacting the parents of each of the 12,000 boys active in the Scout Council.

EDITORIAL

First Step in Solving Problem Is to State It

THIS NEWSPAPER LAST WEEK published a series of six articles by James McCauley describing how Long Beach red tape and hostility have retarded industrial development in this community.

The purpose of that series was not to pillory public officials but to expose bad conditions which need to be corrected so the city can get ahead. Instantly, a couple of officials criticized the newspaper for saying such things. This defensive attitude which admits no error is one thing that is wrong. We prefer the reaction of City Councilman Charles Garrison, who said that he didn't know whether the statements in the series are correct but that they should be investigated and, if found true, acted upon.

IN SUMMARY, REPORTER MCCAULEY discovered that:

Long Beach has not been getting its share of new industry during the big boom.

Several oldtime Long Beach industries, in fact, have departed.

Many scouts for industrial sites have come, taken a look at local conditions, and rejected Long Beach as a possibility.

Red tape discourages industry. Business license applicants often must wait weeks, months, even years for their licenses and must do business illegally or depart. After discovering he needed eight permits and 15 inspections, one builder said he would never build here again.

Zoning rules discourage industry. A garment industry, after discovering that it could make dresses but not blouses on its premises, canceled its lease and closed shop.

Blocs of Long Beach citizens are hostile to attempts to do things that encourage business and industry. Shoreline development has been delayed 15 years by quibbling. Propositions S and T, to beautify Long Beach and improve its tourist facilities, were defeated in 1958. Airport development is constantly under fire.

THE FIRST STEP IN SOLVING a problem is to state it. Our series was such a statement. It was a detailing of some of the troubles hinted at in an excellent general statement recently by the Chamber of Commerce's new manager, Harry Krusz. The Chamber's hiring of Mr. Krusz and the encouragement it gave to him to make a candid report on Long Beach's lacks are good signs.

This new candor should be matched by the City Manager, the Council, and all those city departments involved with industrial activity. Since 1952 Long Beach has spent $340,000 trying to attract new industry to this city. Let's start sending good money after good, instead of after bad.

Nixon Seeks Strong Nationwide Slate

By ROBERT E. LEE AND BILL BROOM

WASHINGTON—Vice President Nixon is desperately putting the heat on Republican organizations around the country to come up with attractive candidates for congressional and local offices this year.

During the past two election campaigns Nixon privately was quite frank in expressing a low opinion of the drawing power of many GOP candidates. In his usual discerning way he recognized that, man for man, the Democrats had the Republicans outgunned in terms of youth, intellectual capacity and political "it." Now that he's gradually assuming command of the party in everything but title, he means to do something to raise the caliber of the candidates the Republicans put forward.

This year the matter is far more important to the Vice President than it was in '56 and '58: Nixon himself will presumably head the GOP ticket in the various states and he knows he needs strong backstopping. Not only will control of the House of Representatives be at stake (it's mathematically impossible for the GOP to win the Senate). Far more important to him, Nixon's own appeal to the independent voters and dissident Democrats he needs would be vastly enhanced by the appearance of attractive congressional and gubernatorial candidates on state tickets with him. He may be the darling of the GOP Old Guard, but he's determined to do what he can to keep the Old Guard from another batch of mediocre, middle-aged candidates.

ANYONE WHO THINKS the coal industry is sick ought to take a look at a new, coal-black office building near the heart of the nation's capital. This is the new million-dollar home of the National Coal Association, which soon will be headquarters for most of the industry's research, marketing and lobbying braintrusts. It is not only heated by coal, as might be expected, but also air-conditioned by the same coal-steam unit. The coal building looks as if it's made of coal but actually is constructed of glazed black granite.

There was a rumor making the rounds that consolidation of all industry Washington activity under one roof would be featured by a United Mine Workers unit in the new building—to dramatize the era of good labor feeling existing in the industry. That's not true, however; the union, which is richer than many coal companies, has offices in three or four buildings of its own a few blocks from management's new home.

Bitterness Is Mingled With Play-Acting in Senate Battle

WASHINGTON—The Senate floor is charged with bitter oratory these days. Yet backstage in the cloakrooms there is a theatrical quality about the bitterness, as the Senate begins day-and-night sessions to force passage of a civil rights bill.

Hanging in the balance of this debate is not merely the question of whether Negroes shall vote south of the Mason-Dixon line, but the presidential chances of the Senate leader, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, and the future of the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition which has sometimes blocked civil rights.

Johnson is determined to pass a civil rights bill. In doing so, he is bucking one of his best friends, Dick Russell of Georgia. The other day Sen. Russell rose on the Senate floor. "We desire to know whether it is proposed to boil us in oil, or to burn us at the stake, or to fricassee us on some new kind of rack or wheel, or simply to burn off several inches of our bodies," he said, speaking with great indignation on behalf of his southern colleagues.

What the Senator from Georgia was protesting was the tacking of the civil rights bill onto an obscure armed services bill leasing certain Army property at Fort Crowder, Mo., as a public school.

The above Senate scene was not only good drama but highly important drama. Because it was Russell's close friend, Johnson, who devised the strategy of tying the civil rights bill to the inconspicuous school bill leasing part of Fort Crowder as a school.

However, five months before this to the very day—Sept. 15—Johnson had told the Senate:

"I serve notice on all members that on or about 12 o'clock on Feb. 15 I anticipate that some senator will rise in this place and make a motion in regard to the general civil rights question."

True to his word, Johnson made his motion at noon on Feb. 15, and the fact that his good friend from Georgia knew what was coming is clearly indicated by some of Russell's own statements during that dramatic day in the Senate.

WHAT THE insiders further knew was that if and when the civil rights amendment was finally tacked onto the bill leasing part of Fort Crowder for school purposes, it would be sent back to conference between the Senate and House Armed Services Committee. They also knew what Sen. Russell obviously knew—that he is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, that his fellow Georgian, Carl Vinson, is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and that two other staunch southerners, Sen. Byrd of Virginia and Rep. Kilday of Texas, would be the other conferees who would finally pass on the civil rights bill in conference committee.

Something Will Have to Be Done About the Olympic 'Gap'

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

WASHINGTON—Something will have to be done about the Olympic "gap." America isn't showing up well in the Winter Olympics. Again the Russians are "ahead of us." The latest score available as this is written shows Russia way out in front, with Germany second, while the United States lags far behind in third place.

How did it all happen? Was there something wrong with our "intelligence estimates"?

The fault presumably could be President Eisenhower's. He said something the other day to his press conference about not being first in everything and how sometimes you had to be "second best," as in the Olympics. Maybe he didn't realize how important to our mental security a victory in the Olympics is—especially the winter ones. Anyway, the whole thing calls for a congressional investigation. It ought to be ascertained, for example, whether under a Democratic administration the weather was colder and whether the United States then had better skaters and skiers than today.

Really what's wrong, of course, is that we in America are influenced too much by "budgetary considerations" or foolish ideas of amateurism, as against the Russian "professional amateur." For the Soviet government pays and trains its athletes all the year round, while we don't even have enough funds available to us through popular subscription to hire needed coaches.

ALSO, as usual, there's something wrong with the climate. The Russians have the Arctic Ocean conveniently nearby, so the Arctic blasts keep the Russians well supplied with a stockpile of ice. What will have to be done doubtless is to move our teams into Northern Canada for a "ski-borne alert."

As usual, the women have saved the day. Carol Heiss won an Olympics championship in figure skating. She happens to be an undergraduate at New York University. This is a subject for investigation, too. In New York City they have Central Park to provide ice-skating facilities. Other congressional districts don't have such advantages, and it's about time Congress did something about this—our "na-

Club Frictions Hurt Demo Hope for Peaceful Primary

"CLUBS" CAN BE A trump suit, a jolly-good weapon or a polite social gathering. Those clubs known as CDC (California Democratic Council) fit all three definitions at this moment in the Long Beach-Lakewood-Signal Hill 18th Congressional District.

Both avowed Democratic candidates for the nomination—Dr. Wallace H. Moore of Long Beach State College and City Councilman D. Patrick Ahern—have abandoned the strained grins they traded in a non-aggression pact of some weeks back. They vowed then that Rep. Craig Hosmer would be the one and only whippee in both primary and general whipping exercises. They vowed there'd be no wheel slippage by Democrats to divide them in the primary—unless the other guy started it. Recently, the wheels fell off.

Dr. Moore has been a CDC man for years. The 18th CDC endorsed his congressional candidacy last Jan. 22; Ahern did not seek it. Three days later State Sen. Richard Richards dropped down from L. A. for a local speech and publicly endorsed Moore. Richards is a stout CDC man too. About one week ago the Democratic Caucus to name local delegates for Gov. Brown's favorite son delegation nominated Moore as a prospect. Ahern's name was not mentioned. Within the week, Ahern was canceled out as a speaker before the Democratic Women's Study Club. In short, Ahern has been just about "clubbed" to death.

BUT IT isn't as smooth a CDC front as the ganged-up statistics might indicate. Take the Study Club incident, for example. Mrs. Jewel Boynton, a two-year veteran of planning club study hour programs, says she announced some weeks ago she'd use future monthly meetings to present candidates for examination and questioning by members, invited Ahern for the March 2 meeting. President Mrs. Thomas F. Crocker overruled, pointing out neither she nor the executive board had been apprised of the program and that reports on the recent CDC convention had already been scheduled. Mrs. Boynton wrote out an apology to Ahern and a resignation from her post to Mrs. Crocker.

Now, Ahern picked up his own club. "I was shocked to find that the principles to which the club had adhered throughout the years are now being junked by some few narrow-minded club people. I had also thought the club's purpose was to examine issues and all candidates."

"HOWEVER, let it be said also that other clubs in this city have been endorsing even before the filing date, March 9, and likewise have not presented all of the announced candidates. All of this indicates to me that some of our Democratic groups need better leadership and direction if they are to practice what they preach—democracy in the true pattern of the Democratic Party. However, I have asked for no club endorsements; I ask only a verdict from the greatest jury of all—the people."

An even tauter example of the current club endorsement tension is found in the biggest and best-promoted club of all, the L.B. Democratic Luncheon Club. It's the one which has showcased top flight speakers before SRO audiences over the past months—Sen. Engle, Demo Committeeman Paul Ziffren, Gov. Rosellini of Washington and Senators Symington and Humphrey.

AHERN is vice president and program chairman. The club used to be CDC-affiliated. Dr. Moore is a member of the club's board of directors. The club is not now affiliated. The word abroad today is that the club will have no more meetings before the primary in order to avoid the necessity for making a decision between CDC's Moore and the club's wheel-horse, Ahern.

All this reads like a cashier's check to Rep. Craig Hosmer.

Haters Would Crucify Kennedy

EDITOR:

There appeared in your column a letter from one Rev. Ray H. Firth, who seems quite upset that Doris Kelly should defend her religion—which happens to be Catholic. The fact that she said her faith believes in using "spiritual means rather than force" did not sway the good Reverend. No, sir!

Miss Kelly will have to prove this, or in the Reverend's own words . . . "give some good evidence that certain practices of the Catholic Church, particularly regarding education, could not happen here . . ." Poor Miss Kelly. If she were to disprove every allegation made against the Catholics—she would have little time for anything else.

RIGHT HERE and now, I should like to relieve Reverend Firth's troubled mind.

There will not be a Catholic President in the White House this coming election. Furthermore, I doubt a Catholic will ever be President. In this great country that claims "all men are created equal"—there still remains a vast number who draw the line when it comes to the presidency. These are the same righteous people who start out an argument with the words: "Understand now, I have nothing against the Catholics. BUT . . ." the same people who, indeed, know more about Catholicism than the Catholics themselves.

FRANKLY, I hope that Jack Kennedy will not run, for I'm afraid hate and ignorance will crucify him—as they did Al Smith when he ran against Hoover.

McCauley Series on Industry Lauded

EDITOR:

Congratulations on the series of articles by Jim McCauley regarding the City of Long Beach and its attempts to progress.

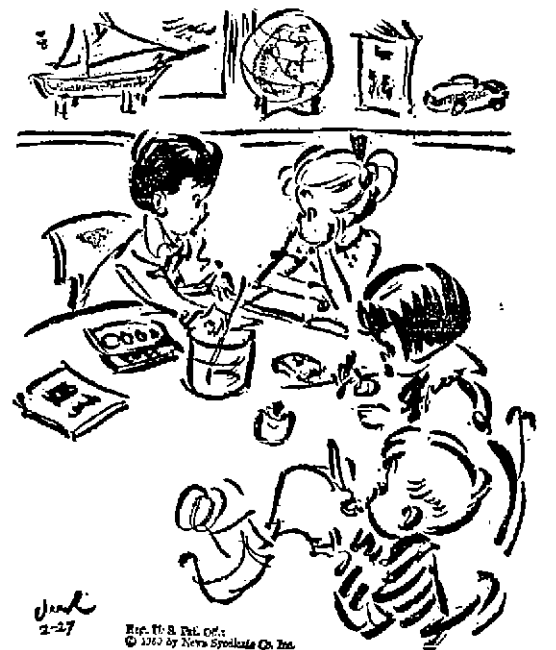

A good hard look at the Long Beach situation is of value to all of us. Long Beach, being in the western end of the United States, is not a good location for industry as a general rule. There is not much we can do about this other than to pave the industrial and commercial path to Long Beach with confidence and reliability, so that an industrialist or commercial developer can enter Long Beach knowing that not only is this a pleasant place to work, but the policies of our city government are very friendly towards his enterprise.

AT THE PRESENT time, I feel that this policy is not part of our city government. That we are saturated with industrial and commercial obstacles. Our main asset, which is the beach, is prohibited from commercial development by zoning ordinances and strange attempts to ruin the commercial aspects of private beaches by placing highways and parking lots on them. Where would Miami Beach be if the sands were covered with asphalt highways? Do you think people would pay $40 to $50 a day to stay in a hotel room that fronted on a freeway instead of a beach?

Compton Marine Hails Squaw Valley Spirit

There has been too much squawk about the Olympic winter games in Squaw Valley. And the publicized, over-magnified squawk aspects don't reflect the actual existence of the Olympic spirit, according to a U.S. Marine from Compton.

The Marine, Alden R. Waldo, 22, is a clarinetist with the Marine Band from Washington, D.C., which was sent to play at Squaw Valley.

He wrote a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Waldo, 701 N. Poinsettia St., Compton, about his experiences at the Olympic games.

He was unaware that the letter would be sent to this newspaper but his parents were so impressed by their son's feelings, they thought it should be shared. The editors agreed.

Following are excerpts from the letter:

"We are in close contact with the champions of winter sports and can see first-hand that youth of all countries are basically the same.

"In a beautiful, clear, clean winter setting, the feeling of the Olympic spirit actually exists.

"You see, hear, talk and realize that these, too, are people, and not so different as their language, manners and politics seem from afar.

"The athletes here embrace each other as friends and you sense that there is a singularity of purpose and goal. Most speak a small amount of English and are very inquisitive, I've noticed.

"They want to know the names of everything around and, as could be expected, all ran for autographs of Walt Disney and various movie stars who are always around. Many athletes shout or ask requests of us to play favorite tunes. One Hungarian asked if we ever played any Bartok or Gershwin. The Germans particularly wanted to know if American bands played Beethoven.

"I talked to many and they are all friendly, awe-stricken at being here, anxious to meet and know American youth and all seem so gracious and cultured.

"The Russians are no different from any other group here except that they give a first impression of aloofness. But once the ice is broken from their usual cold countenance, they are the same as the others—happy, hopeful youths."

Waldo wrote of a long conversation with a German athlete whose father, a Nazi officer, had been imprisoned because he wouldn't comply with an execution order.

"His words were wise and well-thought out and, from his experiences in life, he should know when he says, 'Everyone wants freedom really, no matter what you call it.'"

"And we decided, and I am convinced after being with people of many countries, that this is true:

"All peoples are basically the same—that the only distinctions here are language, uniform and place of birth.

"The Russian must be Russian, and the Japanese, Japanese.

"But the hopes are the same, the goals the same, and the over-bearing struggle between good and evil the ever-present battle of all peoples.

"And so I can feel no wrath today for the Russian boy or the old Japanese coach because we both want our three squares a day, love, some happiness. We experience the same emotions, the same one of brotherhood, peace."

Experiment Proves Thunderbird Rugged

THREE BEAUTIES

Two Thunderbirds and Shirley Garner, Miss California in the 1956 Miss Universe contest, join forces to prove a point—that the Thunderbird mobile home is well constructed. So is Miss Garner—36-22-35. The Thunderbird mobile home may be seen and purchased at Ace Trailer Sales, 16002 S. Atlantic Ave., Compton.

Ace Lot Scene of Big Test

Rocky Crook, owner of Ace Trailer Sales, 16002 S. Atlantic Ave., Compton, proved that the Thunderbird custom mobile home can take it.

On Monday, Crook had a 5,800 pound Thunderbird auto hoisted on top of a Thunderbird mobile home on his lot.

Then on top of the Thunderbird auto he perched Miss California of the 1956 Miss Universe contest, Shirley Garner.

Miss Garner, now a TV and motion picture actress and model, didn't add much weight but she did add a lot of beauty to the experiment.

The weight did not cause the mobile home to buckle or sag. Doors opened normally and the experiment proved, Crook said, that the Thunderbird is the best constructed mobile home on the market.

All purchases of a Thunderbird mobile home at the bonus and for free a new Ace lot are receiving as a gift a new auto, the famous Prinz.

Ex-Dancer Steals Dad's Life Savings

NEW YORK (UPI) — A widow admitted Saturday she stole her aged father's $46,000 life savings, $4,000 of which was found at the bottom of an urn containing her husband's ashes.

Police ended a long investigation of the theft with an announcement that Johanna Friese, 47, a retired ballet dancer, had confessed she took the money last October from her 83-year-old father, Alfred P. Friese, regarded as the world's finest kettle drummer until his retirement from the New York Philharmonic in 1926.

Charged with Miss Friese was Ben Nathan, 69, an interior decorator. He was accused of helping Miss Friese steal the safe in which her father had kept his money since his last brother lost his savings in the financial panic of 1907.

ROADCRAFT IMPERIAL BEDROOM

The world's largest mobile home, the 70-foot Roadcraft Imperial, boasts of a bedroom that has two full twin size beds, custom tailored drapes and spreads, special built-in vanity and storage wall, walk-in wardrobe and John Alden maple twin bedroom set. It is manufactured by the Roadcraft Corp., 141 Walnut Ave., Gardena.

By BERNICE L. MAY

With the warm weather the past few days, many tenants at Long Beach Trailer Estates, 6541 Atlantic Ave., have started to shape up their yards by planting various shrubs and flowers, adding much beauty to the park.

A nice crowd showed up for bingo on Friday night. Marion Blake, Lucille and Roy Hoffman selected a very nice variety of prizes. The donation made by "Flying A" gas station, corner of Artesia St. and Atlantic Ave., was won by Dan MacDonald. At intermission coffee and cakes were served by the committee.

Grand Slam bridge club met at the mobile home of Matilda Sapp. Grace Dunn won high score. One day the past week Grace Dunn was hostess to a dessert bridge and Mae Roberson was the lucky winner. Hi Noon canasta gals met in the clubroom on Thursday with 18 members present. On Thursday evening several gathered to play card games of their liking.

Jimmy and Grace Dunn gave a bridge party on Saturday evening. Refreshments were served. Retired Lt. Cmdr. Julius Ford and wife Bessie captured high score prize for the evening.

We welcome as new tenants Mr. and Mrs. Montie Wood. They purchased the mobile home of the Longs here at the Estates. Wm. and Billie Long have purchased a home in Buena Park. We also welcome the two sisters, Miss Palmer and Mrs. Burnquist, and hope they enjoy the many friendly neighbors.

Several here at the Estates are enjoying the thrill of driving new cars. The Bartholomews have chosen a new Dodge. Grace and Jimmy Dunn the Chevrolet Impala hardtop. Henry and Velma Corrado a new Fairlane 500. Wilbur and Florence Allen selected the small Ford for economy and comfort.

Grace and Dick Cloud entertained a group in the clubroom for Sunday dinner. Dick's mother was honor guest. She is spending the winter here with relatives.

Frank and Lena Halen returned for a few days stay here. They are motoring back to Palm Springs for more relaxation and sunshine.

Caravan Notes

Can you do the circle cha-cha-cha? If not, you could learn it almost any Saturday night at Caravan Trailer Lodge, 13782 Hoover St., Westminster. Petra Wright, who had her own dancing studio in Long Beach for years, taught it to a few of us and now practically everyone who moves in gets dragged in to learn it whether they are interested or not. The Pierces, Joyce and Bob, weren't even settled comfortably before they were cha-cha-chaing with us. I think they enjoyed it, though—we didn't even have to twist their arms. Last Saturday we had several lines of people learning the Jessie polka from Bill Wright and Eva Taylor. We hope our new tenants, the Berrys, will join us soon.

Louis and Ethel Mainzer haven't joined us in the recreation hall too often because Louis has been convalescent, but if he takes up swimming as therapy, we'll probably see a lot more of them. We hope Louis' doctor will recommend it—we would like to have them around more.

Attention, Jean and Mel Sober, Al and Pearl Ellison, Petra and Bill Wright! The fact that you're getting extra special attention from all of us right now is purely coincidental. It has nothing at all to do with the fact that you own boats—and the weather's lovely. That's purely propaganda that any of us would be happy to help you scrape off barnacles—or whatever one does—to get your boats ready to go down to the sea again. By the way, the sea—in the form of Marina Bay—is pretty darned close to us here at Caravan.

Andy Lofgreen, one of our owners, has spent the week putting real sexy colored lights in the foliage at the front of the park. Of course, some of the foliage looks a little ratty at present because it got frozen in the cold spell. But we think it will pull through and it's at least going to be a pretty color while it's pulling through. Who says wives shouldn't nag? It was only Verna's nagging that got this job done this soon.

RIVIERA NOTES

Shuffleboard tournaments started Saturday at the Riviera Anaheim Mobile Home Park, 300 W. Katella Ave., Anaheim.

The men served a "ham an" breakfast Sunday and have promised to serve similar ones the last Sunday of every month. The ladies committee, not to be outdone, have arranged for pot luck dinners every second Saturday of the month at 6:30 p.m.

The ping pong tables have been getting such good play that we are planning tournaments.

New arrivals include Mr. and Mrs. Jerome McKay and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kinter. Russ Rouslow had bad luck on his combined business-pleasure trip. No fish.

200 Attend Palm Lodge Open House

ANAHEIM — Open house for the first anniversary of Palm Lodge Trailer Estates was attended by over 200 visitors, tenants and friends.

The clubhouse was a hub of activity as buffet lunch was served and guests greeted by hosts and hostesses Ed and Dee Mitchell, Haven and Kathleen O'Rear, and Fred and Vi Long from 11 to 5 on Sunday, Feb. 14. Arranged flowers in valentine colors decorated the hall. Music was furnished by Mike Bain at his Hammond Organ.

Interest in the various card games has increased so that along with the regular Tuesday afternoon duplicate tournaments, pinocle will be played every Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. This is in addition to the weekly evening schedule of bridge on Monday, pinocle Tuesday and whist on Thursday.

The Palm Lodge Council arranged for the new Wuritzer juke box that we now have in the Recreation Hall in addition to the existing Hi-Fi set. Well stocked with a variety of records the juke box will supply music for dancing and other activities.

Last Sunday night was set aside as an evening of music, called Rhyme and Rhythm Night, and concluded with a sing led by Roy Danielson with Vi Long at the piano.

Five Palm Lodge ladies, Henrietta Phelps, Fran Bain, Libby Schwartz, Velma Pierce and Vi Long attended the Queen for a Day TV show recently where Fran Bain was chosen as one of the 20 semifinalists from a group of about 500 women. The party also attended the Truth or Consequences show and later had dinner at the Ontra Cafeteria in Hollywood.

Really on Job His Watch Dog

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Nobody gets in Rudy Camp's car when his 2-year-old terrier Ike is inside. Nobody.

Camp learned this painfully while the car—dog inside—was on a service station hoist. The keys were inside and Camp couldn't get in the locked car. When he tried to pry open the ventilator window, his dog snarled.

Camp finally had to call for his wife, who brought a spare set of keys.

PROMOTES BEACH CITY MOVIE

Retired Press Agent Isn't

By GEORGE ERES
Old press agents never retire. They just blaze away.
Take the case of "retired" Milt Harris, just in by bus from Miami.

Harris is 69 and an ex-newsman, press-agent and theater manager in eastern points.
"I'm 69 and the youngest man there," he explained. "A lady 91 made me dance with her at a social. She told me I'm too young to retire."

SO RIGHT NOW all 5 feet and 200 pounds of him are being thrown into promotion of a vehicle for a gal named Gina Marie, formerly of Italy and now of New York. Harris calls her the "answer to Gina Lollobrigida."

Gina Marie, says Harris is an "exotic." An "exotic" is what a stripper prefers to be called. But, Gina Marie, says Harris, is an "exotic" that's unique. She is equally talented as a dramatic actress and operatic singer.

Harris, from whose lips unknowns Jack Benny, Bob Hope, the Marx Bros., Eleanor Powell, Joe Penner, Jack Pearl, George Price, Eddie Cantor and Jessel.

Sometimes known as the "mighty mite," Harris began his career as a newspaperman on the old World and Brooklyn Eagle in New York and boasts a joint byline with Gabriel Heatter on a story. He got the show bug, though, and in 1909 started as an usher, file clerk, candy butcher and handy man for $3 a week, except two slow weeks in the year when he got $1.50.

OVER HIS YEARS in the managing and publicity end of show business he recalls signing a note for a fellow named Arthur Leach who bought a used car to get to Hollywood. Arthur Leach became Cary Grant.

Some of the acts that got no money, but a chance to "break in material," included

Too Young to Quit

GINA MARIE... More Than Exotic

Harris was assistant manager for the Lee & J. J. Shubert theaters in the nation.

Previous to retirement he was connected with the Midwest Burlesk Circuit. The vice president of this outfit is Harry Wald.

And that brings us back to Gina Marie and precisely why Harris is here.

Wald is personal manager for Gina Marie and while Harris is no longer on the Wald payroll as publicity agent, an old habit is hard to break. So he's beating the drum for the picture. Besides a relative of his, Alexander Austin, wrote the book from which the picture will be adapted. Name of this opus is "A Burning Shame."

Shirley Back in 'Who's Who'

CHICAGO (AP) — Shirley Temple, a movie star at 3½, has been at 19 and dropped from "Who's Who in America" at 24, is back at 32.

The book, which catalogs the famous, has decided to restore Shirley on the basis of her TV series, the Shirley Temple Storybook.

Film Stars Stirred by Foo of Tax

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Raymond E. Umbaugh, a self-made millionaire who is trying to abolish personal income taxes, was in town recently.

Needless to say, he made a lot of friends. Umbaugh is head of Americans for Economic Freedom. His group argues that efficiency in government spending could eliminate the need of revenue from personal income taxes.

"I think movie stars are the most maligned of any tax group," said Umbaugh. "Their peak income comes over a span of eight to 10 years at best. They are in the 90 per cent bracket and when their earning power is gone, Uncle Sam has all their money."

Ronald Reagan, however, argues that movie stars are not the only ones maligned by present tax laws.

"I'm not pleading for the poor movie stars," says Reagan, "but we do need tax reform. Many of our tax laws are punitive and discriminate against the man who has to work for a living—whether he be movie star or laborer."

Rich at 18, Paul's Busier Than an Ant

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—He's only 18 and already rich from singing and writing songs, but Canadian-born Paul Anka has a home and swimming pool in Tenafly, N. J., rather than in the mountains, and he's so carefully barbered and so neat that he looks starched.

"I've played Honolulu four times," this dynamic youngster said the other day. "I go to Israel later on in the year . . . to South America in July . . . before that I have to go back to France . . . I play Paris just to sell my records . . . Josephine Baker followed me into the Olympia Theater . . . Marlene Dietrich followed me into the Etoile . . ."

I got out of breath listening.

PAUL ANKA
No Rock, No Roll

cess. He has collected nine gold records. His father, Arthur Anka, gave up an Ottawa restaurant to manage his son.

"I'm getting old—I'll be 19 in July!" he shuddered. "All my money is being put away for me by my father and business manager, William Lazaro. I get $50 a week for myself. . . ."

PAUL FINISHED his schooling while in Hollywood making the picture.

"I had a tutor," he said. "She was a nice woman but how can you take a young person doing his first picture and expect him to break in and study mythology for an hour?"

"I like Tokyo, I got to talking Japanese. . . . I just finished the picture, 'The Private Lives of Adam and Eve' with Mickey Rooney and Tuesday Weld in Hollywood. . . . I'm writing songs for other artists now. . . . I'm doing Johnny Ray's next show, and Connie Francis just brought out a record of one of my songs. . . ."

"Do you consider yourself a rock-'n'-roller?" I asked him.

"I'm glad you asked that," he smiled.

"Anybody under 22 is called a rock-and-roll singer but I disagree. I don't rock and I don't roll. I would call it 'popular music' that I sing."

I'VE NEVER interviewed anybody as self-confident—but Paul Anka has every justification.

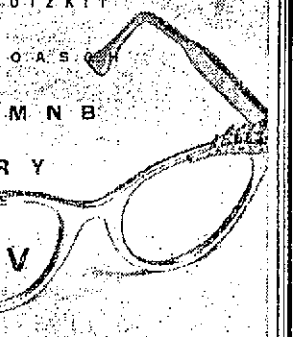

"I came down from Ottawa to peddle my songs when I was 15," Paul said.

"After about three attempts, I got into ABC-Paramount. I sat down at the piano to demonstrate my songs—and they said they'd like me to become a singer on their label.

"They flew my father down from Ottawa to sign the contract. I was in grade 10 at the time. . . ."

the only student till one day the tutor said, "Today you're going to have a playmate."

"It was that little 7-year-old boy who plays 'Dennis the Menace.' I broke up! What could we do together? We finger-painted!"

"Did you finally get your diploma?" I asked.

"Welllll," he considered, "I finally got to be 18."

Paul's now branching out, to work in night clubs. His hobby is to keep doing what he's been doing: writing.

Embattled U.S. Olympians Bid for Title Today

By TED SMITS

SQUAW VALLEY (AP)—A fired-up United States ice hockey team came from behind Saturday to defeat Russia, 3-2, and move close to the coveted Winter Olympics championship.

Never before has the United States beaten Russia in 10,000-meter speed skating. Only Czechoslovakia today—the final day of the games—stands between the Cinderella American team and the title.

Tiny Billy Christian of Warroad, Minn., fired home the winning goal with only five minutes to play. Previously he tied the score at 2-2 in the second period.

An hysterical crowd of 10,000 jammed Blyth Arena, which has a rated capacity of 8,500, for the game, and some paid up to $50 for scalpers' tickets.

CANADA KEPT its hockey championship hopes alive with a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over Sweden. The Swedes piled up a 4-1 lead in the first period.

Canada would have to defeat Russia today and have Czechoslovakia whip the United States to have a chance. The two teams then would be tied in the standings.

GOV. BROWN LAUDS RUSS, YANKS, PG. C-7

ings, and the gold medal would be decided on the goal average. And Canada does not figure to have a good goal average against the Russians.

IN OTHER developments on the Olympic front:

Russia backed down on its protest against Sweden in the women's 15-kilometer ski relay race after seeing movies that exonerated Irma Johansson of interfering with the Soviet's Radia Eroshina.

David Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., winner of one of the two gold medals the United States has picked up so far, announced he is retiring from figure skating to devote full time to studying medicine.

Kurt Johannesen, sturdy Norwegian carpenter, broke the 16-minute barrier and slashed 46 seconds off the world record to win the 10,000-meter (6.214 miles) speed skating event in 15:46.6. Four others bettered the old record.

Kalevi Hamalainen, 28, lean Finnish shop foreman, won the 50-kilometer (31.069 miles) ski race in 2 hours, 59 minutes, 6.3 seconds.

A warm sun drew more than 25,000 to the Valley as the brilliant international competition neared its close.

Russia has these games securely won. On the basis of the unofficial tabulation, the Soviets have 158½ points to 69½ for Sweden, which moved into second place ahead of the United States with 61.

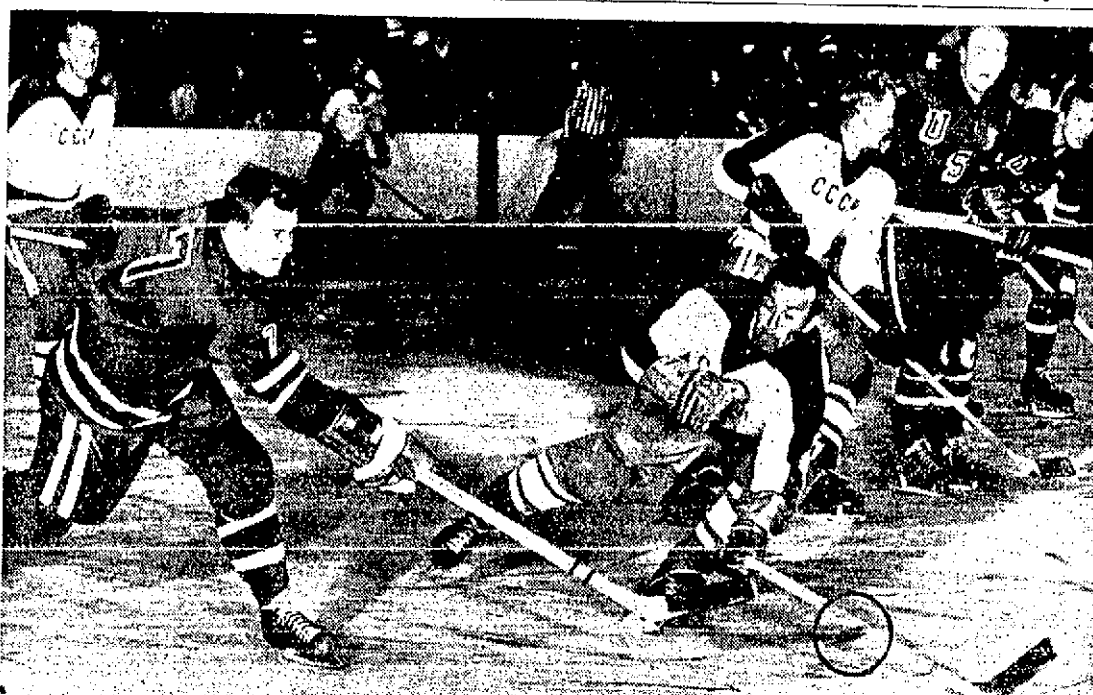

At that, the United States has already made a better showing than it did at the Games in Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy, four years ago, when the Americans were fifth with 54½ points and two gold medals.

AS MATTERS now stand in the hockey tournament, the United States has a spotless record and meets an average Czech team today. Canada already has been beaten by the United States and Russia, the defending champion, has Saturday's defeat and a 2-2 tie with Sweden against it.

Bill Cleary, Boston insurance man, opened the scoring in the fast, hard-played game darting down the right side of the rink and slamming in the puck from 25 feet out in 4:04 of the first period. The play started with a pass from his brother Bob.

The Russians tied it up 1-1 a minute later on a deft screen shot by Veniamin Aleksandrov, and then went ahead midway in the opening period when Mikhail Bychkov fired from 15 feet in front of the net. The puck hit the iron bar on the cage, dropped to the ice, and bounced in at 9:37.

ANOTHER brother combination drew the United States even at 11:01 in the second period. Billy Christian

49ers Blast Alumni in Baseball Opener, 11-4

State Sharp in Tuneup for Arc Tilt

By JERRY WYNN
Long Beach State opened its baseball season with an 11-4 breeze over the Alumni at Blair Field Saturday.

The game was a tuneup for Tuesday night's inter-city clash with Long Beach City College at Blair. That 7:30 p.m. tilt will be the first inter-collegiate arc-light contest in area history.

Saturday's win also was the first for Long Beach under new coach Dick Clegg, who went home happy as his club turned in a snappy performance.

THE 49ERS got creditable jobs from five pitchers, made only two errors and got 12 hits. Included among the latter were a home run by shortstop Tom Turill and bases-clearing triple by first baseman Dick Nenn.

Other 49ers handy with the bat were Jack Brick with three safe blows and all-CCAA Roger Hull with a double, single and three stolen bases including a theft of home.

But the biggest day at the dish was enjoyed by the Alumni's Phil Baker, who has a shingle reading "have diploma, play baseball." Star for the Poly Alumni last year and City College Alumni last week, the janky outfielder-pitcher cracked four solid singles before smashing into a ground-out in the ninth.

LONG BEACH salted away the game with a four-run burst in the fifth and sixth innings. Turill's two-run homer highlighted the first. Nenn's triple climaxed the second.

Several of the Americans jiggled about the ice, doing crazy little war dances and throwing their sticks high in the air. Goalie McCurtan, smiling from ear to ear, skated out and fell to his knees laughing at the blue line. He was joined by Tom Williams and Ed Owen.

THE RUSSIAN players waited patiently in the traditional Olympic lining-up on the ice while the Yanks jubilantly pummeled their teammates.

Finally, the Americans broke out of their victory huddle and skated out to shake hands with the Soviet players. The opposing players sought out individuals to congratulate with hearty shoulder hugs.

It was a rough game, complete with wrestling and rugged body checking. The Russians were penalized twice, the U.S. once.

Roger Christian sat out two minutes for slashing a Russian on the head with his stick.

Ross Zucco of South Gate, Calif., finished 10th in the 10,000 meter speed skating competition in 16:37.6, a new American record. Zucco, 25, said he found the world record of 15:46.6 set by Knut Johannesen of Norway "pretty hard to shoot at."

Gift Shots Give Troy 77-70 Win

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Southern California avenged an early season loss to the Santa Clara Broncos by dumping them 77-70 Saturday night in a game at the San Jose Auditorium.

The Trojans won it at the free throw line where they got 29 points off 35 shots.

Bob Hampton and Chris Appel kept up a scoring pace in the first half that put SC ahead 40-34 at the intermission. With Frank Sobrero doing good shot work Santa Clara bounced back in the second half. Sobrero had 28 points for the game.

BUT EVERY time the Broncos came within range of overtaking SC, they were set back by the accurate free shots of Jim White and others.

Green Scores 38 but UCLA Loses

SEATTLE (UPI) — The University of Washington Huskies closed out their home basketball season with an 84-73 Big Five Conference victory over UCLA Saturday night.

The win was only the second for Washington in 11 conference starts. UCLA's Big Five record now is 6-4.

The Bruins, paced by John Green's 38-point performance, led through most of the first half and were in front at the intermission, 40-39.

It was nip-and-tuck through the early minutes of the second period until Washington went in front on Roger Niva's jump shot and began pulling away.

The Huskies were led by Bill Hanson and Al Murphy, who got 27 and 30, respectively.

The 84 points scored by Washington represented the highest game total of the season for the Huskies.

FIRST BIG 10 TITLE SINCE '50 FOR BUCS

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Ohio State won its first Big Ten championship in 10 years Saturday night as it smothered Wisconsin under an avalanche of second half baskets for a 93-68 basketball victory.

Cal Turns Back Ore. St., 62-47

OREGON STATE managed to stay with the Bears until the seven-minute mark when the Beavers trailed only 44-38. But then the Bears reeled off eight straight points to pull in front by 14 points, 52-38.

The Bears shot an even .500 in the second half and wound up the game with a .440 mark on 22 of 50. Earl Schultz, who topped California's scoring with 11 points, had a perfect 5-for-5 from the field.

Jolly Dessen Teases Dodgers

Jolly Cholly Dessen, who hasn't even led his Milwaukee Braves into a single exhibition game yet, already has stirred up the National League to the tune of a few thousand more tickets whenever his big, bad Braves come into a town.

Cholly was particularly "nasty" to his old friends, the Dodgers, when he roared (with tongue-in-cheek and smile-on-face, of course) that "if the Dodgers are all we've got to beat, the Braves are in."

A day later — when no Dodgers were looking — Cholly whispered this comment to a New York columnist:

"You've got to say the Dodgers will be tough. They won last year, didn't they? That kid Sherry is all right. He got 'em out — and that's what pitchers are supposed to do. Those Dodgers are gonna be real tough!"

Cholly knows they'll be tough, but how he likes to tease the Dodgers, some of whom aren't the most thick-skinned gents in the world!

CHUCK ESSEGIAN
New Video Hero

LATEST DODGER to go Western is Chuck Essegian, who'll appear in the TV series, "Sugarfoot," Tuesday night. He'll play the role of a surveyor.

I recall at least three other Dodgers who have been in TV roles—Duke Snider was a badman (who almost fell off his horse), Don Drysdale was a romantic cowpoke in "Lawman" and Sandy Koufax was an Army payroll rider in "Colt 45"—but there's a reason.

Warner Bros. casting director is a chap named Jerry Bloom, from Brooklyn and a Dodger fan. (Maybe he'll land the next All-Star Game in Tombstone!)

THE RAMS took another lacing from the 49ers a few days ago, but this time it was in a benefit basketball game at Las Vegas. The 49ers—with Bob St. Clair swishing 16 points and Billy Wilson 11—routed the Rams, 55-41. Del Shofner and "Elbows" Burroughs potted 13 each for the Rams.

Significantly, a picture we saw showed Burroughs with an elbow in Y. A. Tittle's midsection and Shofner flat on his kisser!

The game's show-stealers were St. Clair (265) and George Strugar (270), who most have looked like circus elephants when they went up for rebounds. The top play was pulled off by the 49ers, who assembled in front of Tittle and in football formation raced the length of the court for two points, bowling over Les Richter en route.

Sounds like the Ram football season all over again, doesn't it?

BILL RIGNEY credits a girl with transforming Giant shortstop Eddie Bressoud into a first-class player last season. Eddie, a Century Club banquet guest last month and a frequent performer in Blair Field exhibitions this past winter, readily agrees.

"My wife died of a brain tumor in 1958," explained Bressoud, "and left me alone with my two young sons. When I left the Giants to go to her bedside just before she died, I broke down and cried like a baby."

"After her death, I returned to the Giants but my heart wasn't in baseball and I was like a guy having a bad dream."

"One day, though, I met an airline hostess one one of our chartered flights. She told me I should snap out of my doldrums and try to act alive for my kids' sake. She gave me a new lease on life—and before I knew it, we were married."

Eddie was installed as San Francisco's regular shortstop last July 3rd and almost sparked the Giants to the flag!

WHO'S THE BEST player in baseball? Willie Mays, writes New Yorker Dick Young, who polled major league managers and officials, with Hank Aaron, Mickey Mantle and Al Kaline following in that order. (But I'd have to find a spot close up for the Cubs' Ernie Banks, who continues to be a star in a virtual Little League organization.)

A little bird chirps that a crushing fullback, Hank (The Ripper) Enriquez, who made the JC honorable mention All-America last year at Orange Coast College, hasn't been contacted by a four-year school, but is willing! If Don Reed and Dick Perry at Long Beach State are interested, Ripper can be located at 1205 Pine, Santa Ana. (The usual agent's fees prevail, gentlemen!)

took a pass from his brother, Roger, swept down the left side, and fired home from an angle.

Then with five minutes left, Billy again rammed home the puck on a double pass as the crowd went wild.

As in the 2-1 upset of the Canadians, big Jack McCurtan, the 24-year-old ex-University of Minnesota star, turned in a dazzling performance in the net. He stopped 31 shots at the American cage and made one in the final minute—a diving stop eight feet in front of the net—that looked like a certain goal.

IN THE last desperate seconds, the Russians pulled their goalie and sent six skaters charging at the American net, but the Yank defense anchored by captain Jack Kirrane, a lantern-jawed fireman from Brookline, Mass.,

Japanese Study Dodgers

VERO BEACH — Japan will have a chance to learn the finer points of major league baseball the championship way, thanks to a novel experiment being conducted by the Dodgers.

President Walter O'Malley announced

Friday that a Japanese representative will travel with the Dodgers throughout the 1960 season. Selected to study the Dodgers' methods and report back to Japan is Kaoru Betto, a director of the Tokyo Daimai Orions in the Pacific League.

Early Spotlight on Musial, Ted and Red

Here's Concise Preview of All 16 Teams as Regulars Join Major League Camps

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Spring training opens officially in Florida and Arizona this week when the full squads of the 16 big league baseball clubs report with renewed hope and scores of new faces.

Full-scale practice gets under way Monday.

First exhibition games are booked for Saturday, March 12. The regular National League schedule opens April 12 while the American League kicks off April 18.

NEW YORK — Milwaukee have been made the winter favorites despite their unexpected setbacks in the 1959 pennant races, won by the White Sox and Dodgers. The Yankees are favored at odds of 4-5.

Much of the early attention will be focused on Red Schoendienst's attempt to regain his regular second base job with Milwaukee and on the performances of veterans Ted Williams and Stan Musial.

Schoendienst, fully recovered from tuberculosis, was on the sidelines most of the season. Williams, 41, batted only .254 for the Boston Red Sox last year, and Musial, 39, wound up with a .255 average for St. Louis.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago—Much stronger in outfield with addition of Minnie Minoso from Cleveland and at third base with Gene Pressle from Philadelphia. Also picked to free up pitcher Mike Garcia and infielder Chico Carrasquel. Trades also brought in hotly-outstanding left-handed Frank Baumann and Jake Striker. Big question is whether big Ted Kluszewski can pick up where he left off in World Series.

Cleveland—John Temple at second base and Bubba Phillips at third certain to lighten hitting. Going up to replace winter Cal McLish to Cincinnati may hurt, but club has good young pitchers in Carby Bell, Herb Hooton and Mando Grant. Added veteran moundmen Leo Kiley and Ernie Johnson.

New York—Counting on better season from Mickey Vernon, full campaign from perennially-injured Bill Skowron, and power and better defense from Roger Maris, obtained from Kansas City. Pitching only fair unless Bob Turley rebounds from poor season. Freshmen are pitcher Bill Short and outfielder Deron Johnson.

Detroit—First base still a problem unless Steve Bello, back for another try, can solve. Get relief pitcher Ray Semrau from the Cubs, and get Bob Taylor from Cubs. Are most noteworthy additions. Bolstered pitching by trading for Dave Hillman and Jim Dunning.

Boston—Lost power when Jackie Jensen retired. First baseman Ron Jackson, from the White Sox, and Jim Marshall from the Cubs, and Mel Boyer, Thomson from Cubs, are most noteworthy additions. Bolstered pitching by trading for Dave Hillman and Jim Dunning.

Baltimore—Jackie Brandt, from San Francisco, should help batting attack and outfield. Get relief pitcher Ray Semrau from the Cubs, and get Bob Taylor from Cubs. Are most noteworthy additions. Bolstered pitching by trading for Dave Hillman and Jim Dunning.

Kansas City—Can move up if ex-Yankee Don Larsen, Norm Siebern, Hank Bauer and Marv Throneberry can produce. Added good rookie left-handed Ron Hamlin and Lou Klimchuck, plus catcher Ernie Unley (Red Sox) and Hank Colles (Pirates), and pitcher Dick Hall, sensation in the Coast League. Has the only freshman manager, Bob Elliott.

Washington—Good slugging crew with Harmon Killebrew, Roy Sievers and Bob Allison. No winter trading, but has fine rookie outfield prospect, Dan Dobben.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Los Angeles—Leading rookies, slugger Frank Howard and Tommy Davis. PCL batting king, and win regular Bob Feller, defensive infielder and plenty of pitching depth with Don Drysdale, Roger Craig, Larry Sherry, Sandy Kousser, and Jim Kousser.

Milwaukee—Only deal brought in catcher Charley Lau from Detroit farm. Needs improved seasons from Johnny Ligon, Wes Covington plus comeback by Schoendienst.

San Francisco—Improved pitching with Billy Lee and Billy O'Dell from Baltimore. Also got good lead-off batter and crackback defensive second baseman, Don Blasingame from St. Louis. Gene Maranda, became winner for Louisville, best rated freshman.

Pittsburgh—Acquired Gino Cimoli (St. Louis), outfielder; catcher Hal Smith (St. Louis), and pitcher Tony Cheney (St. Louis). Needs comeback from Bob Feller and a good season from either Rookie Al Jackson, or Don Williams to make up for loss of pitcher Rube Rusk, dealt to St. Louis.

Cincinnati—McLish from Cleveland and Bill Henry from Cubs should stand stronger. If Gordon Coleman, Southern Assn. league crown winner, can come through at first base, Frank Robinson will return to outfield. Other new players are Billy Martin, Lee Walls and Frank House.

Chicago—Richie Ashburn, from Phillies, plays club good lead-off man and centerfielder. Frank Thomas, and Dick Gernert should help Ernie Banks in time. Monday, four late arrivals will be rookie pitchers Scott Breerton and Fard Young and outfielders Ron Fairly and Al Norr's. They are in the service under the six-month program and due for a check April 1.

St. Louis—Bob Niekman (Orioles) and Leon Wagner (Giants) will add outfield power. Other new faces include pitcher Kline, catcher Carl Sawatsky (Phils) and infielder Daryl Spencer (Giants).

Philadelphia—Dark could steady infield with Johnny Callison, Bobby Gene Simmons, and outfielder Jerry Adair. Carlos Herrero, international league batting and home run leader, and pitcher (Astros) will be added. Additions: x-ties for fifth place.

I, P-T COVERAGE FROM VERO BEACH BRINGS YOU CLOSEUPS OF LARKER, SHERRY

Hero Sherry Sees 'Room for Improvement'

(I, P-T Staff Writer)

VERO BEACH, Fla.—“I can't live off last year. Nineteen-sixty is another year.”

Speaking, between huffs and puffs, was Larry Sherry who, next to the water bucket, remains the coolest item in the Dodgers' spring camp.

The pressure didn't bother Sherry when he was the Dodgers' late-season and World Series hero in 1959. Consequently, the young right-hander refuses to be ruffled by the “man on the spot” label pinned on his No. 51 jersey during the winter.

“I feel there is room for improvement,” said Sherry, who won his last seven regular decisions and added two wins and two saves in the World Series.

“I'm bearing down harder this spring than last, but in a different way. I'm trying to win a starting job and I want to be in the best condition possible to start the season.”

To prove it, Sherry ran for 30 minutes Saturday, although he was scratched from pitching in the afternoon batting practice because of general soreness.

When Sherry entered the clubhouse to change his sweat-soaked shirt, Trainer Bill Buhler remarked, “Looks like you ran off another banquet today.” Sherry nodded and said, “Yep, one a day. I lost five pounds Friday.

“Of course, it doesn't stay off, but I won't have any problem. I've got about eight pounds to trim and I'd like to start the season no heavier than 198. My best weight is between 198 and 200.”

The extra suet came from a winter of creamed peas and chicken on a banquet circuit that would make George Jessel look like a minor leaguer. “I attended about 20 or 25 banquets and turned down at least a dozen,” Sherry recalled.

“Then, there were numerous radio and television appearances. In fact, they're still chasing me. My next TV show will be with Ernie Kovacs, March 3.”

Through all the gastric tumult, klieg lights and the shouting, Sherry emerged as the same level-headed youngster who vowed to make good when rescued from the minors last July.

When he said “there is room for improvement,” he referred specifically to his change of pace and curve ball. “I'm working on both pitches this spring, mainly on control.

“I walked an average of 3.8 men per nine innings last year, and that's above average. I'm trying to cut that down to around three. But I also strike out more men than the average pitcher, which makes up for an occasional wild streak.”

“He doesn't need any new pitches,” Becker said. “He has the three basic pitches — fast ball, curve and change. And he has a fourth pitch, his slider, which actually is sharper than his curve. He throws a big curve; that's why it doesn't snap like his slider.

“All Larry needs now is to work on his control. Then we won't have too many worries, either.”

Even Manager Walter Alton is not too concerned at the moment whether to use Sherry as a starter or in the bullpen. He wishes he had more of the same problems.

SHERRY

LARKER

DIS AND DATA—The vastly outnumbered Dodgers reached 27 Saturday when Rip Repulski and Don Zimmer worked out for the first time and rookie pitcher Sherry pitched. The rest of the regulars are expected to arrive time and work out for the spring. Sherry, who was expected to be a rookie pitcher, Scott Breerton and Fard Young and outfielders Ron Fairly and Al Norr's. They are in the service under the six-month program and due for a check April 1.

Clem Labine suffered a minor cut and bruise, which was mended when he attempted to avoid a photographer's equipment car. Sherry was expected to be a rookie pitcher, Scott Breerton and Fard Young and outfielders Ron Fairly and Al Norr's. They are in the service under the six-month program and due for a check April 1.

Carl Furillo again drew praise from Alton for his batting. Carl was whiffing line drives to all fields. Alton will cut today's workout in half, limiting it to an afternoon session beginning at 2 o'clock.

Prankster 'Mad Dog' Larker Keeps 'Em Loose

VERO BEACH, Fla.—Call him “Dumbo” . . . or bark and call him “Mad Dog,” and Norm Larker won't care. Just don't call him late for batting practice.

“I don't mind it at all,” says Norm the Storm when reminded that he is the butt of most Dodger pranks and takes more ribbing than anyone in camp.

“If they don't say nothin', then I figure there's something wrong. But I like to dish it out, too.” And he does, indeed. Without Larker, life among the Dodgers would be as dull as a lecture on soil preparation.

Although Larker can take plenty, not everyone can take him. “Two years ago, I had practically everyone on the club as my roommate on the road,” Larker recalled. “They all moved out.”

Last year, with high hopes that Larker might settle down, road secretary Lee Scott assigned the quiet and gentlemanly Don Demeter to room with Larker. It worked to some degree.

“I'd have the TV set on, watching a Western, when Demeter told me to turn it off. I asked him why and he said he wanted me to listen to Billy Graham on the radio. I turned off the TV sound, but kept watching the picture with a radio plug in my ear. When the program was over, Demeter would ask me questions about what Graham had said.”

LARKER EARNED the “Dumbo” tag because of his large ears. “George Freese first called me that right here at Vero Beach. It doesn't bother me.”

The “Mad Dog” label is a carry-over from his minor league days at St. Paul. “That's because I swung so hard that I groaned. The pitchers used to say, ‘Throw him some raw meat,’ and then they called me ‘Mad Dog.’”

Don Zimmer and Joe Pignatano are Larker's chief verbal sparring partners, and Manager Walter Alton is one of his biggest boosters.

“Norm has pulled some rocks on the bases,” said Alton, “but when it comes to bearing down, there's no one better. If no one were riding him, he'd think they were mad at him. Larker also is one of the few guys who can come off the bench and hit as well as a regular.”

“I don't care where I play,” says Larker, who played 80 games at first base and 73 in the outfield during his two years with the Dodgers.

Although Alton says Larker is one of the few choke hitters with power, Larker claims he still swings awfully hard. “I like to kill those ants in the infield.”

Dumbo even tried his hand as a manager this winter with Licey in the Dominican League. “I have a perfect record. I managed the last four games and we lost all four.”

As a hitter, Larker fared somewhat better. His .310 average was among the top five in the Dominican League. “And I had to face lefthanders about five times a week.”

Dodger Ed Roebuck, pitching for Escogido, held Larker to 2-for-13, “but I hit Stan Williams like I owned him. Then, one night Williams nearly killed me. I was hitting about .450 off Williams and had won a game in the ninth inning by laying down a bunt which Stan threw into right field.

“The next game, he was really mad. I figured something was wrong because I had invited him to my house for dinner with Frank Howard, Norm Sherry and Carl Warwick and he didn't show.”

“The first time up, I hit a line shot over second base. The next time he nicked my ear with a fast ball. I guess he figured he wasn't going to deck me after letting me feed him.

“IT'S JUST AS WELL that Stan didn't make it for dinner. That Howard ate practically everything in sight. He had three pounds of beef, three pounds of potatoes, a jug of water, two glasses of milk and three-fourths of a huge bowl of salad. For dessert he ate six pieces of cake.

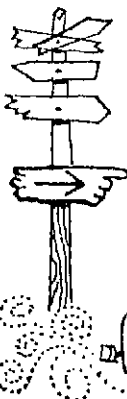

“I know one thing. Howard better invest his money wisely so he can eat the rest of his life.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

The fishing season of 1960 may go down in history as the wormiest. I am not describing the condition of the fish; I am speaking of the baits that will be thrown to trout, bass, bluegill, crappie and even the surf fish of the ocean.

These worms will be artificial, made of rubber and various and sundry plastics that have come into use in the last few years. Why this sudden turn for worms? It's because anglers in the last two years have been discovering that pliable, wormy rigs have been taking more warm-water fish than some of the better-known plugs and spinners.

Looking over an assortment of artificial baits placed on the market by the Creme Lure Co., of Piedmont, Ohio, I discovered these creations:

Night crawlers, which, if placed on the front lawn after dark, would scare your wife out of a year's growth; salamanders (water dogs) that look better than the live ones; wiggle frogs, blood and manure worms; water crickets, crawfish, helgramites, wiggle bugs, black eels, corn borers, maggots and roaches.

Creme is even making artificial salmon eggs that, once on the hook, stay there regardless of what hits 'em.

THIS UPSURGE IN PLASTICS came mostly from the success of black-cel strips streaming behind a weighted head and a hook. This type of rig, fished right on the bottom and bounced from one spot to another, became deadly for bass in the Tennessee Valley lakes several years ago, but popularity of the lures didn't spread to California until two seasons ago.

It was then that fishermen discovered they could catch bass in the winter by using such outfits. It didn't make much difference where they fished; Mead, Havasu, Mojave, Cachuana, Isabella and many other lakes yielded bass where, before, anglers had drawn nothing but dry runs.

There's much loss of terminal tackle in this type of fishing because the rigs become fouled on the bottom and the fisherman either breaks the leader or the monofilament. But that never bothers a real fisherman, provided he can get results before the day ends.

Creme is making numbers of the wormy jig-rigs in weedless style so that the hooks bounce over obstructions and still attract fish.

Take a look at your favorite sporting goods dealer's stock; you'll be surprised—perhaps frightened—by worms and bugs so real you'll think they are going to crawl all over you.

ALL BOATERS TAKING PART in the current campaign to get water into Elsinore Lake should concentrate their efforts in the Pacific Coast Speedboat and Water Ski Association, which is going to carry the ball for the Elsinore and boat interests.

A postcard or letter to your assemblyman would be most valuable. Just tell him that you want to see some action at Sacramento, perhaps at the special session starting next month.

The story of Elsinore is a long one—far too long to write about in this column. It will be the subject of a special feature in The Independent, Press-Telegram in the near future. But spring is almost with us and summer isn't far away, so advocates of the Elsinore plan know the urgency of the situation.

Briefly, it will take four months to fill Elsinore to a desired 10,000-acre-foot level with Metropolitan Water District lines, and that water must be purchased. No

A Cure for the Doctors

The strongest closed-shop union in California, the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Bone-setters, Tonsil-clippers, and Pill-dispensers, is in solemn convulsion in Los Angeles. The union, better known as the California Medical Assn., is all steamed up about its wage scale.

The doctors' union has a happy tradition of setting its wage scale by negotiation with itself, rather than with an employer. Some of the small, weak unions, such as Harry Bridges' dockworkers, still suffer the restraint of having to deal with an employer, but the doctors are free of this nuisance.

You and I and the man next door are the employers of the workmen in the medical union, but we are not even permitted to loiter around the union hall, let alone put in our two bits worth about what we can afford to pay.

It's Dandy . . . if this is a dandy system if you are a member of the medical union, but it is hell on us employers. Our only voice in what the doctors politely term the "physician-patient relationship" is the uttering of a low moan of pain when we pay the bills.

One of the big issues at the doctors' union convention this year is a proposal to scrap the California Relative Value Scale. This is the nearest thing to a statewide fee scale for doctors that has come along. It was, of course, drafted by the doctors themselves and not subject to ratification by us employers. It is not binding on the doctors, but simply serves as a reminder to their conscience, if and whatever. The doctor who wishes to charge more than the Relative Value Scale may do so, although a patient is then permitted to murmur "Naughty, naughty!"

Some of the doctors feel that even this mild restraint is too binding. They want to be able to backtalk from us they wish, with no charge whatever employers about what other doctors are charging, according to the Relative Value Scale.

A Long Beach Plan
There is another proposal, to jack up the price of house calls, which will come before the doctors' union today. It was authored by a Long Beach physician, a fact in which we all can take great pride or enormous dismay, as the case may be.

This resolution, No. 68 on the agenda, would approve a 33 1/3 per cent price boost on day house calls and a 100 per cent price boost on house calls after 11 p. m.

The doctor's stated reason for this increase in the union rates is, believe it or not, a desire to improve public relations.

In order to avoid the charge that we just made this all up, we quote the resolution in its entirety:

"WHEREAS, the California Medical Association is constantly striving for good Public Relations; and WHEREAS, good Public Relations are best maintained by close harmony between the patient and physician; and WHEREAS, patient and physician calls to the home of physician's house always be necessary for a patient will always be necessary for certain illnesses; and WHEREAS, house calls are a service to the public and economically of non-profitable value to the physician; and WHEREAS the Relative Value Study in the State of California allows only 1.5 units for a house call; now be it RESOLVED: That house call; now be it repeated small in order to prevent repeated small breaks in good Public Relations, the Relative Value Scales of all approved CMA programs provide for a minimum of two units for each house call and three units for each call after 11:00 p. m."

A Small, Quick Poll

Since the success of a public relations plan is the reaction of the public, we tried the doctor's proposal on five members of the public. They all reported that it gave them a severe pain in the sacroiliac.

The trouble with a union that negotiates with itself is that it begins to confuse itself with the public, and mistakes its own well-being for good public relations. The only cure for this public relations session with us guys who pay the bills.

And doc, just set the date.

STRICTLY PERSONAL Sees Teen-Agers as Pigmy Adults

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Speaking of new words, as I was recently, it is hard to believe that only 30 years ago there was no such animal as a "teenager." Not only the idea, but even the word, had not yet been invented.

A generation ago, you were a child until you became a man or a woman, and you lived in a child's world, not in the hazy and ill-defined half-world in which boys and girls exist today.

Over-exposure to new forms of stimulation has produced a race of pigmy adults today called "teenagers," and I feel sorry for them. They are chronological half-castes, who belong in neither world—they are too knowing for the pleasant myths of childhood, and too immature for the harsh realities of adulthood.

We have done this dreadful thing to vided them with few substitute gratifications. Little wonder, then, that so many of them are resentful and rebellious, confused and contrary.

To be adolescent is difficult enough, in biological and social ways. But to add to these natural problems the tantalizing view of cars and sex and fast money—through all the modern media of entertainment and advertising—is to place a nearly intolerable strain on their psyches.

AT 16, MY GREATEST passion was for a racer bike, without brakes. It no more occurred to me to get the fam- ily car at that raw age than to marry Vilma Banky. In- deed, marrying Vilma would have been easier than ob- taining my dad's permission to borrow our Graham-Paige.

Yet it is foolish and unrealistic to blame modern teen- agers for such drives and desires. They are not responsible for the frantic speed-up of the growing process: they did not invent radio, talkies, television, sexy and sadistic comic books, and all the rest.

Nor did they seek to blur the necessary distinction be- tween the child's world and the adult's. We ourselves have pushed them too far and too fast, putting the boys in long pants before they could toddle, furnishing nai- lations and material possessions they neither wanted nor needed nor cared much about at first.

OUR CHILD-CENTERED society is a shock and a scandal to the rest of the civilized world, and it would take a special pathologist to discover the deep reason for troubled "teenager." It is merely a symptom of our own frantic tempo of living, our own delusion that material objects make for happiness, our own over-emphasis on bigness and boldness, on speed and excitement and "get- ting the most" out of life without putting the most into it.

Since Carolyn Dean, 17, returned from Italy a couple of weeks ago, there's some doubt about what she means when she speaks of "her family."

Though she's happily home at 4602 Hazelbrook Ave., with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. Thomas Dean, and brother, Tommy, 14, and settled into the senior class routine at Lakewood High School, memories are vivid of her other family with whom she lived from August to the end of January in Barletta. Signore and Signora Francesco Sarcina; Lucia, 17; Anna, 12, and Giuseppe, 8.

Carolyn, a pert, hazel-eyed brownette, was the only Long Beach area student chosen for the American Field Service school exchange program last semester.

Traveling by bus, she joined about 125 other students in Montreal where they sailed for Europe.

"MY FATHER and two sisters met me in Turin," Carolyn explained. "He is vice principal and English teacher at the Liceo Scientifico—the equivalent of our high school—in Barletta, but had been called to conduct examinations at the university in Turin. That's a custom in Italy; professors travel to different parts of the country to give exams."

"Then we toured Italy for about two weeks before we went home to Barletta in Southern Italy on the Adriatic. The population there is about 100,000 and the people are so intent on earning a living that they aren't very well informed about current events or the United States. The main industries are fishing, wine-making, marble and salt mining, and most of the buildings are very old."

Home was a walk-up apartment on the third floor—two bedrooms, bath, kitchen, living room and study, and a formal dining room.

Carolyn had taken a year of Italian at Lakewood High School, so from the beginning she could understand the language; in three weeks she could express her ideas and by the time she was ready to leave for home, "I could go into a store and order without anyone asking me if I were foreign," she says proudly.

SHE WENT to school with 500 students in a two-story brick building built by Mussolini; the girls wore dark pinafores over their dresses; the pupils, about 30 boys and five girls in each class, studied at small, old wooden desks.

"We stayed in one classroom all day, but the teachers changed for different courses. The curriculum included Italian, history of medieval Europe and the Roman Empire, philosophy, algebra and geometry,

Mrs. Zehms Resigns From Editor's Post

Effective Monday, Mary Lou Zehms is relinquishing her post as women's editor of these newspapers in order to take a new position in Honolulu.

Her place will be taken by Jola Masterson, veteran I. P. T. society reporter and author of the "Wild Waves" for the past 17 years.

Mrs. Zehms, who has been a staff member of these papers for 15 years and women's editor for 10 years, will depart at the end of next month to establish residence in Honolulu and enter a new field of endeavor.

Her associates on the paper are sorry to see her leave but wish her continued success in her new role.

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON

SPRING PREVIEW—an instant hit—was presented for an exclusive and appreciative audience at Virginia Country Club Wednesday.

The sprightly production was in charge of Dorothy (Mrs. Joseph) Mullarky Sr. and starred Beverly (Mrs. Joseph) Mullarky Jr., the hostesses very new daughter-in-law.

Receiving the guests with the two Mrs. M's was Marion (Mrs. Don) Locke. Assisting during the pink champagne reception preceding luncheon were Helen (Mrs. Bert) Galleher, Mickey (Mrs. Charles) Jones, Betty (Mrs. Lewellyn) Bixby, Elinor (Mrs. Joseph) Ball, Edna (Mrs. William) Abrams and Marialice (Mrs. Preston) Johnson.

An all pink color theme—from champagne to svelte pink cigarettes and mints to freshest, newest flowers of the season on the luncheon tables—was sparkling icing for the day.

A few of those present with best wishes for the bride were Jean (Mrs. "Beans") Reardon, Florence Grubbs, Norma Trammell, Vera Contratta, Margie Jacob, Estelle Mooney, Lillian Irish, Hattie Lewis, Pauline Dilday, Emily Cottrell, Marilyn Graham, Barbara Davis, Jimmie Carrey, Ann Wood and Marian Burnett, here for the day from home in North Hollywood.

ECSTATIC owners of a new 30 foot sloop "a beauty" are Rosemary and Don Leedom. Understand they've christened it, "Dragon." A misnomer because Dragon sure wasn't draggin' last weekend when Don raced her in the LA Yacht Club's mid-winter regatta. On a first try he came in fourth in his class.

HOTTEST thing on ice

—the Winter Olympics—has created an avalanche of interest here. Add to citizens who made tracks in the snow at Squaw Valley host Dr. Merv Ellestad and guests at his Lake Tahoe cabin, Mary and Bob Devitt, Claire and Dr. Ed. Duval and Muriel and Courtney (Bud) Trostle.

FINEST thing to happen to air travel since the pressurized cabin was the tour to Puerto Vallarta (a few clam shells below Mazatlan) by several localities who were due home Friday. Catching one of only two planes that fly in each week to the oceanside hideaway were Dottie and Art Adkisson, Connie and Charlie Campbell, Elizabeth and Gene Jones, Marge and Jack Merrick, Betty and Fred Tebbets, Doris and Jerry Young and "bachelor" Cliff Reiman (Connie, with other fish to fry here, couldn't get away to catch more of same there).

They were to rendezvous with Bobbie and Don Hunter (who went South of earlier) at the resort for a week's worth of fishing, swimming and sunning. Preceding their departure the travel cohorts were entertained at a cocktail buffet by Marge and Bud Young who, in one fell swoop, welcomed home Acapulco race returnees Betty and Bix Bixby and Bea and George Hart.

FROPSS, which means, "Frustrated Radio Operators Puny Signal Society," to our Southern California boating crowd, had its annual meeting at Shelter Island Inn, San Diego, last weekend. With 150 couples present, the signals didn't sound so puny. Officers installed, all Long Beachites, were president Russ and Dodee Priestly, vice president Lloyd and Jean Taylor and secretary Steve and Lou Donner. All swore solemnly to uphold the group's traditions: No rules; no business; and new officers selected only by appointment of the outgoing ones.

ing ones. There's a gimmick. These three couples will be responsible for producing the next annual meeting here in Long Beach about mid February, 1961.

Marianna and George Long, who attended the affair, tell us it was formed over nine years ago when a gang of boaters, suffering from weak signalitis on their ship-to-shores, decided to get together for dinner so they could really hear each other. Earl Beale of Newport was first president. Did he have the weakest signal? Or the strongest?

YES, MA'AM, spring is knocking on the door. You can "hear" it in the feel of the air, the slant of the sun, the instinctive desire for new clothing. AND in invitations like the ones from Evelyn Hodges and Betty Ann Kirkpatrick bidding their friends to a frankly gay coffee buffet party at Eleanor Kirkpatrick's home, 281 St. Joseph, the day that Wednesday dawned.

The girls, having included mother in their plans, let her invite a few other mothers to keep her company. Hoping for beach weather to heighten the new season mood between the 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. party hours will be hostesses and their assistants; Carol Hoagland, Ethel Severson, Harriet Williams, Jeanne Restello, Nadine Kirkpatrick and Ramona Klein.

DOG-GONEST thing happened to Jean Pileggi last weekend. She entered her collie, McTavish's Image of Thor, in two specialty dog shows — Saturday at Del Mar and Sunday at San Diego, Saturday, in a class of 8, Tavish came in with the booby prize position — 6th. Next day he faced the winner of Saturday's event at S. D. and beat him, paws down, by taking first place. A knowledgeable friend explained why. Saturday Jean wore a pair of black tuxedo pants when she took Tavish into the ring. The judge was a most obviously proper Eastern type female from Long Island, N. Y.

FOUR months and 11,000 miles ago Blanche and Jim Bickel, 4030 Pacific Ave., left on what proved to be one of their finest trips—and they've had a lot of them. They motored leisurely, really taking time to explore, through the Southwest and South, seeing, for instance, the Smokey Mountains in their richest autumn raiment, fishing in at least 10,000 of Florida's 30,000 lakes (or so it seemed to the avid fishermen). Highlighting their travels this year was a cruise of the Caribbean on a particularly gay Italian cruise ship.

physics, English, biology, architectural drawing, physical education, and religion — optional for me.

"This was the fifth year of their school; it would be about the third year of our high schools."

Does she think the Italian system, with its emphasis on academic studies, and no competitive sports, better than ours?

"I believe the same amount of education can be gained from either, but the Italians place more importance on memorization and the American system requires more thinking and reasoning. In classes there, the teacher lectures for the first half-hour, then calls students to his desk for individual interrogation — and sometimes the other students, who are supposed to be studying, just waste this time!"

"THERE IS A formal, strict relationship between teacher and student, and there's a different relationship between boys and girls, too. They don't date; girls see boys only in class or at parties. In small towns everybody walks around the square in the evening and sometimes there is a 'veglione,' an all-night dance."

After a five-to-six-hour stint of homework each night, the young people relaxed by watching television.

Auxiliary to AIA

Southern California Chapter of Women's Architectural League, an Auxiliary of American Institute of Architects, will meet at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday in Furniture Mart Restaurant, 1919 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

HEADING FOR BALL

"Going my way?" asks Elmer E. Lenz as he thumbs ride on surry headed for third annual Pinkie Ball Saturday evening at Petroleum Club. Sharing in pictorial fun are (from left) Robert E.

Peek, Stuart A. Monfort, Mrs. Monfort as Pinkie, ball namesake; Mrs. Lenz and Mrs. Peek. Event will benefit activities of Auxiliary to Long Beach Community Hospital. (See story Page W-1.)

MEMENTOS FROM ITALY

Among souvenirs which Carolyn Dean cherishes from her exchange-student stay in Barletta, Italy, are an imperious mounted bird, given to her by her "uncle," and three ancient vases, gift of her school principal. One is designated for her principal here at Lakewood High School, another is for a teacher, the third she will keep for herself. —(Jasper Nutter photo.)

Memories of 'Family' in Italy

vision or listening to the family's favorite music — American rock and roll records!

"There is no great cultural emphasis in Barletta," Carolyn remembers. "My family loved Neapolitan songs and some opera, and they visited the museum which shows the work of local artists."

But Carolyn's warmest memories are of her "family" — her father, 40, 5 feet 9 inches "tall for an Italian," with dark wavy hair, brown eyes, a mustache; mamma, 5 feet 5 inches, well-rounded, light brown hair and blue eyes; Lucia, dark like her father; Anna, with her mother's coloring; and Guiseppe — "well, he was 8!"

MEMORIES of shared meals: coffee, milk and bread for breakfast; a huge lunch of spaghetti, meat, potatoes, green salad, fruit at 2 p.m.; snacks of bread, cheese, salami and coffee espresso between 6 and 8 p.m. Memories of baking fragrant, spicy cookies and pastries for Christmas, of exchanging confidences with her sister, Lucia, of joining in household chores and family pleasures.

Her Italian stay crystallized Carolyn's interest in international relations. She plans to complete her college education, then specialize in plant science and — definitely — to return to southern Italy.

Their methods are backward and they know little of modern farming. I want to go back prepared to give them something in return for all they gave me. Eventually I want to travel all over the world, with something to contribute to the countries I visit, and to paint the people and the lands I see."

Degree of Honor Lodge 108 will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at Machinists Hall with Roma Hill presiding. It will be an open meeting guest night.

Satin roses nestled beneath poufed effect at the sides of the bouffant skirt which ended in chapel train. Her bouquet held white roses and stephanotis surrounding an orchid.

Gowns of green velvet and chiffon were selected for bridal attendants, Sandra Ferguson, maid of honor, and Nancy Strickland, Rose Torres and Janice Wyman, bridesmaids.

Sharri Lynne Strickland, flower girl, was a miniature replica of the bride in white satin. Junior bridesmaids were Janet Allen and Rose Battaglia.

cially important for the small children to know how to swim well enough to protect their lives to relieve the fear in the minds of their parents. It is all very simple.

Little 4-year-old Stacey Creger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Creger, was able to perform like a veteran in the water after just five months of training under Evelyn Dupont. Stacey had learned in this short space of time to dive off the board, swim the American crawl, backstroke, double backstroke and butterfly strokes. She treads beautifully and has mastered three water ballet routines. She can, of course, swim the full length, and more, of the PCC pool.

Two-year-old Joy Cole, who is pictured with Stacey, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Orville Cole. In a few months Joy has learned to jump in the water without coaxing, to float and to swim in deep water. She is completely unafraid of the water and looks forward eagerly to each lesson with her instructor.

MRS. DUPONT was a champion swimmer before she turned professional for the Cleveland Exposition some 20 years ago. Her daughter, Barbara, appeared with her mother at the Exposition when she was just 2. She appeared professionally and taught swimming until polio struck her seven years ago. She has recovered remarkably and continues her classes and community service work at a pace equaled by few.

Club to Hear Dramatist

Frances Young, dramatist and play reviewer, will present the afternoon program Wednesday for North Long Beach Women's Club in Houghton Park Clubhouse.

A graduate of Dramatic Arts Academy, Mrs. Young will be presented by Mrs. Richard Bailey.

Mrs. Howard Zinser and members of Group 6 will serve noon luncheon. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Mae Anderson.

Endorsement of officers for Los Cerritos District, CFWC, will take place during the business session. Delegates and alternates also will be named for the conclave.

Executive board convenes at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Clay Minnix presiding.

She donates countless hours of her time to the teaching of handicapped children in the Exceptional Children's Foundation and the Tucker Foundation. She teaches the blind and mute children and the cerebral palsy and MS victims, and currently is the Head Merit Badge counsellor for swimming and life saving for the Boy Scouts of America. Mrs. Dupont also taught warfare aquatics to the servicemen during World War II.

Her classes for the Water Babies are private sessions by appointment. She teaches only one child at a time. In addition to the group at PCC she will teach in private homes by appointment.

Sandra LeCount New Bride

Los Altos Methodist Church was setting for the recent marriage ceremony uniting Sandra Jeanne LeCount and Kent Dean Wilson. The Rev. Raymond Firth officiated at the double-ring ceremony before 300 guests.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Earle LeCount, 856 Roxanne Ave., the bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose as wedding attire, a chapel-length gown of ivory satin appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace trimmed in seed pearls and sequins. The tiara holding her fingertip-length veil repeated the gown's trim, and she carried two white orchids surrounded by white roses and stephanotis.

PRECEDING HER to the flower-banked altar were Mrs. Warren Harman, matron of honor; Mrs. John R. Jensen, Judy Drake and Nancy Tracy, bridesmaids. All were attired identically in red peau de soie sheath dresses and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Wilson, 720 Stanley Ave., asked John Tate to serve as best man. Guests were shown to their places by James Loomis, Rodney Nesbit and Philip Irwin. Completing the entourage were Sandra Starr, flower girl, and Miss Bobbie Fisher and Mrs. James McNab, candle-lighters.

Following the wedding, the newlyweds greeted guests at a church reception with family members and close friends gathering for a later reception in the home of the bride's parents.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned in Las Vegas and now reside in Long Beach. Mrs. Wilson, a former stewardess with American Airlines, attended Long Beach City College where she was a member of

Ol' Ted Sees Good Sign in New Suits

By TED KREC

This has been a red-letter week for me—being a lover of fine men's apparel.

Up at the Los Angeles Biltmore the National Assn. of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers has been staging its 42nd annual convention.

In addition, the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear held a series of press events, and I was present at a couple of the sessions.

Let me tell you, friends, the male clothing picture is most heartening. All the important clothing people from across the nation were at the Biltmore, and I saw some fabulous styles. Most encouraging of all, to me, was the array of suits. No longer need American men be hide-bound in their selection of suits. This year there are at least five suit styles from which to choose: the Trans American Model, the American Continental, the American Natural, the American Ivy and the American Ambassador.

SO WHAT? I'll tell you. This is the best news in a long time, because by tradition American men are pretty stuffy in their clothing. Usually they will follow one style trend at a time and wear it to death. For an example, look at the double-breasted suit of a few years ago. This style was completely worn out. It is trying to make a comeback—you see a few double-breasted blazers—but, fortunately, this trend has not been encouraged to any degree.

I think this suit trend is a real note for freedom. Why should men have to follow one style? The women certainly don't—and men, as breadwinners, should be groomed every bit as well as women.

Besides, I detest conformity of the masses. You saw it happen the same as I did. First there was the grey flannel suit. Then everything was charcoal. Why? Because we are living in the era of conformity.

Vance Packard explored this thoroughly in his book, "The Status Seekers." To succeed, you have to conform, in thought, word, deed and dress. This is the era of the "agency man" or the "space buyer." No longer do we have Davy Crockett or Babe Ruth as a national idol—instead we have a master, father image of a hero. His features aren't quite clear, but it doesn't matter. It's the general outline that's important. Who is he? He's the man in the current-trend suit—a man with a briefcase or portfolio. His language is a super-polite, condescending type of lingo. Instead of saying: "You're right," this man says: "This is true!"

AND ABOVE all, friends, he's a "nice guy." This is the era of the "nice guy," the stereotyped office worker or professional man. Today, if you're a swash-buckler or an individualist, you find yourself on the outside looking in. We must conform to the master image of the nice guy.

To me, this is stagnation. To me the "nice guy" is the man who sits there with a patient smile on his face while others step over him and forge ahead. Then he gets into his station wagon and drives home to tell his wife the sad news—that he has failed to progress. And he explains this to her in the same, super-polite English he uses at the office.

The kind of guy I admire is the guy who will reach up and trip the man who is stepping over him, then use HIM for a stepping stone.

"Nice guys" always finish last. Give me half a dozen sincere men with ulcers and dispositions to match and I could rule the world!

Rumor of the week: that there is a Congressional Medal of Honor winner enrolled as a student at Long Beach City College. However, campus newspaper scribes have been unable to turn up any trace of this elusive, possibly illusory hero. Who goes there? Advance and be recognized!

Coads of the Liberal Arts Division are currently signing up for the contest to choose Lakewood's 1960 Miss Pan American Hostess, who'll preside along with a Latin American beauty at the Pan American Festival a few weeks hence.

LBCC freshman Anne Hewitt, the Miss Pan American Hostess of 1959, recently spent several days in Mexico City as an ambassador of good will. She reports that music is everywhere in Mexico (she was serenaded, it seems, morning, noon and night) and that the traffic there is like New York's: "You just get across the street any way you can."

VIKINGS in the news: LBCC freshman Diane Ross recently won first place in a vocal contest sponsored by the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, the fourth LBCC student to win top honors in this annual competition.

Eight City College art students are exhibiting their paintings at the Magnolia Theater. On display through March will be works by Carol Flumerfelt, Elsie Holt, Annebelle Gardner, Lucile Hagedorn, Carol Drake, Olive Walker, July Leiker and Pat Foley.

Winners of the three $150 fall semester scholarships presented by the Evening Liberal Arts Division Student Body have been announced as Mrs. Glenda Hemsley, Mrs. Jean Schneider and Mrs. Shirley Nielsen. All three plan future teaching careers and will transfer to Long Beach State College after completing their work at LBCC this June. Night school class representatives will meet Monday evening to elect five new Student Body Council members for the spring semester.

NEW OFFICERS have been announced by several of the men's and women's social clubs and other organizations on the Lakewood campus. New sorority leaders include Colette Holbrook (Entre Nous), Carole McInnes (Tammuz) and Marilyn Roberts (TNT). Among the new fraternity presidents are Mike Gilbert (Tyr) and Jim Herrell (Junior Exchange).

Heading Beta Phi Gamma, journalism honorary, is Jim Hanchett. James McCutcheon is the new president of the International Club—which, incidentally, is now forming a soccer (or European-style football) team and will soon be ready to challenge all comers.

AT BTB, carpentry and mill cabinet student Henry Lemay sang his way to first prize in the recent all-campus talent show. Second prize went to the team of Sue Smith and Daralyn Kingdon and third place to Willa Vaughan. BTB's newspaper, the Explorer, will be edited this spring by Robert Palmer. (Other LBCC student papers, incidentally, are the General Adult Division's GAD-About and the Liberal Arts Division's day and evening Viking.)

Gamma Phi Date Listed

Long Beach alumnae of Gamma Phi Beta will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. H. W. Newman, 5573 Sorrentino Dr., with Mrs. Gerald Johnson assisting.

Mrs. Dale R. Leisy, president, will introduce Mrs. Richard D. Naulty, province collegiate director for the sorority, who will speak on the role of alumnae in sorority structure.

Mrs. Charles Bennett, ways and means chairman, will announce fund raising plans for the annual scholarship to be given to a science student at Long Beach State College.

Gamma Phi Betas are invited to make reservations with the hostess.

Major & Minor Notes

By RACHEL MORTON

While visiting with the world-famous conductor, Dr. Bruno Walter the other afternoon, we talked of many things. He is very proud of the fact that he recently completed the recording of Beethoven's Ninth Symphonies. What a heritage that will be to future generations! Also dear to his heart is the memory of the many unforgettable performances with the famous English contralto, Kathleen Ferrier, who died at 45, at the height of her career.

"She was so beautiful," he mused, "Her voice and spirit seemed detached from her body. Perhaps she had an inner awareness of her short span of life. Being associated with her was one of the greatest musical experiences of my life."

Perhaps this accounts for the superb recording they made together of Mahler's "Das Lied von der Erde."

HE INVITED us into the Music Room where there were many treasures. On the Steinway Grand piano was a huge leather-bound volume which must have weighed 20 pounds. It was entitled "Die Neunte Symphonie," Ludwig von Beethoven. (The Ninth Symphony by Ludwig von Beethoven.) I exclaimed loudly over this, but Dr. Walter hastened to explain that it was a facsimile, but within those covers were all the precious notes, the signature, bold and free, the corrections; all exactly as in the original.

On the wall was a framed program of a performance given at Covent Garden of the opera "Othello" dated 1826, with a signed photograph of the composer, Von Weber and a letter in his handwriting. On the mantle were photographs of Gustav Mahler; Franz Werfel, the poet; Thomas Mann, writer; and Bruno Frank, also an author—all warmly inscribed to Bruno Walter. Over the fireplace hung the painting of a beautiful young woman, his daughter, no longer living.

THE TRAGEDIES of war which left Bruno Walter without a country and without even a passport, (although finally France gallantly extended him citizenship); the violent death of his elder daughter; the hopeless long illness of his beloved wife who had stood so courageously at his side for 45 years—all these soul-testings but made the more heroic the character of this man. His heart knows only compassion for his fellowman; he has an ardent love of the beauties of nature and he has an all-absorbing communion with the divine inspiration of music. He himself best describes the pattern of his life in the closing chapter of his book, "Theme and Variations."

"STRENGTH was given me by the sheltering affection of my family—it was given me by the little joys of life. But above all, it flowed into me from music. There flows from music, irrespective of its ever-changing emotional expression, an unchanging message of comfort; its dissonances strive toward consonance—they must be resolved; every musical piece ends in a consonance. Music's wordless gospel proclaims in a universal language what the thirsting soul of man is seeking beyond this life. I have been vouchsafed the grace to be a servant of music. It has been a beacon on my way and has kept me in the direction toward which I have been striving, darkly as a child, consciously later. There lie my hope and my confidence—non confundar in aeternum."

An hour or so is such a short time to encompass the life and work of a great man! I came only within the aura of this magnificent personality, and I humbly put down these lines, all unworthy of the great Maestro. I could never in words describe the sanctity I felt in his presence, but it was the same exaltation I had so often felt when listening to his inspired conducting. The soul of Bruno Walter is MUSIC, and music is next to God.

Dance Films at Branch Library

Miss Betty Reid, of the Main Library's art and philosophy department will be guest speaker at a program of films on the dance Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in North Branch Library, 5571 Orange Avenue. The public is invited.

"The Dancer's World" shows Martha Graham, noted choreographer and modern dancer, discussing the dance as a creative art. She explains the dancer's craft simply and clearly as members of her company illustrate her theories.

"Moor's Pavanne" portrays Shakespeare's Othello translated into dance form by the Jose Limon group. Music was arranged by Simon Sadoff from Henry Purcell.

'Moon Is Blue' Opens Friday

"The Moon Is Blue," a comedy about a young woman who talks a lot of sex but does very little about it—for a time—opens at 8:30 Friday night in the Off-Broadway Theatre, 211 Lime Ave.

Gail Tweed plays the pert young heroine, Patty O'Neill; Chuck Morrell is Don Gresham, a young architect whose interest in Patty leads to humorous involvements; Paul Teschke appears as David Slater, a mature-type wolf with a non-paternal interest in Patty; and Richard W. Hunter takes the role of Patty's father.

The production, directed by Ken Kennerson, will be staged weekly Fridays and Saturdays.

Alford, Cutlip to Head 'Student Prince' Cast

Long Beach Civic Light Opera Assn. will present a cast of 60 in "The Student Prince" March 25, 26, 27 and April 1, 2 and 3 in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

The romantic principals will be Marian Alford as Kathie, and James Cutlip as the Prince. John Nosches will appear as Dr. Engel; Virgil Johnson, Sven Runolfsson and Cloyce Hillinger will play Prince Karl's trio of friends; and comedy situations will be handled by Arthur Carah, Bill Beadle and Joanne Pagones Horne. Others in the cast are Cliff Robertson, Madelon Annable and Armand Roles.

"The Student Prince," until "Oklahoma!" the most popular light opera ever written, continues to cast its spell over present-day audiences. Sigmund Romberg's tuneful score includes such all-time favorites as the "Drinking Song," "Serenade," "Deep in My Heart," "Come Boys, Let's All Be Gay, Boys."

Tickets are now on sale. Information may be obtained by telephoning the Long Beach Civic Light Opera Assn., 518 E. 4th St., which is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tryouts for 'Kind Sir' Today

Tryouts for "Kind Sir," a comedy by Norman Krasna, will open at 2 p.m. today at Magnolia Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave. The play was basis of the Ingrid Bergman-Cary Grant film, "Indiscreet."

Three men ages 25 to 60 and three women in the same category are needed for the cast. The play is slated to open a four-week run April 1. Tryouts are open to any amateur actors interested.

Violin-Piano Recital Friday

Dorothy Wade, violinist, and Xenia Chasman, pianist, will be featured on Long Beach Museum of Art's Concert Series Friday at 8 p.m. The program will include sonatas by Mozart, Beethoven, and the contemporary composer, Walter Piston.

Tickets will be available at the museum without charge Thursday and Friday during museum hours.

Amadeus Quartet in Free Concert

The Amadeus Quartet, string ensemble, will give a concert of Mozart, Beethoven and Bartok Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theater at Long Beach State College.

There will be no admission charge for the program, one of the events in the college's evenings on campus series.

Now on its fifth U.S. tour, the group makes frequent European tours and plays at the major European music festivals. Amadeus Quartet has recorded for five labels.

Although the quartet's home base is London, only one member of the ensemble is a native Englishman—the cellist, Martin Lovett. Violinists Norbert Brainin and Siegmund Nissel, and violinist Peter Schidlöf all were born in Austria.

Even though all three of the Austrians were born in 1923, started musical studies in Vienna in 1930 and fled to Britain in 1938, they didn't meet until 1941. Working in London war factories after seeking refuge from Nazi regime in Austria, they continued their musical studies in the studio of Max Rostal,

MOLLY MAYFIELD

Debts Open Family Feud

DEAR MOLLY:

Last summer, my husband went into debt for a new car, boat, camera, and house full of furniture. At the time he was making good money, thanks to his overtime.

Now his overtime has been cut off completely, and he barely makes enough for us to buy groceries and pay our house rent.

He asked my mother and father to sign a note for $3,000 and they would not. They had repeatedly warned him against getting so far in debt.

And now? Well, he won't speak to them, won't allow them to enter our home, and refuses to let me see them. I'd been cleaning house for mother twice a week and she paid for this, bless her. Now he has made me stop doing this.

I asked him for money to pay the paper boy this morning and he said he didn't have any. He did. He had $10 in his pocket. I have four small children and no working experience. I can't leave him. But what can I do? He reads your column; maybe he'll read this.

WORRIED SICK.
DEAR WORRIED:
He won't like me after this, but I have about as many people who read my column because they don't like me as those who do, so let's brave it, shall we?

Let's tell him plainly that his attitude toward your parents is right-down-the-line unfair. They begged him not to go in debt. But he did. Why should they pay for his mistake?

The next thing, he has no right to forbid you to see your parents even if he doesn't care to. And you, young lady, are utterly wrong to accept such a "forbiddance."

Your husband, your family must become the most dominant factor in your life. But never forget that without the help and love of your parents, you might never have had either. Try to remind him of this, too. M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:
I work for a particular gentleman, have been with him for six years. I now feel that I've gotten into a rut.

A friend of his recently stopped me on the street and suggested that I work for him. He would pay considerably more. However, he does not want me to tell my present employer that he suggested I leave. He wants me to just say I'm fed up with this particular job, which I am, and want another. I think he is afraid he will lose the friendship of my employer.

I don't want to be underhanded about this, nor am I sure the man would be a good employer. So I said no. Please give me your opinion. STENOG.

DEAR STENOG:
The so-called "friend" sounds slightly snake-in-the-grassish to me. How could you trust him? If he has so little loyalty to his friend, will he have any at all toward you? I think you are wise to hold onto your present job, at least under these circumstances. M.M.

Dear Abby

He's Deaf to All Ears!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have a brother who insists that there is nothing wrong with his hearing. But everyone who knows him knows that he is very deaf.

ABBY

Why doesn't he admit it? It is so aggravating to have to yell at him and repeat everything three and four times.

When I tell him I will pay for the doctor's examination and for the hearing aid he surely needs, he argues and insists that he can hear as well as I can. What do you do with a stubborn brother like that?

TIED OF YELLING.

DEAR TIED: Until your brother is willing to admit that his hearing is defective you might as well be talking to the wall. Arrange for him to meet someone who has had a similar problem and licked it. First-hand experience will mean more to him than your constant harping. There is none so deaf as he who will not hear.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary with a responsible position. My boss trusts me and leaves me in charge of the office most of the time.

Lately his wife has been phoning me and telling me what to do and what not to do. My boss does not know of this. Since he has complete confidence in my ability to run the office, I feel that I should not have to take orders from her. Should I tell my boss or should I tell his wife off? COMPETENT.

Jr. Matrons Will Hear Mary Beeks

Attorney Mary Swift Beeks will be guest speaker Wednesday following noon luncheon of Junior Matrons Dept. of Ebell at the clubhouse. She will be presented by Mrs. Joseph M. Striegel, program chairman.

Mrs. Merton Betts Smith, chairman, and Mrs. Frank Cornell Fincl, vice chairman, will greet new members who will be seated at a special table. Mrs. Arthur A. Knoll, Ebell president, and Mrs. Cleo R. Simmons, curator, will be guests.

A St. Patrick's musical theme with golden harps is the decorative motif planned by Mrs. Gustav C. Berg, assisted by Mmes. Charles Ritz and George C. Hansen. Mmes. Ritz, Wilbur Lee Candy, and Chilton Hammond will assist with serving.

Widows to Meet

BORROWERS know Classified tells who can solve their financial problems. Check "Money to Loan" today.

DEAR COMPETENT: Listen to the boss' wife courteously when she calls you. Then use your own judgment. If trouble develops—tell your boss.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm an ungrateful person, but my problem is an overly generous husband. In the 12 years of our marriage, he has picked out and "surprised me with" every stitch of clothing I own. He likes to surprise me by bringing home complete outfits. He'll come home and dump all the packages on the bed. He is so proud of knowing the size of my shoes, gloves, hats, hose and dresses, I hate to hurt him. His taste is good so I can't complain. But I never have the fun of shopping for myself. How can I let him know I appreciate his surprises but I'd like to go along and shop, too?

SURPRISED.

DEAR SURPRISED: I am SURPRISED at YOU! Most women would be happy to have your problem. If you want the "fun" of shopping, find out HIS size and shop for him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. J. Plan for the future without worrying about it. Learn from past mistakes without eating your heart out.

OPEN THE TRUNK... PROVE HOW MUCH EASIER

CHEVY IS TO LOAD!

That vacation-sized, easy-to-load luggage compartment is just one example of the more usable room you get throughout the new Chevrolet. The loading height of the conveniently cutaway trunk sill is not only lower than Chevy's nearest competitor's, but the deck lid opening is more than a foot and a half wider. And when it comes to what you can actually pack away, specifications reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association show Chevy's trunk holds up to 22.5% more luggage. Wherever you look—from the lower and narrower front floor tunnel to the wider rear deck—here's the car that gives you more room where you want more room!

① Single key locking for convenience Who wants to play guess-which-key-opens-the-trunk? One key opens Chevy's trunk, doors, glove compartment and starts the car.

② No loose wiring Chevy's luggage compartment keeps snagging wires away from your cargo for extra safety and easy stowing.

④ As much as a foot-and-a-half wider trunk lid opening Chevy's wide deck lid lets you pack in the parcels from either side or the back, without twisting your spine out of kilter.

⑥ Deeper trunk for bulky loads You can stand most packages up in this deep well—no crushed groceries! Yet you needn't reach way down to unload.

⑧ And the gas tank filler tube doesn't take a big bite out of luggage room It's tucked away virtually out of sight and cargo area. Any way you look at it; Chevy takes mighty good care of your loads. You can open the door to all of Chevy's wonders at your Chevrolet dealer's. What's keeping you?

James G. Craig, Jr.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Stocks and Bonds Are His Real Dish

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.P.T. Food Editor

One would surmise this was a cook in a hurry. But Chef of the Week James G. Craig Jr. can be commended for getting the box of sugar opened—even upside down—in time for his date with the photographer!

Since 1905 the name Craig has meant shipbuilding, but to Jim Craig Jr. it means stocks and bonds. He and his partner bought the M. S. Walker Co. in 1949. His "brokering" business actually began as "board marker" during a summertime job. But after having filled-in on almost every vacation spot in the stockholder's realm, he decided that was his niche, and remained. He's vice president of the firm.

WITH a faculty for being candid, he explains that he fought the battle of World War II in the depths of the engine room of a destroyer. He came out with a full knowledge of that part of a ship and many a distant seaport to his credit.

Returning to Long Beach he enrolled in City College, but completed his education at USC. Profoundly interested in the Community Chest, he recently served as its president. A member of the civic advisory board, YWCA, he is on the board of directors of both the Boy Scouts and the Chamber of Commerce.

A GOLFER who shoots to a four handicap, he's been runner-up two out of three years at the Virginia Country Club. He's a "victim" of mumismatology and philately, as well.

He's a devoted dad to a son and three little daughters, ranging in ages from 2 to 8. No wonder his forte is food! When he goes out to dinner, he not only wants the ultra in cuisine, but loads of time in which to enjoy it. He believes that one's attitude toward food is the most important. As secretary of the Long Beach Wine and Food Society, he has accumulated some 200 wine labels and has catalogued them with comments. He dreams of the day when he'll have time to paste them all on a screen.

His recipe today features bananas.

BAKED BANANAS
Remove skins from required number of ripe bananas. Cut lengthwise. Place in baking dish. Dot with butter—sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon, and either lemon or orange juice. Our "chef" prefers orange juice. Bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes. Serve as garnish with meat course.

Days of Forty-Niners

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

by PLACER MINER

This week's account of happenings at Long Beach State is short and sweet and is all about Delta Delta Sorority.

On the Tri-Delt social scene, the girls, who had a Valentine exchange with Kappa Sigma two weeks ago and sponsored a successful "Seahorse Shuffle" dance last week and had a "Suppressed Desires" costume exchange Saturday night with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, are looking forward to their annual dinner-dance March 27 at Los Coyotes Country Club.

Competitively, Delta Delta Deltas are practicing for the forthcoming Spring Sing where they will enter three divisions: women's, novelty, and mixed (with the Tekes). Three of those tuning up have more pending competition: Louis Knolls, Joan Falcone, and Sheila Spydell who are candidates for the Greek Goddess crown during Greek Week which starts Monday.

ON THE scholarship front, the girls are anxiously awaiting official notification of grades. At stake are a couple of "smartest" tags: for the actives who had the highest GPA of the six sororities last year, and for the pledges who have led grade averages two times running.

Within the group itself, Monday signals the start of Delta Week, a time wherein actives and pledges plan a program to promote "togetherness" in preparation for the initiation of 15 pledges in ceremonies next Sunday at the Lafayette Hotel.

In the something-new-has-been-added category is a recently chosen slate of Delta Delta Delta officers as follows: Angela Ficht, president; Karen Gaspar, vice president; Linda Smith, treasurer; Sandi Ball and Brenda Harris, corresponding and recording secretaries; Corrine Sloan, chaplain; Barbara Robertson, marshal; and Loretta Fota, social chairman.

And that's about it with Delta Delta Delta right now.

Oswald Jacoby Expert Sad When Cues Ignored

"When better defensive plays are made, I'll make them," said the unlucky expert. "But it won't do me any good. My partner will be there to nullify them."

The unlucky expert had every right to sound a trifle bitter. He had opened the king of spades and shifted to the queen of clubs. This club shift should have beaten the hand and was the only lead that could beat it, but as the unlucky expert said, his partner was there to fix him.

South drew trumps and tried the diamond finesse. It lost to East's king and then all East needed to do was to lead a low club to let his partner in, but East had no desire to play partnership defense. He cashed his king of clubs and had no spade to lead. South got

Telephone Co. to Spend Nearly $8 Million Here

The General Telephone Co. has forecast expenditures in excess of $120,000,000 for the next two years to maintain its program of continuing expansion in the 165 Southern California communities which it serves, according to Bob Taylor, main district manager.

And, nearly $8,000,000 will be spent in Long Beach reports Claude Duncan, local manager.

"A budget of approximately $60,000,000 has been set up for 1960, with customer equipment taking the lion's share of $20,780,000," said Taylor. Other major expenditures include outside plant, $15,000,000 and approximately the same amount for central office equipment.

GENERAL'S SOUTHERN operating area, which includes all of the Long Beach and Downey region, has been allocated about $13,792,000 of the total company budget, Taylor continued.

The largest single item in the Southern Area expenditures will also be for customer equipment, which includes telephone instruments, teletypewriters, pay phone booths, etc., $5,479,000; land and buildings, $2,148,000; central office equipment, $2,554,000; outside plant, $3,097,000; and miscellaneous tools, vehicles, office equipment, etc., $514,000 round out the Southern Area budget.

Five operating districts in General's Long Beach and Alamitos divisions will split up approximately $7,690,000 of the Southern Area allowance, Duncan revealed.

CUSTOMER equipment has been apportioned $3,125,000; outside plant, $1,456,000; central office equipment, $1,411,000; land and buildings, $1,401,000; and $297,000 has been set aside for miscellaneous expenses.

The five operating districts are Market, Main, and North in the Long Beach division, and Lakewood and Termino in the Alamitos division. They serve approximately 187,800 telephones all told, and expect to add close to 11,000 more during 1960. There are some 1,200 employees serving the five districts.

Much of the Long Beach expenditure will be for future expansion needs for the area and will not increase the direct dialing facilities.

Tommy Francis, head of a Los Angeles realty firm, will be the speaker. His subject will be: So, You're Going To Take a Listing."

The contracts are for construction of propellant fuel systems and missile service tower at Patrick Air Force Base, Cape Canaveral.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Maury Will Direct Nu-Pike Promotion

Appointment of Moroni L. Medeiros, known professionally as Ron Maury, as director of public relations of the Long Beach Amusement Co. and the Nu-Pike was announced by Dr. Frank Stanton, Jr., president.

Maury, a native Hawaiian, brings to his new connection years of experience in both the entertainment and athletic fields. For 4 years, he has been at the head of operations for the Nu-Pike Plunge, and in charge of swimming instruction there.

Promotional plans for the company, announced by Maury following his appointment, include appearances here of "big name" dance bands, plus regularly scheduled appearances by noted celebrities and entertainment acts.

Also planned, according to Maury, is the development of more attractions for family enjoyment to augment the picnic area, kiddie rides and other existing facilities.

IN CELEBRATION of 35 years with the telephone industry, local General Telephone Company executives honored Edward J. Medvec, switch-room foreman in the Lakewood district at a luncheon at Paul's Restaurant in Lakewood.

Jefferson Standard Sales Set Record

With a paid volume of $234,572,085, Jefferson Standard sales set a new record in 1959, announced Karl Jung, vice president. This is a 7.8 per cent increase over sales in 1958. Insurance for force increased to $1,918,487,658.

Realtors Launch Drive to Check Tax Upswing

By KEN CHILCOTE

Pointing to the continual upswing in taxes, the Long Beach Board of Realtors is launching a campaign for efficiency and economy at all levels of government, Harvey E. Miller, president, announced.

At the same time it was announced the local board also is launching a program calling for "non-partisan, grass roots political participation" to encourage more citizens to take an active interest in promoting better government.

Miller explained the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards is launching a crusade seeking a 5 per cent per capita reduction in expenditures of all governmental agencies, city, county, state and federal.

"THROUGH our local drive Realtors will cooperate with public officials in a search for ways to save taxpayers' money without curtailing essential services," said Miller.

"We want to sit down with local officials and lawmakers in a dedicated effort to help achieve necessary economies and we believe the campaign will demonstrate the growing demand for limitations on government spending."

Miller said he will appoint a local governmental efficiency and economy committee of Realtors to meet with budget and other officials interested in curtailing expenditures.

"FOR YEARS now we have seen taxes rise enormously," continued Miller, "and we know that these taxes cannot be cut back without corresponding reductions in spending.

"If we can help public officials and legislators increase efficiency and curtail spending while at the same time preserving the essential services that must be provided, then we believe this campaign will have performed a valuable service."

Drilling Wildcat

Blackwell & Sunde of Long Beach is drilling a wildcat well in East Los Angeles for the Nordon Corp., Ltd. The well is across the street from Home of Peace Cemetery. Depth planned is 6,500 feet where the O'Connell zone will be tested.

The national association plans to make awards to communities which achieve the goal of a 5 per cent cut, Miller said.

GROUP discussion meetings are planned to encourage more citizens to take an active interest in promoting good government at all levels, the board president explained.

"Under our program, Long Beach Realtors will be encouraged to act as discussion leaders for groups organized on a neighborhood, business, club, or other basis," Miller said. The groups will take part in the Action Course in Practical Politics developed by the Chamber of Commerce. The course is a series of nine two-hour workshops held weekly or every two weeks.

"Course materials prepared by the chamber are available. Topics include: The Individual in Politics, Political Party Organization, The Political Precinct, The Political Campaign, Political Clubs, The Political Leader's Problems, Political Meetings, and Businessmen in Politics. Individuals or groups interested in the program are urged to contact the board."

The Realtor leader said the local program is "our effort to make our form of government work more effectively by showing good citizens how to participate in political activity and why they should get off the political sidelines and support the objectives they seek through the party of their choice."

DR. JIM JONES
Will Lecture and Write

To Devote Full Time Lecturing

Dr. Jim Jones, who in four years, built a sales force of 50,000 persons for one of his firms, and saw several other of his interests make equally as good headway, is withdrawing from active participation in those companies to devote full time to lecturing and writing.

Jones announced Saturday he has sold half interest in all of his companies, including Abundavita Corp. of America, a food supplement firm which has 50,000 sales folks throughout the U.S. and in many foreign countries. The offices are at 6685 Atlantic Ave.

FOR THE NEXT 20 weeks Jones will conduct lectures at Morgan Hall here each Wednesday night for business and sales personnel. His lectures will deal with the positive thinking approach to selling.

Author of "If You Can Count to 4," a best seller on philosophy, Jim now is writing another book, "Money, Secondary and Indispensable."

The former Tennessee hill-billy is known as a dynamic speaker and he feels he has a message that will increase sales and profits for those attending.

Jones and his family reside in the 4400 block of Myrtle Ave. Following the series of lectures they will go to Europe where he plans to attend the Olympics in Rome.

Lawmaker Must Pay This Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capital policemen usually do not ticket congressmen when they park illegally on official business.

So Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (R-NY) figured he was safe recently when he parked by a meter at the railroad station and caught a train for a speaking engagement.

But the meter was not a public meter. It was a private meter on private property. When Stratton returned, the proprietor handed him a bill for $11.20—a dime for each of 112 half-hours.

Stratton has protested to the District of Columbia government. But, since he parked on private property, there seems little city officials can do.

NEW YORK (AP) — Before the end of the year there may be an oversupply of seats on jet planes of scheduled airlines, Standard & Poor's Corp. reports.

An industry survey by the business advisory service said that the increase in available seats probably will outstrip the growth of jet passenger traffic. The firm called the surplus temporary.

"THE HIGH INITIAL JET load factors which were experienced in 1959 (in many cases 90 per cent and above) are not likely to be repeated this year since deliveries of jet aircraft are anticipated at a rate which should exceed any potential traffic building up during the period," the survey found.

However, traffic is expected to show an increase of 10 per cent or more and revenue should reach a new peak, Standard & Poor's said.

Fire Loss Down — NEW YORK (AP) — Fire losses in January amounted to $92,949,000, the national board of fire underwriters estimated.

The total is 3.6 per cent under the $96,444,000 loss the previous month and 17.7 per cent under the January 1959 figure of $112,983,000.

On Board — NEW YORK (AP) — The National Industrial Conference Board has elected these senior board members for three year terms: Edmund Fitzgerald, chairman of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Milwaukee; George M. Gadsby, chairman of the Utah Power & Light Co., Salt Lake City; R. W. Honker, senior vice president of Hooker Chemical Corp., Niagara Falls; and Roy C. Ingersoll, chairman of Borg-Warner Corp., Chicago.

Heads Lorillard Sales — NEW YORK (AP) — P. Lorillard Co. promoted Albert L. Dion to general sales manager. He has been Northern states sales manager since 1958.

In his new post Dion will oversee national sales, coordinate regional sales, field and division managers, supervise field promotion and sales campaigns and act as liaison between headquarters officials and field personnel.

Gets Contract — NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Manufacturing & Engineering Corp. reported receipts of a 2 1/2 million dollar Army Signal Corps contract to make transmitting-receiving radio equipment for jeeps and mobile radio stations.

Family Appeal Found in Huntington Village

BIG HOMES APPEALING

Huntington Village, where large homes such as this are offered at moderate prices, is attracting many Southland families. Convenient location is one appealing factor.

Rapidly becoming one of the most popular new residential locations in Orange County is Huntington Village, a planned community of several thousand attractive new homes now under construction north of Huntington Beach. Large crowds of families are visiting the new community and signing up for the homes.

A development of Doyle & Shields, well-known Orange County developers, Huntington Village has been planned for families who enjoy casual suburban living and outdoor recreational activities. It adjoins Meadowlark Country Club and is near the beaches, boating centers and numerous other recreational attractions in the vicinity.

CONVENIENT TO EMPLOYMENT centers, the community has every city convenience including shopping facilities, modern schools and attractively landscaped, fully improved residential sections with paved streets, sidewalks, street lighting and public sewer system.

The Huntington Village homes include 13 different architect-designed exterior styles and a choice of 6 roomy floor plans with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, generous size living areas and every built-in convenience for comfortable family living.

All plans feature a large fully carpeted living room with full-height sliding glass doors to the patio area. A spacious family room or dining area adjoins the kitchen completely equipped with a built-in gas range and oven.

HOMES NOW AVAILABLE are priced complete at $13,350 to $13,850, according to McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents. Financing terms are offered with down payments as low as $295 plus $90 costs and budgeted monthly payments on principal and interest with no due dates or balloon payments in the trust deed.

Pending completion of models and a sales office are open daily on Westminster Ave., a short distance north of the Huntington Village site. To visit them from the Long Beach area, drive east on 7th St. to Golden West St., then right to Westminster Ave., and right to Edwards St. and the models.

Spring Is Best Time to Sell Your House

By VIVIAN BROWN

Spring is a good time to sell your house. Trees, bushes and flowers are coming to life then, the ground shows promise of lush greenness, and the buyers may be in a better mood to appreciate your sales pitch than during the hot summer or winter.

It is no easy feat to sell a house. It may take quite a while to get your price, and your house may take on a carnival air as prospective buyers traipse through.

There's no better way to speed up the sale than to give your house personality. Make it different from other houses. Give it a homey atmosphere. Here are some suggestions:

KEEP YOUR house spotless. Floors should be waxed, windows washed, everything should shine. The fact that you are not selling the furniture doesn't mean it shouldn't be kept in good condition. It is, after all, "window dressing" for your home.

The outdoors should be kept manicured—bushes trimmed, lawn mowed, trees pruned.

The house should be at a comfortable temperature. You don't want the lookers to leave because the house is cold.

Find out what the prospective buyers want in a house. Play up those features—closets or whatever, and if you do not have features that they have set their hearts on, you might as well stop your sales pitch. Save your breath for the next customer.

THE AROMA of hot apple pie, corn bread or a tray of cookies can put the stamp "home" on your house. Avoid distressing odors such as cabbage, brussels sprouts, garlic. Spray the living room with cologne for a pleasant scent. Put flowers and greens through the house.

If the house shopper has children, stress the nearness of schools, other children of the same age in the neighborhood, parks, recreation centers, and local amusements.

Act as though you loved the house, and that you are sorry to be leaving it. The prospective purchaser would like to feel the house was cozy enough to please you, and that you regret having to give it up. If you're being relocated in your job or have outgrown the house, it's a fine idea to tell the lookers.

IF YOU HAVE a real "hot prospect," put yourself out a bit. Serve a soft drink, coffee, tea or what have you, and use the lull to brag on the house.

Know your house. Many people who own homes do not know the names of the furnace, what kind of pipes are in the house, or wiring details. They may not be acquainted with the roofing. State whether the roof is asphalt, play up any advantages in the structure of the house. Women are attracted to closets, kitchen equipment, they enjoy attractive gimmicks such as dutch doors, removable windows, outdoor barbecues, indoor barbecues, built-in bookcases.

If there is a special play area for children, equipment—such as swings, slides, sand boxes that might go with the house, point it out. Women are not above buying an expensive house for just the features they could add themselves. A rambling rose bush has sold many an ordinary little house.

More Dry Holes in Oil Search

TULSA (UPI)—The chances of a "dry hole" in drilling for oil or gas is much greater now than it was 50 years ago, the U. S. Bureau of Mines points out.

In 1908, 78.1 per cent of wells completed resulted in at least some oil production, compared with only 51.4 per cent in 1958. Dry holes in 1908 accounted for only 19 per cent of all completions, but in 1958 they had jumped to 38.3 per cent.

Urges Banks to Plan for Attack

NEW YORK (UPI)—State banking associations across the country have been urged by chairman John J. McCloy of the Chase-Manhattan Bank to make realistic disaster plans to carry on banking operations in case of nuclear attack. McCloy is waging the campaign as chairman of the American Bankers Assn. committee formed to deal with the problem.

Would Limit Air Insurance

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Collett E. Woolman, president and general manager of Delta Air Lines, has recommended that insurance sold in machines at airports be limited to $5,000 or $10,000 as a means of halting airliner bombings.

Big Buying Rush for New Eastgate Homes

Posting of plot plan for the fourth new unit of homes in seven weeks at the huge Eastgate residential community in Garden Grove drew another large crowd of home seekers and resulted in the sale of 28 homes within 15 minutes, according to Frank H. McFarland, sales agent.

Of the 2500 homes being built at Eastgate, nearly 1700 have been sold to date, he said, and families are moving into completed homes at the rate of more than 50 per week.

EASTGATE HOME buyers have a choice of 18 exterior designs and five 3 and 4-bedroom floor plans with a spacious 1102 to 1361 sq. ft. of inside living area. All plans include 2 baths, a large living room with optional fireplace, family room or dining area, well-equipped kitchen, attached double garage and many built-in features.

The homes have many quality features including ceramic tile kitchen counters, hardwood cabinets, aluminum frame sliding glass windows and full-height sliding patio doors with screens, acoustical ceilings, and large walk-in wardrobe closets in each bedroom.

THE HOMES have numerous built-in features includ-

EAGER EASTGATE HOME BUYERS

Reminiscent of gold rush days is this scene in the sales office of the Eastgate residential community in Garden Grove when eager families lined up to select homes in a new unit. Within 15 minutes of the posting of plot plan for the new unit, 28 homes had been sold.

ing a deluxe O'Keefe & Merritt gas counter top range and wall oven in some models.

One reason for the popularity of the Eastgate homes is their moderate complete price of $12,950 to $15,350 with liberal financing terms to fit the budget of average income families. Down payments are as low as $295 plus $90 costs, and monthly payments on principal and interest are modest with no due dates or balloon payments, McFarland advises.

Five furnished model homes are open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the main entrance to Eastgate on the corner of Knott and Chapman Ave. in Garden Grove, just west of Hwy. 39.

Eastman Opens Whittier Offices

Eastman Kodak has opened its new regional sales division headquarters at 808 W. Slauson Ave., Whittier. The ultra-modern building represents a $2 million investment in the future of Southern California. A sales division was established in the Los Angeles area 14 years ago but the company outgrew the facilities.

This division serves Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada.

DISTRIBUTING PLANT

The new $250,000 ultra-modern building housing the Long Beach division of the Lanfield Co., a major Southern California liquor distributor, opens this week. The 40,000-square-foot facility features a glass pavilion office building encircled by a gold anodized aluminum screen. The "airfoil" roof tapers at the sides and front. It is at 6925 Downey Ave.

Lanfield Co. Opens Modern Office Here

Lanfield Co., a major Southern California liquor distributor, will formally open its new $250,000 ultra-modern Long Beach Division office building and warehouse this week. It was announced by Louis E. Golan, president.

The 40,000-square-foot facility, located at 6925 Downey Ave., North Long Beach, is part of Lanfield's huge expansion program, which also includes the opening of new executive offices in North Hollywood Wednesday.

The Long Beach building contains a 5,000-square-foot glass pavilion office building which has been raised three feet above ground level. The sides and front are entirely glass, and a gold anodized aluminum solar screen completely encircles the building, reducing glare, cutting down on the air-conditioning load and at the same time offering a degree of privacy to the occupant.

TERMED "CLASSIC modern," the office building is perfectly symmetrical. The roof is of an "airfoil" design in that it tapers at the sides and front. Charcoal-colored steel columns support the white "floating" roof. All concrete surfaces and concrete block surfaces are French grey, and 4-foot letters in red spell the company's name on the front.

The warehouse is of tilt-up concrete construction and features a loading dock that can accommodate as many as 10 trucks at one time. A special floating dock has been built at the receiving area. The ceilings are 19 feet high and aisles have been cut to eight feet in width through the use of narrow aisle equipment.

General contractor was Schwartz-Yedor Building Corp.

Dutch Haven to Preview Newest Unit

Dutch Haven's new Executive Series of homes will be unveiled in a preview showing today and the large homes, just 10 minutes east of Long Beach are expected to attract a throng.

Priced from $15,600 to $17,600, the homes are designed to provide the finest in suburban living, salesmen point out.

Built by Luxury Homes Inc., the homes are in 13 authentic Dutch styled exteriors. They have extra-heavy shake roofs, built-in range and ovens with rotisserie and matching hoods, forced-air heating, customized fireplaces, sliding walls of glass and each is on a large lot.

The homes are located on the east side of Los Alamitos Blvd., between Garden Grove Blvd. and Katella. From Long Beach drive east on 7th St., which becomes Garden Grove Blvd., to Los Alamitos Blvd., turn left about a mile to the homes.

Brokerage Office Using TV System

A closed circuit television system has been installed in the Long Beach offices of J. A. Hogle & Co., 147 E. First St., brokerage firm.

According to George M. Baumgardner, general manager, the currently growing interest of the public in learning about investments poses increasing problems of presenting financial investment information as quickly and as possible. Long aware that brokerage boardrooms—like the floors of stock exchanges—allowed almost no business privacy, company management singled out closed circuit television as a possible solution. Visitors are welcome to inspect the equipment at any time, he said.

Only $95 Needed to Move Into Large Brentwood Park Homes

PRICED FROM $14,700

Large Brentwood Park Homes such as this are offered from $14,700 with only $95 needed to move into a home.

A total move-in payment of $95, and highest values in design and construction, have created an unprecedented demand for Brentwood Park Homes, reports Larry Weinberg, president of Larwin Co., builders and developers of the Buena Park community.

Brentwood Park's three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes are priced from $14,700, and monthly payments of as little as $82 cover principal and interest.

Other features include ceramic tile drainboards, disposals, Maticco tile floors and double sinks, plus breakfast dining areas in the kitchens. Visit Brentwood Park via the Santa Ana Freeway to the Artesia Ave. turnoff. Go straight south on Knott to Lincoln Ave., where you will find the lovely furnished model homes. From Long Beach go east on Carson, which becomes Lincoln Ave., to Knott Ave., and the Brentwood Park community in Buena Park.

Will Build Show Home in Whittier

One of the southland's newest show homes got under way last week in the Whittier area with supervisor Frank G. Bonelli on hand to do the honors for the "Milestone House" to be built in Friendly Hills by mid-summer.

The all-gas show home will be built at the exclusive residential development by contractor Oscar T. Paul and will bring southland visitors the newest ideas in planning, design, appliances and home products, sales head John Griffith Jr., reported.

COMPLETELY ALL-GAS air conditioned, the home was designed to take advantage of the natural contours and trees that are part of the Friendly Hills area, Griffith explained.

Gas company officials lauded the choice of Friendly Hills for the show home and stressed the area's natural beauty, nearness to Los Angeles, and careful restrictions as important advantages.

Friendly Hills homesites are priced from $10,500 and are located just east of Whittier Blvd. in East Whittier at Colima Rd.

Stardust New Unit Appealing

Enthusiastic buyers have purchased 115 Stardust Homes in three weeks, reported Orange County builder Robert H. Grant.

Accounting for much of the enthusiasm, Grant said, are the hardwood floors—a real luxury feature—and the excellent financing available for vets.

Stardust Homes are being offered at one low price, $15,950, with a modest moving-in cost of $295 to veterans (and low down payment FHA terms for non-vets). All homes feature 3 bedrooms, family room, and 2 baths, as well as spacious 2-car garages.

INTERIOR features are highlighted by all-gas kitchens with built-in colored Universal range and oven plus matching range hood, and a new forced-air heating unit, thermostatically controlled.

To view the furnished models, drive out the Santa Ana Freeway to Artesia turnoff. Continue south on Knott Ave. to Lincoln, then east on Lincoln to Stanton Blvd. Turn right to Westminster Blvd., then left on Westminster to Stardust Homes.

DES MOINES (AP)—A woman who moved to Des Moines from a small town in Missouri joined a club for stout persons—not because she's overweight, but because she was lonely and wanted to make friends.

"I had the feeling," she explained, "that fat people are jolly people and would make good, new friends. But the funny part of the story is that I've lost 12 pounds; I don't want to lose any more, and I don't want to quit the club, either."

LIMITATIONS—Death and Dismemberment Benefits reduced one-half under age 15 and after 60th birthday. No reduction of other benefits account of age.

EXCEPTIONS—Benefits paid in accordance with terms of policy form HM 7600-U which is renewable at option of Company. Does not cover accidents in a mine, in railroad yard or train except as for-paying passenger; warfar, auto races; hernia; while intoxicated or under influence of narcotics; expense items paid under Compensation Insurance.

Do you know that accidents are more dangerous than diseases in the age group from 1 to 24 years?

It's not hard to figure out why! Every day youngsters do many things which are dangerous...with never a thought to the possible consequences.

Running out from between parked cars, falling from bikes, playing hazardous games, scraping knees, climbing over fences...all this is part of an average day to an active boy or girl.

Youngsters get hurt twice as often as their parents. That's why more and more parents are taking out this Insurance for each one of their children.

In these days when it costs so much to be laid-up by an accident, you cannot afford to let your children be without this protection.

OUR COVER

Pretty girls with smart coiffures — that's the recipe for Southland's cover today. All of which introduces the 17th annual Beauty and Trade Show of the Long Beach Hairdressers Guild being held today and Monday at Lafayette Hotel. The girls (clockwise from upper left) are Carol Wallace, Phyllis Prather, Cheryl Starkenberg, June Lemon, Carole Hansen, and Beverly Wright. The hair styles they wear are high fashion in the soft tress mood, to be seen in abundance at the Guild's show. The Guild is the official hair stylist of the International Beauty Congress, and the members have to be good for that assignment. For more about milady's tresses for 1960, see Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

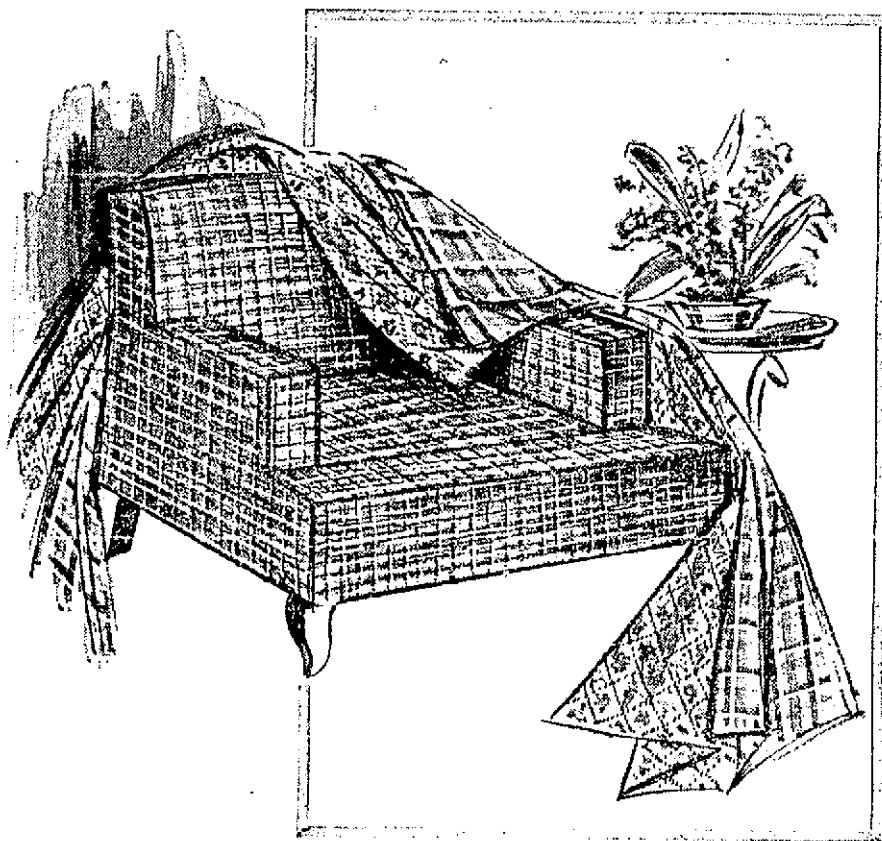

With Spring in the air, Southland folk begin to think about going places and those thoughts inevitably lead to the desert country. And rightly so, for the California deserts, for the most part, will be at their best for visitors during the next two or three months. Southland takes you to these fairylands next week with its annual Spring Desert Number.

LA-REINA-RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you print genealogy on VOGEL.—B.A.V., Long Beach.

B.V.: VOGEL is the German word for "bird." This surname represents an inn-sign picturing a bird as the hostelry's symbolic trademark. After a generation of inn ownership, the proprietor's original name was forgotten and he became known as "Vogel." Many Vogel families were among German nobility and were granted coats-of-arms. Among them, a representative escutcheon is that of the Vogels of Windesheim, Bavaria. Their strikingly beautiful insignia is a bluebird with raised wings centered on a gold shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Could you give brief history on ALTON and ALLTON.—O.A., T.S., Long Beach.

O.A., T.S.: The modernized English names ALTON and ALLTON are both from "Ald-Toun," meaning "Old Town," the recorded town of the ancestors. Another source was Aewel-Toun (Town by the spring). Alton in Huntingdonshire is among the towns by this name. No other data is available on these families.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on TYACK.—G.T., F.P., Long Beach.

G.T., F.P.: The TYACK progenitors were natives of Cornwall in southwest England. Their ancient name translates as "farmer," from the old Cornish word "tyac." The Tyack coat-of-arms from St. Breock has a black chevron placed between three black boar heads symbolizing strength, on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on JONES.—R.J., Sweet Springs, Mo., Mrs. L.M., Long Beach.

R.J., L.M.: The Welsh surname JONES meant "Son of John." The Biblical "John" translates as "God is gracious." The Jones ancestry is traced to Bledodyn-Ap-Cynfyn, King of Powys in Wales from 1063 to 1075. His coat-of-arms, still used by Jones descendants, is a rampant scarlet lion centered on a gold shield. The family motto is "Look to the past." The first of this lineage in America is believed to be the Rev. John Jones who settled in Connecticut in 1635.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like genealogy on OXBURN.—A.F., Bellflower.

A.F.: The ancient Saxon-English geographical phrase "Oxa-Berg" (Ox-Hill) became the surnames OXBURN and OXBORROW. Oxburgh, where the family originated, is located in Norfolk. Canterbury marriage records of 1669 list the marriage of Thomas Oxborow and Ellen Corker. The family coat-of-arms has a red rampant lion overlaid on a gold shield crossed by two blue bars.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on TAYLOR.—D.T., Mrs. E.M., E.W., Long Beach.

Beverly Wright, Long Beach Hairdressers Guild model, wears "Beehive," a smooth-lined, provocative - in - detail coiffure.

It's the 'Gentle Tress'

THE STRESS is on the "Gentle Tress."

That's the word of topflight hairdressers—50 of them—who will come from around the world to attend the Long Beach Hairdressers Guild's 17th annual Beauty and Trade Show today and Monday in the Lafayette Hotel Ballroom. And they'll demonstrate in graphic fashion the colors and coiffures that they are advancing for feminine approval and beauty's adornment.

"Gentle Tress" means just about what it says—tresses arranged in gentle, feminine waves . . . emphasizing an oval silhouette.

Colors will be blonde, pink, red, silver, gold, smoke . . . running the entire gamut from very light blonde to very dark smoke.

As the season advances, hair will be cut shorter and closer to the head.

GUILD SESSIONS will begin at noon each day and will attract some 1,500 onlookers daily, judging by attendance at past convention presentations.

International Beauty Congress hair styles designed by the Guild will be presented by guest stars Buddy Francis and Grace Doran at 1:30 p. m. today.

Grand awards will be presented at 9 p. m. Monday—the creator of the winning coiffure to receive $200 and high acclaim throughout the domain of hair beauty culture.

Bill Tuggel is president of the Long Beach Hairdressers Guild and Walter Cozart and Dallas Moran are show chairmen.

In high fashion, Carole Hansen wears "Honeycomb," tall, wrap-around, circular silhouette.

Phyllis Prather with "French Puff": Hair is 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 in. long but appears to be longer.

Jane Lemon wears the "Casual Trend," a casual, easily cared-for version of "Gentle Tress."

Cheryl Starkenberg finds that "Glamour Flair" is just right for her. It's a bouffant style, with soft waves and brushed bangs—a style to catch the high lights.

Short hair that gives the illusion of page boy is "Wing Flair," sure to be popular with the teenagers in the spring and summer. The girl here is Carol Wallace.

Eleven Days That Loused Up History

WHEN 1960 whooshed up off its launching pad, and its secondary rocket cut loose and began whizzing it through the month of February, Walt Demmy took a long and thoughtful look at the calendar.

"Spring is going to be a day late this year," he told me.

"Spring is—what?"

"A day late," he repeated. "I want you to notice that February racks up 29 days this year. That's going to make the first of March a day late getting here, and all the days from then on are going to be late, too."

"That's just fine," I said. "It gives me another day to hunt for deductions on my federal swindle sheet. But won't it prove confusing to the Capistrano swallows? They're due back some time next month."

"NOT AT ALL," Walt assured me. "Those birds are smarter than we are, and they've got their scouts flying around down there right now. They don't depend on any man-made calendar. Only thing is—and it makes me sore—if you or I go down there now, and see 'em, and point 'em out a week or a month ahead of when they're supposed to show up—well, then, we're cynics and agnostics and subversive as all get-out, and probably in the pay of Moscow. You'd think the American way of life de-

Leap Year has confused everything and everybody, from groundhogs to politicians—just ask Walt Demmy!

By Homer M. Parsons

pended on that feathered flock landing exactly on St. Joseph's Day."

"In a way, it does," I argued. "We used to have a lot of folk customs and beliefs which nobody pays any attention to any more—like Groundhog Day, which let us know whether spring was here, or six weeks off. Now there's no groundhog, not even a prairie dog—and the chipmunks and gophers won't cooperate. We need those swallows."

"They're probably not swallows, but swifts," Walt informed me. "... and we don't really need 'em: we've got the Dow Jones averages."

"Got the—which?"

"THE DOW JONES averages. If you're looking for folk customs and beliefs, you don't have to look for the ones they had in Jackson's administration. We've got modern ones, tailored to this mid-century Leap Year, this year of census-taking, this year of elections. Millions of people believe in the Dow Jones averages, and regard it with reverence. It proves they love the American way of life."

"It does?"

"Sure. It's American as a hot dog, and modern as a Thor-Unable. Of course, it's not quite as respectable as the gold standard, but the gold standard is kinda dormant these days."

"Like the ground hog?"

"Exactly. And when I look back at it and recall that for years we based our supply of money on the amount of gold we dug out of a hole in California, pressed into bars and buried in another hole in Ft. Knox, I can't understand what forced the gold standard out of the political picture. It was crazy enough to have lasted forever. I wish I could think up crazy ideas like that—I'd go into politics."

"Don't be modest!" I scoffed. "I think you'd make a wonderful politician. You've got everything it takes, including crazy ideas."

"THE TROUBLE IS," Walt protested, "they're not fashionable. For instance, I've got the idiotic idea we ought to let our screwy calendar stay the way it is, Leap Year and all. Every time we've messed with it in the past we've loused things up—but good."

"But is anybody trying to 'mess with it' now?"

"All kinds of people, and in all kinds of ways. The government starts its fiscal year in July, and some corporations start it any old time, just to give Internal Revenue more headaches than it has already. And then here come the scientific anthropologists with their Carbon 14, putting new dates on everything they dig up out of the past. The time is ripe for somebody to step up and try to reform the whole shebang once more—and if that happens, all our dates and records are going to be obsolete and outmoded, and we'll have to change 'em, like Benjamin Franklin's birthday."

"What's all this about Franklin's birthday?"

"Ah-ha!" Walt gloated. "I've got news for you. His biography states that Franklin 'was born Jan. 6, 1706 (new style, Jan. 17)'. Do you know what that means?"

"Two birthdays, one old-fashioned and one new-fangled?"

"But it's the same date, stupid!"

Walt exploded. "What it means is that Pope Gregory came along—Gregory VII, I think it was—and being a scientist as well as a religious leader, he found all sorts of things wrong with the Julian calendar, and went about setting 'em right. He said it had picked up 11 days it wasn't entitled to, so he bundled 'em up and threw 'em out, poof!—just like that. Nobody knows where they went, but they're gone, and gone forever."

"That didn't hurt anybody," I said, "least of all Franklin. It telescoped his birthdays, and let him go through life thinking he was 11 days younger than he really was. He was a cocky young rebel of 70 when he signed the Declaration, and..."

"THAT'S NOT the point," Walt snapped. "It loused up all our history dates. Everything before the 1700s was from one to 11 days wrong, and I don't know how many of them have been adjusted. I don't know whether Columbus discovered America on the 12th of October or the first, or somewhere in between. Worse than that, while all of Western Christendom went along with the Gregorian calendar, the Eastern—the Orthodox—Christians stayed with the old one. That makes the Russians celebrate their October revolution in November."

"Well, don't worry about it," I soothed him. "Remember your susceptibility to ulcers. After all, if this country ever goes Communist, we can celebrate our Fourth of July on the 23rd of June, and that will make everything come out right."

"You crazy philosopher!" Walt laughed. "Why don't YOU go into politics?"

"I can't," I said. "I've got a bus to catch."

Walt jumped to his feet. "And here I've been keeping you, with all this chit-chat and nonsense. I forgot all about your bus."

"So did I," I admitted, looking at my watch. "Never mind, it's already gone—11 days ago, I think. I'll catch the next one."

Times Have Changed --So Have Colleges!

By Blaine Nels Simons

BOYCE MAGNESS is a bailiff in Compton Municipal Court. John Frye is a master sergeant in the Marine Corps. I am a practicing attorney. But the three of us have one thing in common: we are all students at Long Beach State College.

Blessed with a light trial calendar this past fall and feeling I had some spare time, I decided to register for several classes at State. Soon, my spare time became overtime for it became apparent after several weeks there that I had been basing my time calculations on prewar college standards. Today's college work is tougher. It picks deep into the students' minds, demands more thought and study time.

Today's student is more serious than his counterpart of 20 years ago. Boyce Magness exemplifies this trend. Renewing acquaintance with him on campus, I learned he had been going there for four years, studying seriously for a degree. I was particularly amazed because Magness is 47 years old, has children of his own in college, and by standards of achievement has had a successful life. But he explained his thoughts in returning to college in this manner:

"I went to college to have fun. I didn't learn much, didn't finish. Now that we have a good college like this close by, and I have free time evenings, I figure it's never too late to learn, and I've learned a lot these past four years."

BOB SWANSBROUGH typifies the younger student. At 21, this San Pedro High School graduate is president of the Associated Students of Long Beach State and is what was referred to in my day on campus as a "Real Wheel" in student activities. In yesteryears this type of fellow often stayed in school, thanks to a light schedule and enough easy courses to allow him to get passing marks. Bob, in addition to taking a full load and getting top marks, has his eye set on some day being a college professor of history.

"To me," Bob says, "college is only a beginning. Here we learn how to develop study habits and how to classify basic knowledge for use and development later on in life."

He is probably right. Twenty years ago most of us didn't realize this and probably never thought of it. Times have changed.

People have changed, too. Before World War II a person over 30 would rarely have the get-up and gumption to enroll in college or to complete a college career which he may have dropped earlier. At Long Beach State, according to executive dean David L. Bryant, the average age for students is around 25 to 30 with a number of students in the 50-60 age bracket. In practically every class are "over 30s" matching their wits with the "under 20s" and getting a real thrill just from learning.

In prewar days students often held part-time jobs and a few had full-time employment. Today the full-time workers abound on the campus of Long Beach State. An example, in addition to Magness, is Sgt. Frye, who is stationed at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station in information services and puts in "a good 40 hours a week" plus the usual duty overtime. During the rest of the week he spends two days and four nights taking 16 hours of classes at Long Beach State (16 is the maximum). Frye is a history major, aims for a degree to promote his chances for success in the Marine Corps.

GIRLS WORK MORE than ever, too. Vivabelle Fisher exemplifies today's working coed. From Friday through Sunday she puts in a full week's work at a local restaurant. On what she earns she is able to go to school during the rest of the week and is now in her junior year, a history major.

Teachers seem better than ever, too. In the two undergraduate colleges I attended there were always a few teachers in their 30s but most were in their 50s and 60s and one or two had been around since the founding of the college. State's 399 teachers range in age from 23 to 66, with two-thirds of these having doctorate degrees in their respective fields.

Since one must obtain a regular college degree and then a master's degree before going on for a doctorate, State's percentage of doctors is little short of amazing. Not too many years ago a doctorate was the exception rather than the rule on most campuses and often a student got the idea (which may have been true) that his teachers didn't know much more than he did. Whereas Bob Swansbrough, president of LBSC Associated Students, checks a reference in study.

Dr. William Fisher, associate professor of education, finds students more serious today.

Long Beach State College offers a full curriculum, 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. schedule. Students here are (left to right) Bill Luc, Bill Lambeth, Gene Borgna.

Jim and Mim (Mr. and Mrs.) Chalker operate a coffee-and-doughnut counter in the evening at LBSC. The Chalkers are senior students, Jim a veteran.

How to Get a Night Out

By Estelle St. George

MANY married men have discovered that a night of card playing or other diversion with men friends is not only hard to negotiate, but often apt to end with unpleasant recriminations from their wives if it does occur. However, the right psychology applied at propitious moments has been known to bring about very gratifying results for fun-seeking husbands who heretofore had never been free to enjoy an evening of masculine companionship. Naturally, as (Continued on Page 17)

A Home Gains Fresh Charm

Fireplace of stone adds interest to both the interior and exterior of the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shoden. Here, the fireplace is seen from across the living room.

A FEW YEARS ago when Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shoden bought the home at 265 Roycroft Ave., it was a tiny frame structure containing 600 square feet. They liked the location and felt that the house had remodeling possibilities, which it did beyond their expectations.

Originally, the home consisted of a small living room, two bedrooms, a bath and kitchen. One bedroom opened off the living room, one from the kitchen, and the only entrance to the bath was from the bedrooms. Alterations included adding a hallway with doors leading to the bedrooms and bath, and enlarging the living room and kitchen area. The house is now double the original size; and a feeling of even larger space is created with the open, one-room effect of the living room, dinette and kitchen.

THE HANDSOME corner fireplace of stone in the living room gives warmth and beauty to the whole area. Furnishings are arranged to give maximum comfort with a minimum of clutter. A tri-cornered desk is placed behind the slightly curved couch, above which birch-stained walnut paneling forms a background for bookcases. Two blue leather chairs face the couch with a table and lamp in between. The Grecian urn lamp, at once practical and beautiful, fits well into the contemporary decor of the room.

The type of carpeting and the manner in which it is laid adds to the illusion of space. Made of wool turf (similar in appearance to cotton shag rugs yet so durable Couch and chairs are arranged to give maximum comfort with minimum clutter in living room. Grill gives semi-privacy to breakfast bar, kitchen behind right wall.

Kitchen facilities are open, marked off by the breakfast bar and overhead cabinets. Comfortable stools serve the counter.

(that it doesn't mat down), it ends with a curve at the dinette area, which features linoleum of a similar color.

ACCENTS of black and orange are used sparingly, with taste. The television set is finished in black lacquer, and the chair seats in the dinette are black. A bright orange pillow on the couch matches a large orange ash tray on the coffee table. Drapes in both rooms are a subdued champagne color.

Kitchen cupboards match the color of the bookcases in the living room. A gold-flecked formica bar separates the kitchen from the dinette and is wide enough to be functional for family meals as well as entertaining.

While the kitchen, living room, and dinette are, in effect, one very large room, a degree of privacy in the kitchen is maintained with the use of a high white iron grill divider set near the bar. Sliding glass doors lead from the dinette to the patio in the rear.

An interesting contrast to the contemporary area of the home is the master bedroom which is furnished in maple. While the room is not large, simple, usable furnishings—a four-poster bed and an out-sized chest of drawers give it space, and there is ample closet room.

UNUSUAL wallpaper made of burlap is used in the other bedroom, a boy's room. It appears to add depth to the walls and gives a masculine, tailored appearance to the small, neat room, well furnished with all the necessities and including a portable television set.

The patio, shaded with trees of substantial age and size, is excellent for play and entertaining, and affords ample space for future additions to the home, plans which include another bedroom and bath. Easy house-keeping in modern comfort has been the keynote in re-planning and altering the tiny structure into one of gracious proportions and outstanding attractiveness.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Ranch Style, With an Eye to Economy

Cottage-like appearance adds a friendly note to this exterior which makes use of adzed siding, brick, flush boards and vertical boards and battens.

By John O. B. Wallace

BECAUSE of a warm, home-like exterior, this money-saving ranch house is in a class by itself.

While many a home of modest size and cost seems coldly functional, we have one here in which appearances have meant a great deal to the designer, as they will to the owner.

The designer, Rudolph A.

Matern, who specializes in small homes, set out deliberately to keep costs down by keeping the size moderate and putting all the space to work.

"My purpose," he says, "was to get a very small, low-cost home. At the same time, the house had to provide the number of bedrooms most needed by the majority of people. This number is three.

"The house also had to provide an interesting exterior and offer an entertainment-living area large enough to dispel any small-house, cramped feeling.

"Beyond that, my purpose was to provide an efficient and comfortable home."

THE HOUSE includes 6 rooms, with either 2 or 3 bed-

Arrangement for practical circulation is shown in this floor plan. Note the sliding wall at one end of the living-dining area, extending the space.

'Bird' of Hawaii

The bird of paradise is one of Hawaii's flowers which especially intrigues visitors. These birdlike, orange blossoms with translucent blue "tongues" are among the Islands' most exotic cultivated plants.

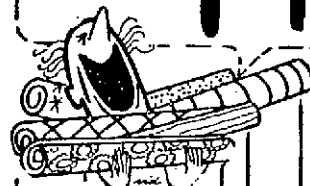

They bloom in Hawaiian parks and gardens and brighten flower planters in front of swank Waikiki beach shops and restaurants.

They're even used in window displays. Often alongside handcarved ivory art objects, pearl and jade jewelry set in Island flower motifs, Hawaiian etched glassware, oriental dishes and pottery.

The bird of paradise is a favorite for cut flower displays and export because of its long-lived nature. It lasts up to two weeks in water.

Southland takes its readers into a different, attractive Long Beach area home each week rooms and a bath. Habitable areas total 995 square feet. Add 335 square feet for the garage and 132 more for the porch. Over-all dimensions are 59x33 feet 8 inches. A 75x100-foot lot is recommended. A full basement is under the living areas.

The three bedroom spaces all have at least five feet of closet space. Combined, they have 17 feet of closet space—nearly twice the amount required by the FHA.

All closet doors are louvered, and the larger ones are accordion and fold back on themselves. This allows a large closet to be opened fully without consuming room space.

The living and dining areas are end to end to give a "big look" to this one-room arrangement.

The third bedroom, which may be used instead as a den or study, is separated from the living-dining area by a floor-to-ceiling sliding wall. With the wall pushed back into its pocket, an expanse of more than 31 feet is thrown open.

THE SLIDING WALL pocket

et extends outside the house and encloses one side of a rear terrace.

The circulation arrangement of the plan creates marked efficiency.

Hall space is kept to a minimum, the bath is located at its most convenient point—and the service entrance leads directly to the kitchen and to the basement stairs.

In addition to the generous storage space of the living areas, extra space is built into the garage and is separated into three parts: a storage area for porch furniture just off the rear porch; a storage area for children's play articles, with a door of its own, and a storage area for tools next to the work bench.

THE KITCHEN, nearly 19 by 10 feet in size, has a large breakfast area flooded by natural light entering through diamond-paned windows. The kitchen is linked to the dining area, and it shares a two-way brick fireplace which goes through to the living room.

Between the foyer and the living room are louvered doors. These may be left open for decorative purposes or they may be closed to give living room privacy.

The living room, beside the floor-to-ceiling sliding wall, includes a picturesque window seat extending along 13 feet of the rear wall. Aluminum and glass sliding doors open onto the rear terrace.

A WARM, cottage-like exterior has been achieved through the different materials. Adzed siding is used in the front gable and flush boards are used on the rectangular bay window. Brick flanks the entrance.

The entrance is recessed and has pierced flower pot shelves at its right. Vertical boards and battens are used elsewhere outside. The chimney is brick with pots on top of the flues. Lattice work, board and batten shutters and thick, butt roof shingles complete the exterior.

TV star Richard Boone started as artist, switched to acting, and now wants to return to art. Left, at work on canvas; right, playing Paladin in "Have Gun, Will Travel."

TELEVISION

Have Brush, Want To Paint

By James Bacon

Associated Press Movie-TV Writer

RICHARD BOONE, a Barrymore on horseback, will do two more years—no more—as television's Paladin.

"Then, maybe, I'll be able to do more of what I started out to be in life—an artist," says Boone, often rated the finest actor among the TV cowpokes.

A recent incident may have had something to do with Boone's desire to resume painting.

"When I was on Broadway last winter for 'The Rivalry,' I was asked to contribute a painting to UNICEF. I hadn't done any painting since before the war but I used my son as a model to paint the New York skyline as seen by a 6-year-old boy.

"Nothing I have ever done has impressed my boy so much. You would think a kid living in the same house with Paladin would be on top of the world, but that painting stirred him up much more.

"Now I'm back painting again."

THE PARTING from "Have Gun, Will Travel" will be an amiable one. CBS agrees with Boone that five years is long enough for the series, now in its third year.

Boone is a different kind of TV cowboy. He doesn't let a successful western series interfere with his versatility as a serious actor.

During 1959, Boone starred in 39 "Have Gun, Will Travel" shows; directed some of them; spent four months on Broadway to critical plaudits as Abraham Lincoln in "The Rivalry," hit play about the famed Lincoln-Douglas debates; played Sam Houston to John Wayne's Davy Crockett in the movie "The Alamo" and appeared in varying roles on several television dramatic plays.

BOONE FINDS his Actor's Studio training in method acting helps with Paladin. He explains:

"Paladin is a strange character with a lot of subtleties. I can use all the dramatic training I can get with him. I get a real charge out of playing him."

Boone believes that Paladin has not typed him as a western actor.

"On the contrary," he says, "this role has convinced producers that I'm really an actor and not a doctor."

He referred to his first TV series, "Medic," which is still re-running. That brings him hefty residual checks but nothing like what he will get for "Have Gun," of which he owns a piece. He estimates that the show will have earned him $800,000 in five years—and it's not his only income.

Earlier movie credits include his first picture for 20th Century-Fox, "Halls of Montezuma," and his last for Fox, "The Robe," in which he played Pontius Pilate.

Night Out

It is assumed that the husband wishes to go out on a certain Friday night for a poker-beer-and-pretzel session with a group of men friends. Approximately two weeks previous to the Friday in question he should bring home a small, inexpensive bouquet of flowers to his wife. She will be delighted, surprised, and suspicious. When she discovers that he hasn't been up to any mischief and doesn't appear to have a hidden motive in mind, she'll revel in the joy of being the recipient of such thoughtfulness. The initial step of the experiment has now been taken and the stage is set for the continuation of the treatment.

DURING THE NEXT few days the husband should constantly pay small but meaningful compliments to his wife. "You're even a better cook than my mother" and "Haven't you lost some weight, dear?" are bound to please, and they can be repeated again and again without losing impact.

About a week before the Friday poker session, the husband should call his wife from the office around noon. He'll say that he's been thinking of her, and wondering if she'd like to get dressed up and go out for dinner—just the two of them—that night. No reason given. Just an unexpected dinner date. Floating in outer-space, she'll re-freeze the pot roast, planned for dinner, line up a baby-sitter, and take a bath in the expensive co-logne she's never even opened since last Christmas.

On the Monday preceding the Friday, the husband will wait until after the dishes are put away (his offer to help was lovingly rejected) and the children tucked in, then say casually:

"Poor Joe. I sure feel sorry for him."

THE WIFE WILL, of course, reply, "Why?"

The answer: "He's not married to a wonderful girl like you."

(Parenthetical note: The wife has, by this time been brain-washed. She expects and accepts compliments, and is devoid of any suspicion.)

"Oh?" she'll say. "You're sweet to say that."

"I mean it," the husband will state with vehemence. "Why she won't even let him go down to the corner drug store by himself at night. Expects him to sit home all the time."

"Really?" the wife will say. Then she'll add, without thinking, "How unreasonable of her."

"Take this Friday night," the man will say in an off-hand way. "Fred's having a few of the fellows over to play a few little card games and eat a few sandwiches, and poor Joe doesn't even dare ask his wife if he can go."

"Poor Joe," she'll say. "Imagine."

"YOU KNOW, you're even prettier than when we got married," he'll continue, a look of sheer admiration on his face. "That's the trouble with Joe's wife, I bet. She's so unsure of herself that she's afraid to let Joe out of her sight. She could take a lesson from you."

"Were — were you planning to go to Fred's, dear?"

the wife will murmur. "You don't mind if I drop by for a little 'white'?" the husband will inquire nonchalantly.

"Me? Of course not, dear. Why should I?" will be the only possible and logical answer.

As a final adroit touch, a smart husband always leaves for stag functions with an air of resignation rather than anticipation. This makes a wife feel secure in the knowledge that he would much rather be at home watching TV with her than having a night out with the boys.

Off-Beat Breakfasting

Midnight snack? Not so; it's breakfast for non-conformists. As long as it's nutritious, what matter the menu? Here are mushroom soup, deviled eggs, ham-cottage cheese, muffins.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

FROM A MOUNTAIN of papers submitted by survey researchers, assembled statistics show that breakfast is the neglected meal in most American homes. This is not to be shrugged off lightly, because breakfast is generally considered essential for a person's maximum efficiency, both mental and physical, during the late morning hours.

Breakfast skipping is sometimes caused by lack of time in the early morning rush. Then, too, weight conscious folks frequently suffer under the illusion that breakfast makes them fat. Some "timid" breakfasters aren't physically capable of food intake immediately after arising; however, their appetites usually become stimulated later in the morning. "Not hungry" is another reason, one that can sometimes be remedied with unconventional foods — not found on orthodox breakfast menus.

Young men and women of high school age seem to favor the non-conformist kind of breakfast. Tomato and bacon sandwiches, cottage cheese, rice pudding, shrimp, macaroni and cheese, soup — all these off-beat (or breakfast) foods are catalogued in the survey findings for this group. You may ask if there is any reason why these foods shouldn't be morning fare. Breakfast-wise, nutritionists say that as long as the menu is nourishing and well-balanced, there are no restrictions.

Soup for breakfast, once an odd early morning dish, has been gaining steady popularity in the last decade.

Now, for the non-conformist here are three breakfasts that are decidedly different, still nourishing and tasty.

Breakfast No. 1
Hot Cream of Chicken Soup (made with milk), Fresh Fruit Bowl, Deviled Eggs and/or Ham and Cottage Cheese Cornucopias, Hot Muffins.

Breakfast No. 2
Consomme, Rice Pudding with Bing Cherries, Syrup, Pigs in Blankets.

Breakfast No. 3
Cream of Celery Soup, Pineapple Chunks, Broiled Shrimp, Toast.

Children Are His Friends

By Charles Crutcher

CHIEF WHITE EAGLE, 67, of 7541 Pacific St., Buena Park, is proud that he is a Cherokee. And proud that the United States recognized the Cherokee Nation as far back as 1791.

Chief White Eagle is a gahistiski (peacemaker). He is galilahi (amiable). He is a member of Hollywood Post, American Legion. He is a character, too, in Ghost Town at Knott's Berry Farm.

You'll find him sometimes at the Covered Wagon on Market St. singing and dancing gatiyi (tribal dance). He dances, drums and sings at the same time.

He poses for pictures in costume with women in war bonnets.

Kids like him most. He poses with many of them.

"ALL CHILDREN are my friends," he says, standing in front of Boot Hill Diggings by Old Mine Dump Wagon on School Rd., his favorite post. "Children of today will be friends of the Indians in years to come."

He was born in Phoenix, he Chief White Eagle poses in front of the mine dump wagon at Knott's Berry Farm where he entertains, especially for kids.

attended public school there. He later went to Indian School in Pipestone, Minn. He learned to box and was also a baseball player.

Chief White Eagle made a small dent in silent movies in 1909 when he and many fellow-Indians lived on Main and First Sts. near the Los Angeles Plaza to give early American color.

"Los Angeles was a pueblo then. More like Indian and Mexican villages," he says.

He got a real part in a railroad serial starring Helen Holmes made at the old Kalem studio in Glendale.

"In one scene, Helen was picking up sticks to build a campfire," he recalls. "She dropped the sticks four times. Very nervous. The director said, 'Helen, film costs lots of money.' After that, she held on the sticks and built nice fire. Scene finished, ok."

He entertained with other Indians at New York's largest department stores, and toured many states advertising Western attire for men and boys.

He appeared in vaudeville with Roy Rogers and was interviewed over MBS (Mutual Broadcasting Station) and WOR in New York. He toured in tent shows and played two weeks in the Miller Bros. famous 101 Ranch show in Madison Square Garden.

HE ENLISTED in World War I and was sent to Fort Custer, Mich., known as Custer's Camp in 1917. When the flue hit camp, the chief took his own preparation of herbs, roots and barks, and then a hot bath ... "all right in two hours."

In 1919, he made a short picture with five chiefs and squaws, some Sioux, some Cherokees, at the Boston Riding Academy.

Summers he taught tenderfeet how to make totem poles and campfires at a boys and girls camp at Poland, N.Y.

During World War II and part of the Korean War, he worked as a rigger for Bethlehem Steel, across the Hudson. He did double duty two years while in defense, replacing a drafted New York policeman.

"I came out a corporal. La Guardia was mayor then."

HE WAS WITH the New York Board of Education five years teaching costume making, bendwork, painting, carving, Indian dancing and how to make Indian villages out of cardboard.

Now he declines TV, stage and movie offers, not wishing to miss powwows with cronies at the Grist Mill, Indian Village and the Old Knifemaker.

"Most," says the chief, "I'd join Mr. Russell Knott. I made a promise to play with him as long as he'd want me."

Colleges

teachers in professional graduate schools (law, medicine and such) always have needed high academic standards, the pre-war undergraduate colleges often didn't measure up to these standards. Now they do.

My pre-war college teachers were all home-bred men. One was born in another state and he was referred to as "the foreigner." LBSC teachers come from all over the globe. A check of the colleges from which they were graduated shows that they have come from 40 states and 14 foreign countries!

One from another state is Dr. William E. Fisher, a professor of education. Prior to coming here five years ago, Dr. Fisher, who is a native of Kansas, taught for seven years in Millikan College, Ill., and prior to that was a secondary-school teacher for 15 years. Discussing today's students as compared with those of pre-war years, Dr. Fisher says, "Students are today better trained for college and are more conscientious than the average student some years back. I have always enjoyed teaching but enjoy it more than ever now. The serious attitude of today's student and his strong desire to learn something while in college probably has a lot to do with my enjoyment of teaching."

COLLEGE is inexpensive now and attendance is within the financial means of everyone.

Adding to today's bargain education is the extremely wide choice of classes available. Whereas once the student had little choice, today's list of classes is as varied as the menu at a high-class restaurant — there is so much from which to choose that students must pass up some courses they want in order to take others they like better. State may not offer every course known to man, but it does seem that way. To allow as many persons as possible a chance to take these courses, State, typical of most colleges, also runs classes from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. The popularity of the program is reflected in the fact that 40 per cent of the student body is enrolled exclusively or for some part in the night program.

When State opened in the fall of 1949, 17 teachers were on hand to greet 169 students. This past fall, 9,200 students swarmed in to fill the rooms of the 399 teachers. Not even the stock market has boomed as has college enrollment.

SOME THINGS never change. There are still a few rah-rah boys around and fraternities and sororities flourish as before, albeit in a more subdued manner. In my old Phi Delta fraternity house, every day was a Saturday night and those who studied were the "odd ones." Now fraternity row devotes the week to study and leaves only the weekends for whooping it up.

These changing times in college education are good for the nation.

San Diego's 'Sky Ride'

By Betty Hardesty

RIDING up 15 stories in an outside glass elevator is a thrill available for visitors in San Diego. The El Cortez Hotel situated on a hill in uptown San Diego at 7th and Ash Sts. is unique as the lo-cale of this unusual sky-riding lift.

Extending from the center of the main floor lobby, the three-sided glass enclosure shows from the front of the building above the second floor. A breath-taking panorama of the city and bays unfolds as passengers ride up to the 15th or 16th floors where dinner or cocktails are served and the scene may be viewed at leisure.

Although the idea of the ride is somewhat disturbing, the hydraulic construction of this glass elevator is absolutely safe. A shaft extends into the ground to a distance equal to its height and water pressure prevents any sudden falling such as may occur in cable elevators.

THE GLASS ELEVATOR
enclosure, being a pale greenish color, stands out in contrast to the white building.
The use of large stars, painted on the glass and neon lighted at night, makes the elevator even more spectacular as it rises. Extravagant neon stars play above the elevator on the tower of the building and at night the lighted elevator cage may be seen from great distances as it moves slowly up and down.

Another attraction for tourists to ride is the two-way moving sidewalk bridge, arched from the hotel's front terrace to the second floor of the annex to the north

Riding the exterior, glass-enclosed elevator of El Cortez Hotel, San Diego, especially at night, is spectacular for passengers, onlookers alike.

and looking down on gardens and sunken art shops.

How to Make a Million Dollars

"IF YOU are between 20 and 40, I envy your chances. You can make a million dollars, if you use your head."

The man who uttered these words should know. He is J. Paul Getty, the richest man in the richest country on earth. Getty, easily a billionaire, made his first stake at Bartlesville, Okla., when he was 23—a million dollars!

Today his far-flung empire includes oil holdings on several continents, plus extensive hotel and real estate properties. Floating through his life go kings, princes, potentates (and one pope), presidents, statesmen and dictators, leaders of international society and industry, stars of stage, screen and sports, intellectuals, rough-necks and beachcombers.

Now 66 and in splendid health, Getty looks back on his career in Ralph Hewins' "THE RICHEST AMERICAN: J. PAUL GETTY" (Dutton, $5).

"The ability to wait, to resist a quick profit, to save to avoid selling, and to resist the advice of friends who recommend a sale—that adds up to one of the secrets of success."

He adds: "Another secret is never to delegate authority than what's purely administrative. No business ever makes more money when policy passes out of the hands of one man... underlings always let you down. That's why I work so hard."

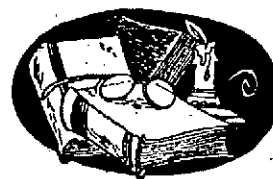

And work hard he does. Putting business before anything else, Getty has had five unsuccessful marriages. Zealously guarding his health as he has done for years, he's constantly on the job, buying an oil lease, letting a contract for a tanker, developing real estate holdings, setting policy for three behemoths in oil—Getty Oil Co., Tidewater and Skelly—not to count several lesser companies and a fleet of tankers. Oil companies with which he is connected have assets conservatively valued at $1,272,900,000, of which he owns 81 per cent.

(With his father, George F. Getty, he helped to develop oil properties at Long Beach and Santa Fe Springs, and later at Seal Beach.)

"A millionaire—or a billionaire—has to create his happiness despite his wealth," he reflects.

But is Getty really happy? "I hate being a failure," he declares. "I hate and regret the failure of my marriages. I would gladly trade my millions for just one, lasting marital success."

"THE FAR SHORE," by Edward Ellsberg (Dodd, Mead, $4.95): Men who went through D-Day, and others who only read about it will get a new conception of the vision, the planning, the terror, the courage of H-Hour of D-Day that launched the Normandy invasion in World War II. It is told in clipped, unemotional language by Adm. Ellsberg, then a captain, who considers himself a typical American and typical fighting man. Ellsberg, who had been Eisenhower's salvage chief in the Mediterranean, was assigned to the English channel at Selsey Bill where a great artificial harbor was waiting to be towed on D-Day to the Far Shore of Omaha Beach. He helped uncover the frightening fact that the great submerged harbor structures could not be raised by ordinary methods, a situation corrected by intervention of the highest British authority, a good story in itself. The book comes close to being a "must" for everyone who wants to understand the turning point in the war.

"TO SIR, WITH LOVE," by E. R. Braithwaite (Prentice Hall, $3.50): Edward Ricardo (Ricky) Braithwaite, British Cufana-born Negro, brilliantly educated, who had served with distinction in the RAF, had almost forgotten the color of his skin. Then came the end of the war, and the bitter, fruitless hunt for work. He was refused, with British courtesy, topflight technical jobs because of his color; he was refused lower jobs because he was too well educated for them. Finally came a chance to teach in Green-slade's School, in the heart of London slums. His class of tough boys and girls had routed their previous teacher, they were taking full advantage of the headmaster's precepts of freedom and no punishment. How Braithwaite, with a mixture of firmness and kindness, brought them into line, and became "Sir" to them and their parents is an engrossing story. The black man's love for a white teacher will be disquieting to many readers. Braithwaite now is a children's officer for the London Welfare Department.

"THE VIOLENT BEAR IT AWAY," by Flannery O'Connor (Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, $3.75): With her customary merciless humor and clear insight, Flannery O'Connor, young Southern writer, has produced another unforgettable book to follow her "Wise Blood" and "A Good Man Is Hard to Find." "The Violent Bear It Away" is about a back-country Tennessee orphan, Francis Marion Tarwater, and the fight over his soul. Before Francis' great-uncle dies, he prophesies the 14-year-old boy's fate: "The Lord will call him to be a prophet." There is a struggle about whether

WITH PEN AND ARTIST'S BRUSH, a foot soldier recreates the invasion of Cuba in "THE LITTLE WAR OF PRIVATE POST" (Little, Brown, $6.50). The soldier, Charles Johnson Post, who died in 1956, has told his story from the time he first passed the jumping test, the coughing test and the eyesight test and became a soldier—through the dismal, malaria-infested jungles—to the day he returned to New York, gaunt and fever-ridden, the first man back from San Juan Hill. He carried a sketchbook with his gun, and his drawings, some of them in color, have appeared in national magazines and exhibits in New York City. The above illustration, one of the series, shows Capt. Rafferty's special detail going to Santiago to unload rations. Touching, brave and ludicrous but always dignified, Post's work is the story of individual men who fought a blundering but stirring war.

FRANCES MALM

Exotic settings, characters with strangely different psychological problems, and love intrigue—these are the ingredients of "WORLD CRUISE" (Doubleday, $4.95), a story by Frances Malm of 12 people who realize their destinies aboard a luxury freighter. It is Miss Malm's first full-length novel, though her stories have appeared in many magazines.

Rayber, a schoolteacher, will get Tarwater's mind, or whether Tarwater will baptize Rayber's son, Bishop. The story moves inexorably toward a climax neither principal could have foreseen.

"AMERICAN HERITAGE" (American Heritage, $3.95): Almost alone among America's outlying possessions, our newest state, Hawaii, was not won by conquest or purchase but by the Christian gospel, points out Bradford Smith in "The Isles Shall Wait His Law," one of more than a dozen articles in the current issue of the Magazine of History between hard covers. New England missionaries who arrived on the islands in 1820 heroically tried to counteract the powerful pagan taboos and replace the lifeless idols with a living god. Smith tells how all this was accomplished, illustrated with a six-page portfolio of watercolors by the Russian artist Louie Choris depicting Hawaiian life as the missionaries found it.

PAPERBACK ORIGINALS (first time published in book form) just issued: "THE QUESTION MAN" by Steve Allen (Bernard Geis Associates with Bellmeadows Press, $1.50): What this country needs, believes Allen, are some good live-cent questions, in pictures showing him dressed in various costumes, he illustrates his questions, gives scores of answers for which there are no questions. Amusing? You bet!

"ON THE MAKE" by John D. MacDonald (Dell, 35c): The girl was beautiful and willing, and she knew where $40,000 was waiting.

"PETER GUNN" by Henry Kane (Dell, 35c): A new-style private dick solves a murder to a jazzy beat.

"THE WAYWARD WAHINE" by Carter Brown (Signet, 25c): Detective Danny Boyd is charmed by a hula dancer who leads him into the arms of a killer.

"THE RESTLESS LOVERS" by Robert Dunfee (Signet, 25c): A small-town reporter falls for a rich woman who sends her charms for revenge.

"THE FEUDALISTS" by Ernest Haycox (Signet, 35c): A dramatic tale of two feuding and warring and strife-trapped between their unfire.

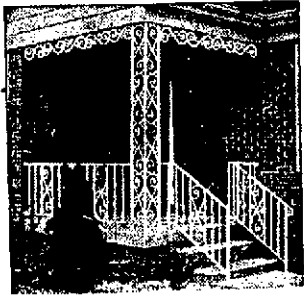

"THEY SELL SEX" by Sara Harris (Crest, 35c): A noted sociologist's documents, inside story of how some of the nation's biggest industries use professional, high-priced prostitutes to promote good will.

"HAVE GUN, WILL TRAVEL" by Noel Loomis (Dell, 35c): A Paladin episode, based upon the CBS television series.

SIGNET CLASSICS (50c each) just published in paperback form: "The Death of Ivan Ilych and Other Stories" by Leo Tolstoy; "Orlando" by Virginia Woolf; "A Tale of Two Cities" by Charles Dickens; "Gulliver's Travels" by Jonathan Swift; "The Ambassadors" by Henry James; and "Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte.

NEW PAPERBACKS in the Dell Laurel series: "The Anatomy of Love," edited by A. M. GOING PLACES With the Sloanes

CONCERNING our recent piece about not letting fears stand in the way of travel ambitions, Miss Helen C. Andrews of St. Petersburg, Fla., volunteers:

"I agree with you that bad weather should not discourage the tourist from visiting any country. But I am sure that for anyone planning a first trip, such an observation as 'the weather is never good in Ireland' may do a lot to discourage travel there.

"During 1954, 1955, 1956 and 1958 I spent a total of 62 days in Ireland and experienced only 15 days that were rainy and cloudy.

"Ireland is a delightful country and one almost any tourist would enjoy. But that its 'weather is never good' is inaccurate. I can vouch for that."

A few questions and answers:

(Q) "We are going to Banff, Canada, in June and would like to know what type of clothing to have—winter, summer or both?"—Mrs. E.B., Shreveport, La.

(A) They say in Alberta

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Is there much chance of being air-sick on a jet plane going to Europe? We go from New York in April."

LESS THAN on the piston-engine planes because you fly higher and are more that they expect snow any month of the year except July. Lady, you can take it from there.

(Q) "What is the usual charge for accommodating dogs in motels?" — W.C.M., Baton Rouge, La.

(A) So far as we know, those motels that permit pets make no charge for them. However, you may have to post a damage deposit, refundable if Fido doesn't chew up the mattress after all.

(Q) "We are traveling through South America in March. On March 1, is the weather in Rio de Janeiro as hot as our end of July? Are white shoes and white clothes dispensed with because the autumn is starting?" — Miss N.O.E., Bristol, Conn.

(A) Generally you can figure the seasons in lower South America by adding—or subtracting—six months to find the month comparable with our climate. Thus March 1 would likely match our Sept. 1 in climate—pretty warm. The white clothes season traditionally is extended as far as possible throughout Latin America.

(A) "I am a lover of pretty scenery and I'd like to find a really beautiful place to live in the United States. Do you know of a small village surrounded by superlative scenery, perhaps nestled at the foot of mountains?"—Mrs. H.H.C., Wichita, Kans.

(A) Our personal favorite is Manchester, Center, Vt. There is no place more serene. Nor can many resist the charm of places like Lee, Mass., Sebring and Winter Haven, Fla., and Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif. If you'll settle for a city instead of a village there are Asheville and Hickory, N. C., Colorado Springs, Colo., Tucson, Ariz., and Sacramento, Calif.

Shirley and Bob Sloane will be happy to help readers with their travel problems. Address them in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

'Land Cruises'

Most unique of all tours in Scandinavia are train cruises to the Arctic Circle and the land of the Midnight Sun.

Conducted by Swedish State Railways, the 8-day trip is in luxury equipped cars equipped with showers, movies, a library, photographic services, commodious laundry facilities and superb Swedish food.

The "land cruise" also allows time out for fishing and golfing in broad daylight at midnight.

apt to be above the clouds where there is bumpy air. The stewardess will give you a pill on takeoff if you ask her. Take one. Might make you feel better and it won't hurt you.

The best seats (according to a doctor who made a study of motion sickness) are on the right side of the airplane and over the wing. Worst seats are on the left and two window-seats immediately behind the wing. (Because most turns are made with a bank to the left and you see the ground motion.)

It might make you feel better to know that jet planes show 20 times better engine performance than the piston-engine planes. That is, they are that much safer from a mechanical viewpoint.

"... about buying a car in Europe?"

I think the American Automobile Assn. knows more about this, and gives better advice than anybody else.

You might like to write Auto-Europe, 25 West 58th, New York City, too.

They have a drive-now-pay-later plan. You pay a third down. Pick up the car anywhere in Europe. Drop it off at any of their other offices in Europe. They ship it home for you. And a month later, the payments begin.

"What can we do with one week in Hawaii? Not expensive, please."

FIRST THING you have to do is get a hotel. And this is very difficult on the beach at Waikiki. The travel to Hawaii is way over the hotel capacity.

You might try the one-week excursion which includes hotel room and some sightseeing (about $270 round trip from the West Coast). United Airlines has such a plan.

Or, you can book yourself right through Honolulu to one of the outer islands. But make a hotel reservation first. Try writing Hotel King Kamehameha on the island of Hawaii—it's the newest. Or Kauai Palms on the island of Kauai.

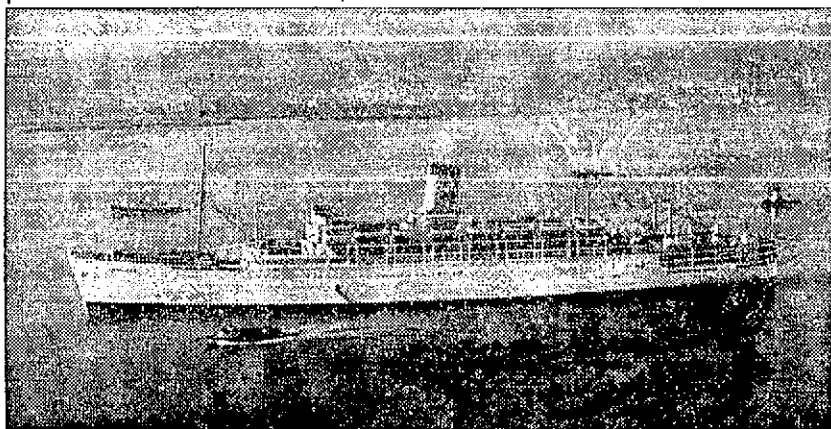

"How can we get a listing of dude ranches in Arizona?"

You just write a letter to the Chambers of Commerce at Tucson, Phoenix and Wickenburg. And you'll find a lot of them advertised in the current issue of Holiday magazine.

TWA American Airlines and Western Air Lines service this area. Their offices have a lot of literature.

Stan Delaplane will answer questions on travel (no phone calls) from his own worldwide experience. Make questions specific. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Flower Displays Herald Spring

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent Press-Telegram Travel Editor

THOUSANDS of weekend motorists soon will be exploring the valleys and hills and deserts of Southern California to see the spring display of wildflowers.

A few flowers already are in bloom in some sections, but they are far from satisfying. Soon golden poppy and lupine and other blooms will cover large areas, with the most colorful blossoms expected in Kern County near Bakersfield and in Antelope Valley north of Long Beach. We will try to keep you informed, but, meanwhile, put these special dates compiled by the All-Year Club of Southern California down in your book:

March 10-13 — Santa Barbara International Cymbidium Orchid Show. Best plants from this center of orchid culture, as well as many from Asia, Africa and Europe, will be exhibited in National Guard Armory.

March 11-13 — Antelope Valley Almond Blossom Festival: Six square miles of almond trees in blossom on the slope near Quartz Hill; festi-

This medieval wall rims the city of Visby on Gotland, Swedish island resort, for many miles. Less than an hour by air from Stockholm, Visby offers its summer visitors outdoor performances of the music drama, "Petrus de Dacia," staged each year in the ruins of a 13th century church.

March 12-13—First annual daffodil show at Descanso Gardens, 1418 Descanso Dr., La Canada, with thousands of blooms. Hours, 8 a.m. to dusk, admittance free. (Camellia plants, 100,000 strong, are also at the height of blossom.)

March 24-29—International Garden and Flower Fiesta at Phoenix. Some 70,000 square feet of exhibition space at Camelback Town and Country Village devoted to elaborate flower displays, including gardens from all over the world.

YOU CAN RELIVE childhood memories March 12 at Ocean Beach, in the San Diego community, when hundreds of children gather with their kites behind a high school band and drill team for a kite-flying contest. There will be prizes for the first kid to get a kite into the air, and for best designed, best constructed, most unusually decorated, and best flying kites. The Kiwanis Club there furnishes the kite makin's — 5,000 kite sticks, miles of string, gallons of paste, 4½ miles of kite tails. The festival opens at 2 p.m. when the breeze usually comes up.

LAS VEGAS' International Gin Rummy Tournament — March 5-8 — is listed in National Association of Travel Organizations "Top Twenty" outstanding U.S. travel events in March, compiled in connection with President Eisenhower's proclamation of 1960 as "Visit U.S.A. Year." Other big doings which made the list include Phoenix Don's Club annual search for the Lost Dutchman Mine (March 6), Japanese Girl's Day, doll displays, at Honolulu (March 3), Harriman Cup Ski Competitions at Sun Valley (March 5-6), and Montana Winter Carnival at Whitefish, Mont. (March 10-13).

BEFORE THE YEAR has passed, Southern Californians may fly direct to Tahiti! T.A.I., a French line, will fly a DC7 for Tahiti on May 7, but the route will be via Honolulu to Bora Bora and thence by flying boat for the short hop to Papeete, capital of Tahiti. But when Papeete's new airport is opened in October, the service will be Los Angeles, Honolulu, Papeete direct. Douglas DC8 jets will be used on the route beginning in April 1961.

MORE CALIFORNIANS are globetrotting. Department of State figures show issuance and renewals of passports to Golden State residents totaled 110,869 last year, an increase of 26 per cent over the preceding year, says the Auto Club of Southern California. Passport activity nationally increased only 8 per cent.

PET PARADE

Puppies Are Bundles of Fun

By Eleanor Avery Price

AS HOBBY SHOW time arrives again (March 4, 5, 6, and 7 at Municipal Auditorium), Leland and Vera Schenck, 35 Savona Walk, who will again display their Japanese spaniels, have prepared new sheets on the care of puppies and dam.

The hobby show, "Carnival of Hobbies," will be a two-floor event with extra attractions, including clowns.

Raising puppies can be fun, but many people seem petrified just about the time the first litter is due. Let's face it. There will be a mess, new responsibilities, more work, added expense, frequent interruptions, but almost always there will also be joy watching a pen full of tumbling puppies stalking each other's tails and kissing your fingers.

Under normal circumstances, in a comfortable box, your pet is able to whelp her litter without assistance, but stay close by in case you are needed. You might have to remove pups from the sacs and cut the umbilical cord (two inches from the pup's belly for a medium breed.) Should a pup not start to breathe, rub it vigorously with a towel, also swing head down to force out fluids in mouth and chest. Try mouth-to-mouth respiration if necessary. You can even run cold water over the pup, then gradually warm.

PUPPIES ARE equipped to combat most bacteria surrounding birth, but you may sterilize implements with alcohol and dip tips of cut cords in iodine.

Keep a box handy in which to place each placenta so when whelping is over you can check them against the number of puppies. Pull gently on the cord end attached to a placenta if it isn't expelled normally. The dam may be permitted to eat the first one or two afterbirths.

If the dam has difficulty expelling a pup, wrap a towel around your hand to give you purchase and carefully pull on the partly emerged whelp. Pups may be born head first or tail first. If the dam is a slow whelper, a hormone injection may be needed, and in desperate cases, a Caesarean section.

Let the mother lick each pup, then towel dry it and place it in a warm box close by if the dam is twisting around to welcome another baby. Puppies should nurse as soon as possible (the area in long-coated breeds should be cleanly trimmed), then later insist the dam relieve herself. Offer her warm milk or broth.

HEALTHY PUPPIES are quiet. If they cry and squirm a lot, something is wrong. They may be cold or the mother may not be providing enough milk. There may be an infection, or the puppies may be overly weak. Consult your veterinarian promptly.

Weak puppies should be fed a half-teaspoonful of raw liver juice daily in supplementary feedings. Sometimes iron and copper are also needed. Feed with a premature baby nipple, regular nipple or, as a last resort, with an eyedropper. Do not force fast feedings, however, or formula may be aspirated, causing pneumonia.

A deficiency of calcium and phosphorus in the dam's diet will cause her to have eclampsia — evidenced by shaking, wild expression, rigidity, and fever. An injection of calcium gluconate will help. Feed her well and give added milk, liquid or powdered, sprinkled over her meal.

Good catch, but framed. Scene and fisherman are authentic; fish, caught earlier, was tossed by skin diver behind boat. Dick Matt, marine photo specialist, set up this trick shot.

By The Shutterbug

DICK MATT is tall and athletic looking and has a photo studio-home on the Fox River in McHenry, Ill., and is one of the country's top marine photographers.

For more than a dozen years since Dick became a marine specialist, there is little on, in, over or under water that he hasn't photographed in still and in motion pictures, in color and in black and white.

His assignments include Cypress Gardens, Fla., with its beauties, a month's expedition in the savage jungles of the Amazon River in Peru filming flesh-eating parana fish from a flimsy native canoe; a boat trip through the rapids of the raging Rogue River in Oregon; an underwater barracuda hunt off Bahama; crossing the stormy Atlantic Ocean in a 22-ft. outboard motor boat.

"A MARINE photographer," says Dick, "is a combination of specialists. He must know and love boats, water and aquatic sports as well as photography. Pictures have to be accurate and authentic looking as well as technically well exposed and composed."

"I've been preparing for years by shooting 35mm color slides anytime I'm near the water everywhere I go. They make a vast reference library of boats and people and how they really look and act."

"As photographic consultant for a boat motor company, I use this background material in setting up advertising photographs to be taken with 4x5 or 8x10 inch negative size. By checking my candid shots, I make sure that the boats, the setting, the equipment, people, the outfits they're wearing and what they are doing look authentic.

"SHOOTING ON a moving boat is a knack that can be acquired. The feet are firmly planted on the deck or hull with the knees bent. The body can then rise or bend at the knees to compensate for the boat's up-and-down motion. The camera is gripped tightly to the face and mustn't touch any part of the boat to avoid vibration.

"Then if two boats are traveling at the same rate of speed alongside each other, the photographer can get a good action shot of the other boat at a comparatively slow shutter speed — 1/25th second. The boat and people in it will be sharp but the blur of churning water will give the impression of great speed."

IT'S SOMETHING to remember when the boat season gets under way again. Dick also recommends some protective aids, especially when shooting in salt water areas. A lens shade guards against stray spray as well as stray light. A filter over a lens not only brings out the clouds in the sky but protects the lens from accidental scratching as well as spray. And for overall protection, the camera should be wrapped in a plastic bag when not in use and kept in a cool, safe spot.

LONG BEACH Camera Guild will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Los Altos Library, 5614 Britton Dr., and black-and-white print and color slide contests will be held. Guild members Elva and Don Hayward and Floyd Williamson won awards in a recent international salon of the Circle of Confusion.

DECISION To enter the crowded 35-mm. still camera market with a Japanese-made, relatively low-priced, single-lens reflex camera called the Dekon S.R. has been announced by DeJur-Amsco. Camera will list for $89.50, be available in gradually increasing quantities after April 1. DeJur will sell the Dekon S.R. and other of its products only through franchised dealers, about 1,500 throughout the U. S., who now have the option of selling at discount prices down to certain limits. This sales policy is similar to one announced recently by Argus in abandoning previous "fair trade" adherence.

The Dekon S.R. is being billed as "the smallest 35-mm. single-lens reflex with an automatic diaphragm. It has an F2.8 50-mm. lens; Seikosa shutter with speeds from 1 second to 1/500th plus self-timer and flash synchronization; single-stroke film transport and shutter cocking lever, and focuses as close as two feet. Auxiliary lens attachments for wide angle and telephoto effects also will be available.

DeJur also announced additions to its previous line of movie cameras and projectors — U. S. made; are two spool and magazine-loading 8-mm. cameras called the Zoom Electra, and the Ambassador self-threading, zoom-lens 8-mm. projector. The cameras feature automatic electric-eye exposure control (with manual control optional) plus fingertip operation of the F1.8 zoom lens, which ranges from 9-mm. to 28-mm. focal lengths. The projector, tentatively priced at $159.50, will become available in April; the cameras, at $189.95, probably in May.

LATEST ADDITION to the list of high-speed color films is Ansco's new Super Anscochrome film, specifically balanced for true color rendition and image sharpness when exposed by electronic flash. With an exposure index of 100, first samples of the film show brilliant color gradation that offsets the flat lighting of electronic flash, and the high speed permits use of smaller flash units instead of heavier, costlier studio equipment. Color balance is close enough to daylight to permit use in sunlight without a filter. Super Anscochrome 6500 is available only in cut sheets, in all standard sizes from 2 1/4 x 3 1/4 to 11x14 inches. Processing is with standard Anscochrome solutions.

NEWEST BABY in Cormac Chemical's Unibath family: Unidri, a solution designed to dry freshly processed films quickly, help them repel dust and prevent brittleness. Works with any processing system.

Coin Club

Two speakers will be heard by Long Beach Coin Club members when they meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Recreation Building, 350 E. Ocean Blvd. (Elm Way entrance). Alva Christensen will talk on "The Relationship of Antiques to Coin Collecting" and Ethel Stone will present "Human Interest Stories of Russia."

The customary auction and bourse tables are planned. Refreshments will be served.

Bulb Plants for Summer Bloom

By Joe Littlefield

DUTCH HYACINTHS, daffodils, tulips, ranunculus, anemone, Dutch iris, plus many others, are delightful spring blooming bulbs. Our spring gardens wouldn't be interesting without these satisfactory bulbs.

After they've finished blooming, gladiolus which has been planted periodically through April will provide lots of color and cut flowers. When you plant them be sure to work a tablespoon of bone meal into the hole for each plant. Bulbs should be planted about five to six inches deep to prevent stalks from toppling over when foliage is wet.

After gladiolus has finished blooming there aren't many types of bulbs left that continue to furnish color through out the summer. A mature, two to three year old clump of amarcinum will continue to flower, off and on, through summer.

AMARCRINUM is unlike most bulbs we know, because they grow large. It isn't uncommon for the flower stalk to grow up to three feet tall, much thicker than one's thumb, and to produce from 12 to 18 fragrant pink blossoms in a cluster. The flowers are larger than Brunsvigia rosea, which we used to call Amaryllis belladonna the "naked lily" because it blossoms sans leaves in August. The best feature of Amarcrinum is that the mass of flowers on the spike doesn't open all at once, and (Continued on Page 31)

Amarcrinum is a bulbous evergreen plant that bears clusters of pink, fragrant blooms on tall spikes, and long-lasting.

Tips on Gardening

GARDEN TIPS for the week . . . if you wish annuals for early spring flowering, then sow the seed indoors in flats. Be sure you supply sufficient moisture to germinate the seeds and to sustain growth after germination. Protection from drafts is advisable.

An interesting annual is Alyssum Royal Carpet, an All-America Selection. For an edging plant, low borders or accent marks this gorgeous purple flower as a natural. The plants are annuals but tend to reseed themselves.

Starting seeds in an indoor seed bed may prove difficult. To help things along you should place a piece of burlap over the seed bed and then water through it. But be sure to remove the burlap as soon as the seedlings break through the ground.

A mulch will save money and water this spring. Use products such as peat or leaf mold. They retain moisture, releasing it slowly to the plant roots.

Cut flowers before they go to seed. This saves the plant's strength and prolongs the flowering period. Cut on an angle, rather than straight across.

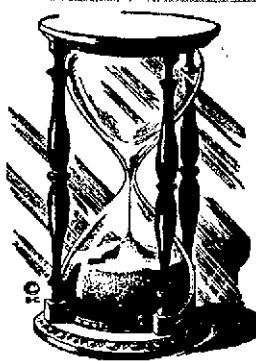

Bulb Plants

fade within a few days. Blooms open gradually, a day or so apart. Thus, one flower cluster on a stalk lasts ten days or longer, depending upon the weather. Gardeners should bear in mind, plants are somewhat susceptible to frost.

PLANT amarcinum in area of sunny flower bed where they'll be undisturbed for around four to five years. When clump becomes massive, dig it up, separate individual large bulbs from the mother clump and replant them.

A good idea is to work in a half-cup of bone meal into hole for each bulb and plant so that the top of bulb is level with surrounding garden level. Once bulbs start to grow, they like lots of water. Watch the watering though if soil is heavy and holds water longer than normal.

One of the other post-spring blooming bulbs is the tuberose. Both single and double white flowers are sweetly fragrant. They like a hot spot in the perennial flower bed where they'll be undisturbed for couple of years, and prefer to be somewhat dry before being watered.

Time is running out . . .

By Dorothy Jonson

The great army of aphids invade all gardens in spring. Controlling them means being very thorough when you spray, getting the spray material underneath the leaves as well as on top. For roses, I recommend a two-purpose spray (insecticide and fungicide) because it does two jobs in one . . . kills aphids and checks black spot, rust and mildew. Select a material that leaves no unsightly residue to spoil the beauty of either foliage or blossoms.

No spray material you use at this time of year gives lasting or residual control. This is impossible because your plants are growing . . . some as much as an inch a day and the new growth cannot be protected by residue. So, spray thoroughly. Then wait a bit . . . wash the aphids off with the water hose once or twice . . . and then spray again.

Lawns Need Edging

By Bob Gilmore

YOUR GARDEN will appear well groomed only if you practice a regular lawn edging program. As a matter of fact, a lawn mowing job will look quite incomplete unless finished off with intelligent edging. How well you perform this job will be determined very largely by the type of tool you use. The newer models will help you over the rough spots.

THE MAJORITY of the better known edgers work on the same principle. The operator walks the tool and a drive wheel running along the cement walk provides the traction that, in turn, causes the cutting wheel to revolve. Professional gardeners often employ what is known in the trade as a half-mower. This is actually a dual purpose tool. The mower part is used for trimming small areas such as the lawn around trees and in places that would be difficult for the average-sized mower. The tool also has a special edging blade that operates when the unit is held at a certain angle.

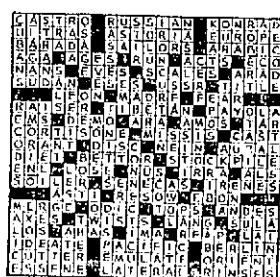

Grass shears are also available for the job of lawn edging. Keep in mind though that these should be used only for trimming small areas. These are especially valuable for cutting back the lawn runners from the irrigation basins formed for trees growing in lawns.

One of the best hand grass shears allows the handles to work in a vertical plane. This is easy on the operator for moving the hand in an up and down action is natural and not tiresome.

Tree Program

Plant-a-Tree and Conservation weeks will be observed simultaneously March 7 through March 14 at Los Angeles State and County Arboretum, 301 N. Baldwin Ave., Arcadia. Arbor Day will be marked at 3:45 p.m. March 7 with a program presented by Arcadia elementary school students and all children are invited. Each child attending accompanied by parent or youth leader will receive tree seeds or a tree seedling with instructions for Plant-a-Tree Week.

SOLUTION TO TODAY'S PUZZLE (See Page 34)

A MOST INTERESTING and rather recently introduced tool is a long handled grass shear. It eliminates the possibility of backaches and sore knees because the operator may stand up while trimming the lawn. A single wheel, positioned just in back of the shear, provides for added mobility. The unit is operated by a handle that works with an easy, up and down action.

A splendid edger is now available that is self-feeding and self-sharpening. Short, forward slicing strokes make it possible for a child to use this edger with assurance of success. It is not necessary to saw back and forth. The unit consists of a small concave cutting disk which rolls on a large disk held against the side of the walk . . . between the walk and the lawn. This may also be employed for curbing flower beds and tree basins. The large disk is also valuable for scraping grass plants from cracks in the pavement.

Half mower used by professional gardeners has edger on it.

Garden Club

Belmont Heights Garden Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Wesley Hall, 3rd St. and Mira Mar Ave. Principal speaker will be a representative of the county department of arboreta and botanic gardens. Hostesses will be Merle Brindel, chairman; Ellen Carver, Marie Sauls, Edith Dane, Cora Cook and Clare Thomas.

HOW TO Install a Scale, Telescoping Rod

1. POSITION AND trace outline of back of scale on wall for opening. Cut hole with keyhole saw or electric jigsaw. This unit is specially designed for studs set on 16-inch centers. If scale goes in an outside wall, repack insulation around it. Edges of hole are hidden by flange trim.

2. SET SCALE in opening and level it. Before you fasten it in place, open unit to make sure it sits on floor properly. Then screw it to face of studs, predrilling pilot holes for screws. Hand drill is best. Stock wood moldings may be added around edge of scale to match rest of trim.

3. FOR DRIP-DRY clothing, you can't beat a new, compact telescoping rod like this. To install it over bathtub, drill hole in wall slightly larger than diameter of rod's base. Fasten it to wall with screws driven through tiny metal flange.

4. POLISHED TRIM piece slips over rod and locks to the flange with a tiny screw. Most metal towel bars and rings are fastened to wall in same way, except they are flush mounted. The flange is screwed to wall, door or molding; trim piece fastens to it.

HAL SOLOMON
That Roof Really Slopes

PERSONS driving or walking along E. 2nd St. in Belmont Shore have something brand, spanking new to admire these days and they can't help commenting: "Hey, look what's happened to Hoefly's!"

A landmark on the Shore for several decades, Hoefly's, 4911 E. 2nd St., now presents a new exterior constructed of light-colored stone and a peaked roof that slopes almost to the sidewalk. Planned by co-owners Irving Solomon and his son Hal, designed by architect Robert L. Barnett of Beverly Hills, the restaurant's new face seems to be super-modern in style, but actually it's not.

"The design is Old English," Hal tells inquiring patrons. "It is similar to styles favored in Europe for many, many years."

INTERIOR decoration changes have also been made at Hoefly's, including luxurious, red wall-to-wall carpeting in the cocktail lounge (where pianist Bill Clark entertains at a circular bar.) New carpeting and light fixtures have been added to the dining and banquet rooms and Chef Charlie Cole's kitchen has been remodeled and re-equipped. In addition, the building has been air conditioned.

The cuisine at this famed dining spot has never been better. The house specialties include marvelous charcoal-broiled steaks (from $4.50 up), prime ribs of beef au jus, fabulous planked Porter-house steaks, flaming shish-kebab pilaf, grenadine of beef, tournedos of beef tenderloin and broiled French lamb chops. The sea food side of Hoefly's new menu includes such items as three-inch thick, charcoal-broiled northern whale halibut steak, $2.75; Monterey abalone steak with lemon butter, $2.75, and combination sea food platter, $2.90. The complete dinner entrees include chilled relishes, soup, salad, potato, dessert and beverage.

RAY MILLAND AND SON: The younger generation is getting taller

This clock tells you when

IT'S TIME TO PROPOSE

* WASHINGTON, D.C.

EXACTLY AT midnight tonight, one of America's most unusual antique clocks will tick out a romantic message.

With a whirl of wheels and a click of gears, this clock will announce that the time to propose has come. It will flip its dial to show the arrival of Monday, February 29—the bonus day that comes but once every four years, in Leap Years—and thereby signal to all eligible girls that they may grab the nearest bachelor and pop the question.

Plenty of clocks tell you the day and the month as well as the second, minute, and hour—but only a precious few are smart enough to figure out when it's Leap Year. This particular timepiece was made during a Leap Year, 1876, and the horologists who created it, Seth Thomas and Co., may well have been feeling sentimental. They fixed this clock so that every four years it proclaims February 29, which isn't easy, particularly for a clock.

Many of us have trouble even remembering which months have 30 days, but Seth Thomas built in reminders for his clock: 31 teeth of uneven size so delicately constructed that they correctly announce short months, long months—and Leap Year Februarys.

Working on the Railroad

By all rights, this clock should have started in life as the proudest possession of some lovely, sighing maiden. But its first job was as a railroad station clock at Upper Marlboro, Md., where commuters treated February 29 as just another day to go to the office.

Forty-odd years ago, when passenger rail service was discontinued in southern Maryland, the clock went into storage. By the time an antique dealer brought it back into public view, it was as heartbroken as a clock can be. It wouldn't tick, it wouldn't tock—and it paid no attention to Leap Year or any other year.

Scientist Luc Secretan bought it cheap for that reason. Secretan, a Swiss-born clock enthusiast who works on tiny instruments for Navy satellites, gave the antique dealer $5—for the privilege of putting the clock back in working order.

On February 28, 1956, he wound it up, set it—and waited. Exactly at midnight, the clock responded with a click—and showed February 29.

Secretan expects the clock to perform its Leap Year duty without missing a gear right up to the year 2100. In that year, it will make its first mistake—but not through any fault of its own. Seems that every 100 years (except for those years like 2000, which can be divided by 400) we skip Leap Year to keep the calendar exact to the last fraction of a second—and even this most unusual clock can't change the calendar.

—GLENN D. EVERETT

Pretty bachelorette Carole Vogt points out timely message on this antique clock: tomorrow is Leap Year Day.

HOW TO SOOTHE A TEETHER !

There's no question that some babies have more difficulty with teething than others. Sometimes nothing seems to help, but quite often you can soothe or distract baby with these simple tricks:

- Offer baby the foods he likes best. Fruits are especially welcome to the teether.
- Frequent sips of cool Gerber Fruit Juices or water help in the soothing department.
- A little extra loving care, plus fun and games, helps distract baby and keep him more cheerful. Favorite toys are good distractors, too.

NEW—and the best bet yet to soothe a teether. The new Gerber Teething Biscuits now have a waffle surface to give baby something he can really get his teeth into. What's more, the edges are now scalloped for easier grasping. Made from wholesome ingredients, they're pleasantly flavored. P.S. A Gerber Teething Biscuit makes a good distraction for a thumbsucking toddler.

Happy menu note for teething toddlers:

Gerber Junior Egg Yolks and Ham. This happy combination blends creamy, custard-y egg yolks with tender bits of tasty ham. Nutritionally speaking, it's rich in iron and vitamin A and a good source of body-building protein. Comes in a strained version for wee ones. Try the regular Gerber Strained Egg Yolks, too. Swell as a topping for cereal, or as a base for a toddler's nog.

Breakfast bliss for a junior master or miss. The new Gerber Junior Cereal, Egg Yolks and Bacon provides flavor galore and a good variety of nutrients from these 3 important food groups. Tastes just as good for supper when teamed with a Gerber vegetable and fruit. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Q Can you tell me why Sophia Loren was such a box-office hit in Italy and such a box-office flop in the U.S.?—Claire Sohl, Fort Worth, Tex.

A In Italy, the actress was a sex-symbol, played sexy roles, posed for revealing "cheesecake." In Hollywood she became demure, decided to become a dramatic actress of note, banned all "cheesecake-type" photos, now represents nothing but "another actress."

Q Who said, "When men are young they seek experience. When they've had experience they seek energy"?—Frank Worth, Los Angeles, Calif.

A Benjamin Disraeli.

Q Would you settle a bet? In which of our 50 states do people use the telephone most frequently—California or New York?—F.L., Detroit, Mich.

A In neither. The residents of Alaska use telephones more frequently than the residents of any other state. Alaskans average 609 calls a year, the rest of us average 472 a year.

Q Isn't the Vivien Leigh-Laurence Olivier marriage just about finished?—Nora Adamski, Buffalo, N.Y.

A Says Olivier: "Vivien and I have our problems, and we're trying to work them out privately."

Q Did President Eisenhower promise that all U.S. military forces in Morocco would be out by 1963?—J.T.R., Portland, Ore.

Q How old is Ty Cobb?—George Chandler, Atlanta, Ga.

A Cobb was 73 on December 18, 1959.

Q Is it true that without Dick Clark's help, Fabian would not have become a recording star?—Bridget Sullivan, Detroit, Mich.

A Fabian owes much of his success to Clark's support.

Q Who were Dinah Shore's parents? Where was Dinah born? What was her maiden name? Where was she raised? Where did she go to school?—S. Katzman, Harrisburg, Pa.

A Dinah Shore was born in Winchester, Tenn., the daughter of Sam and Sadie Shore. She was named Fanny Rose, attended high school and Vanderbilt University in Nashville, was raised in Nashville.

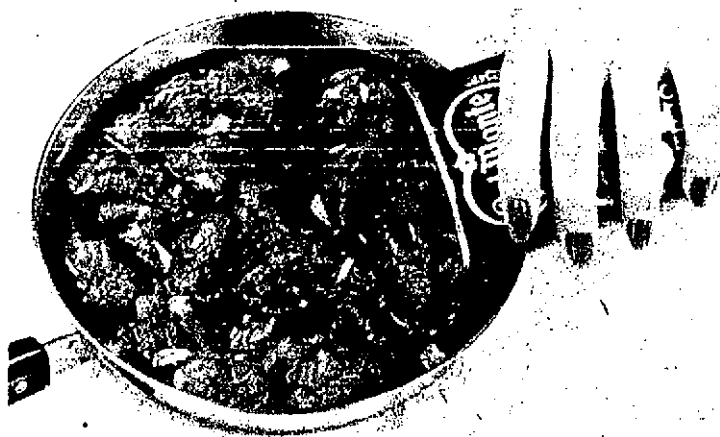

Q Is it true that the police chiefs in most major German cities are former Hitler stormtroop leaders?—Leon Kuy, Newark, N.J.

A Not in most German cities. Fritz Keunecke of Essen, Josef Manke of Dortmund, Karl Kiehne of Cologne, and Dr. Fritz Weber of the Interior Ministry responsible for the police forces of Westphalia, are reportedly former members of Hitler's SS. Seven other German cities also are said to employ SS-tainted police chiefs.

Today, tall guys and gals seem to stand well above the crowd...

6'9" BOB PETTIT, star of the St. Louis Hawks, has long been one of the tallest in pro basketball. But new men, like 7'2" Wilt Chamberlain, are even taller.

5'7" LYNDA LEE MEAD, the 1960 Miss America, is an example of skyward trend of U.S. girls. Six-foot showgirls, though, tower over Mississippi's Lynda.

6'4" CHRISTIAN HERTER, Secretary of State, is one of the tallest cabinet members in history. But a number of his younger subordinates are his height.

ARE WE BECOMING A NATION OF GIANTS?

by LLOYD SHEARER Parade West Coast correspondent

YEAR BY YEAR, Americans are growing taller. On the average our sons and daughters are or will be at least 1 inch taller than we are.

By the year 2000, it's likely that one of every three American men will measure at least 5 feet 10, one of every three American women at least 5 feet 6.

If present height trends continue for the next 100 years, we Americans, like the giant Africans, may well zoom into a nation of six-plus footers.

Here are a few statistics to ponder:

- In 1900 less than 4 per cent of American men measured 6 feet.
- Today, in the 20-29 age-group, one of every five is 6 feet tall.
- In 1900 less than 4 per cent of American women measured 5 feet 7.
- Today, in the 20-29 age-bracket, more than 18 per cent are 5 feet 7.

Today, American girls grow most rapidly at 11½ and reach 95 per cent of their full height at age 14½. They grow less than 1 inch after that age. Boys in this country grow most rapidly at age 13.8 and reach almost their full height at age 16½.

Meet Miss America

In 1921 the first winner of the Miss America beauty contest was 5 feet 1. Since then nearly all Miss America winners have been taller than 5 feet 4. In 1945 Bess Myerson, 5 feet 10, won the national title. In 1952 Colleen Hutchins, another five-foot-tenner, captured top honors.

At this moment in 1960, the national height averages are scanned at 5 feet 4 for women, 5 feet 8 for men. But this estimate may be on the short side.

Many tall parents are being outstripped by their children. Ray Milland, 6-foot-1 star of TV show Markham, looks up to his 6-foot-7 son, Daniel (see cover).

Years ago, a basketball player who reached 6 feet 4 was considered a giant. Today he's average. Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics is 6 feet 1 and regarded as one of the shortest men in professional basketball. In football, baseball, and tennis it's the same story.

Walk into any high-school playground. You'll find 14-year-olds ranging all the way from 5 feet 2 to 5 feet 10. Back in 1877 a group of 14-year-old school-boys was measured in Boston. They averaged 4 feet 7½ in height, 87 pounds in weight. Today's 14-year-old averages 6 inches more in height, 31 pounds more in weight.

This change in national stature is causing big changes in our lives.

For instance, a U.S. Office of Education study shows that schools are being forced to equip themselves with wider desks and shop benches and with higher shelves, sinks, and toilets to accommodate children whose average dimensions are larger than those of their parents and grandparents.

At Cornell, the University of California, and dozens of other colleges, new dormitories are equipped with beds 7 feet long.

The purchasing agent for a large hotel-chain confirms that he is now ordering 80-inch and king-size beds instead of the old standard 74-inch bed. Bath towels used to measure 24 inches by 44 inches. Now they're 26 inches by 52 inches.

"Our customers are growing all the time," the hotel executive declares, "and our facilities have to grow with them. The day of the 6-foot sofa is over. We're switching to 8-, 10-, even 12-foot sofas. Only in restaurants and night clubs are chairs being replaced in the old sizes. That's because the investment in restaurants is so high that the owners try to squeeze in as many people as possible."

Homes are tailored for bigness, too. Architects report that many homeowners demand higher doorways, elevated sinks, longer bathtubs.

A noted women's department store estimates that at least 10 per cent of America's women now fall into the tall-girl category: 5 feet 8 to 6 feet 3.

A store executive says, "Most of our customers are between the ages of 15 and 40, and they just seem to come taller and taller. I myself have waited on girls as tall as 6 feet 5. Most of the really tall girls, above 6 feet 2, seem to come from the West. They are fourth- or fifth-generation Americans. Our shoe sizes for tall girls begin at size 9 and go to 13. Our dresses, all extra length, start at size 10, go to size 22."

Thirty years ago, according to the International Institute of Clothing Designers, the average suit sold to the average American male was a size 38. Today the average ranges between a 41 and a 42.

Above-average Ike, 5'10", looks up to son John, 6'1". In heels, John's wife Barbara, who is 5'8", also is taller than President.

Tina Louise, 5'8"

Why are we growing taller? What's behind it? Is the end anywhere in sight, or do we just continue growing until we get so large that we can no longer find food for our bodies and disappear like dinosaurs from the face of the earth?

The consensus of scientific conjecture is that our increase in stature has been brought about by:

1) Better nutrition; 2) improved environmental health conditions; 3) better control of childhood diseases; 4) the working of evolutionary forces that somehow stimulate growth.

Professor Carl Seltzer of Harvard says that Americans began to grow taller as far back as 1800. During the Revolutionary War the average American soldier measured 5 feet 4 in height. Six years ago the average soldier in our Army stood 5 feet 8½. "I am inclined to believe," says Dr. Seltzer, "that in addition to such obvious factors as improved diet, hygiene, and medical care, there has been some sort of evo-outstripped by skyrocketing children

lutionary spurt that has accelerated growth."

Dr. Earnest Hooton of Harvard, a noted anthropologist who died in 1954, suggested that possibly there was some factor, as yet undetermined, in modern life that stimulated the pituitary gland, which controls the body's growth. Just what that factor is, however, no one seems to know for sure.

What Can Be Done?

Can anything be done to regulate height? A few height-control experiments have been carried out with limited success. Growth hormone, isolated just a few years ago, is available in small quantities for a few studies.

Ideally, doctors would like to be able, by using hormones, to stimulate growth in short children and to slow the rate of growth in those who appear to be sprouting too tall. These efforts are still experimental.

The best thing we can do about our height, as Dr. Hooton recommended several years ago, is "to accept it." ■

The long and the short of it

EVEN THOUGH Americans are growing taller, we will always have short, medium, and rangy people.

Is it better to be short or tall? There are two sides to the question. Here are some advantages of being tall:

1. Tall people may be smarter. Studies show gifted children run tall for their ages.
2. Tallness earns respect.
3. Height sometimes can mean a job.

In certain situations, though, tallness works against you. For example:

1. Clothes may just hang.
2. You may encounter inconveniences, as in hotel or dormitory beds that are too short.
3. Tallness can cause dating problems. For the tall girl especially, height narrows the field since in our society "he should be taller than she."
4. If you're tall, you may be the butt of jokes. It's part of what some doctors call "short man's syndrome."

An information-packed article about your baby's care, feeding, growth and fun.

When should you expect your baby to eat less?

New Instant Baby Cereal

How to get baby a spillproof tumbler

Forewarning that can save you worry: your baby's appetite will probably decrease during two periods—around the middle of his first year, and the beginning of the second. His little body has been growing bigger so fast you can hardly believe it, but about midyear and first birthday the growth rates slows down—and less food is needed.

• Not-hungry times may also be caused by teething, fatigue, too much excitement, an illness coming or going. When a toddler turns against food, perhaps a new baby in the family is getting too much attention. If appetite doesn't pick up, check with your doctor.

• What's your cue when your healthy baby's appetite lags? Try serving smaller portions—a heaping helping is a discouraging sight to an unhungry person. Serve baby's favorite foods often, and if he spurns favorites (sometimes he will!) it's easy to offer substitutes—you can choose from over 100 nutritious Heinz Baby Foods. It's a reassuring fact—if he hasn't been coaxed and urged, your little one will eat more when his body needs more.

• Thank you, mothers, for the thousands of letters you've written thanking Heinz for bringing screw-on caps to baby food jars! Our convenient new caps open with one turn and reseal airtight just as easily. Heinz was first, now all Heinz Strained Baby Food jars come with screw-on caps.

• An instant success—Heinz delicious new Instant Cereals that mix smooth in five fast seconds! These wonderful Instant Cereals, made by Heinz, won't thicken while your baby eats—they stay smooth, unlumpy, easy to feed. You'll find all 5 Heinz Instant Cereals in attractive new packages—Heinz High Protein, Oatmeal, Rice, Barley and Mixed Cereals.

• Want one of Heinz Spillproof Tumblers for your baby? The lid with its perforated spout lets liquid flow through slowly. Can be used without lid when baby has learned to handle a cup. For a non-breakable nylon tumbler, pink or blue, send 50¢ and 6 labels from any Heinz Baby Foods to Heinz Baby Foods, Box 28, D-54, Pittsburgh 30, Pa. In sturdy pink or blue plastic, only 25¢ and 6 labels.

P.S. In baby's new tumbler try Heinz newest juice treat—fresh, tangy Pineapple Juice, sweetened slightly and fortified with vitamin C.

• A creeper has to concentrate hard to get ahead in the world! Look at this earnest little fellow's tongue in a point, toes dug in, and arms stiff for shoving. Isn't it fun to watch how diligently and patiently your baby practices to learn every new skill?

• Know what else besides high-quality protein your baby gets from Heinz 100% Meats? They're rich in iron, minerals and many vitamins—especially B. There are 6 Junior, 8 Strained varieties.

YOU WON'T HAVE trouble telling boy babies from girl babies this year, even without blue booties.

From the cradle to the kindergarten, little boys are supposed to wear clothes copied from grown-up styles for men—right down to the last word in belted backs and flap pockets. Button-down shirt collars, double-breasted waistcoats, and cummerbunds are some of the new ideas for the pin-up set.

As the stylish toddlers on these pages display, even an 18-month-old now can dress like Dad. Under his notched lapels, though, he's still a baby—and the new styles conceal the old reliable plastic pants and snap bottoms.

This too may change, though, in the growing trend toward the "big man" look. One big diaper concern has already announced something new for boy babies: diapers with a plaid pattern.

A CHIFFON CUSTARD PIE

Two favorite fillings
join to make a pastry for special occasions

by BETH MERRIMAN

Parade food editor

COCONUT CUSTARD PIE is always a favorite. So is fluffy chiffon pie. Combine the two, add the fragrance of white wine, offer strawberry sauce to crown each wedge, and your guests will sing your praises.

Be sure the dinner that precedes the pie is worthy of it. You might begin with a clam and tomato juice cocktail with sesame crackers. Follow up with a roast of tender beef, scalloped potatoes and onions, Harvard beets, and a green salad tossed with a tangy blue-cheese dressing. Add crisp, hot French bread or rolls if you wish. Then bring forth the pie and relax. All is indeed well!

CHIFFON CUSTARD PIE (with strawberry sauce)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup sauterne or other white wine
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 3 eggs, separated
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup whipping cream, divided
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 baked 9" pie shell
- ½ cup flaked coconut, toasted
- 1 package (12 oz.) frozen sliced strawberries

Soften gelatine in ¼ cup sauterne. Combine sugar, salt, milk, and slightly beaten egg yolks in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Add gelatine and vanilla, stirring until gelatine dissolves. Remove from heat; add remaining wine. Chill until mixture begins to stiffen. Meanwhile, whip ½ cup cream; beat egg whites until foamy; add 2 tablespoons sugar slowly; beat until a soft meringue is formed. Fold whipped cream and meringue into gelatine mixture. Spoon into pie shell. Chill until firm. Whip remaining cream; spread on surface of pie. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serve with barely thawed sliced strawberries.

PLAY IT SAFE

OCCUPATIONAL ACCIDENTS—in a factory, office, or at home in the kitchen—cause more than 13,000 deaths and 2 million injuries every year.

Will this toll climb even higher as industry, now plunging into the Space Age, becomes ever more complex? While man is the world's most adaptable creature, can he keep pace with the products of his own ingenuity? Can he overcome those age-old faults of carelessness, taking chances, and cutting corners that seem so deeply rooted in human nature?

President Eisenhower has called 3,000 business, labor, and civic leaders to Washington, D.C., Tuesday for a three-day debate on these questions. As part of the marking of Job Safety Week, which starts today, delegates to the President's Conference on Occupational Safety will tackle one of the greatest challenges of the soaring 60s: How to keep Americans safe while they are at work.

While they will discuss better buildings and foolproof equipment, safety must depend in the end on the human factor. In cooperation with the President's Conference, PARADE has prepared 10 simple safety rules, which may save your life, sight, or health:

1. Stay alert and stay alive—the more wide-awake a worker is the less likely he is to get hurt. If you don't understand how to operate a tool or perform a task, ask. Don't just guess and muddle through. Make sure you know in advance the correct, safe way to do it.

2. Wear the right clothes—work clothes should fit snugly. Anything that can catch in machinery or trip you up is taboo. Women workers with long hair should always wear some form of hair net that will keep it out of harm's way. Where protective clothing or equipment is provided, use it.

3. Use the right tools—if you need a hammer, get a hammer. It may be handier to use a pair of pliers, wrench, or screwdriver—or even your fist. But you will have only yourself to blame if you break your fingers.

4. Learn how to lift—lifting takes more than muscle; it is an art. Don't try to show how strong you are; you may end in a hospital. Get help to handle anything that is too heavy or cumbersome for you.

5. Don't be a prankster—practical jokes and horseplay can be dangerous around machinery. If you feel the urge to frolic, resist it until after work.

6. Be tidy—good housekeeping reduces hazards in the factory or home. Always put away tools when they are not in use. Keep floors swept, pick up scraps, wipe up spilled liquids. A slip or a trip can be fatal.

7. Reporting is important—never fail to report all accidents, defective equipment, and unsafe conditions. Keeping a machine going with baling wire might seem ingenious at the time. But it might cost somebody's life.

8. Get first aid at once if you're hurt—even if it is just a scratch. Have an injury treated. Neglect may lead to serious infection, weeks of lost time, even permanent injury.

9. Back your safety program—if you have an idea you believe will reduce accidents, tell your boss about it. Set an example by obeying all safety rules. Cooperate with the safety committee where you work.

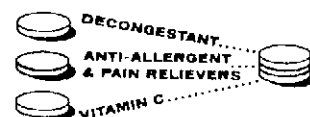

10. Never take a chance—next to sheer carelessness, the short cut is probably the biggest killer of all. To save a minute or two, you may lose a lifetime. Whatever you are doing, if you are not doing it safely, you are not doing it right!

MY LIFE

Man and menace: wearing dark glasses to cut down glare, the author surveys his 4-by-10-mile iceberg home for marauding polar bears. (r.) Dangerous bears blend into ice, creep silently up on wary—and armed—men.

ON AN ICEBERG

by GERY CABANISS

How would you like to spend the winter adrift in the Arctic on an iceberg? I can tell you what it's like. For I just got off the Cube, a shimmering, 200-foot-thick mass of ice 10 miles long by 4½ miles wide, which floats ponderously in the dark, turbulent waters of the Arctic.

Officially it is known as T-3 (Radar Target 3), an Air Force outpost in the frozen no man's land between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. For a total of 15 months, covering three periods of duty, I lived on the Cube with a handful of adventurers. I was assigned as a geologist to probe Arctic weather, currents, sea bottom, and ice structure. Since I helped to plot the Cube's drift (the current carries it around a 1,000-mile circle every 10 years), I was known too as the "navigator."

People ask me what it's like to float around on the ice remote from civilization. What kind of strains and frictions develop among men huddled together for months in cold and darkness?

Life on an iceberg takes a special breed of man. He must be easy-going, willing to work, flexible, self-assured. Above all, he must be resourceful and quick-thinking, for life on the ice has its perils. The cold, of course, is one: in midwinter in the Cube's present location, it may be 50 or more below zero. Sudden Arctic storms sting the whole outpost with their knife-edged gusts.

More dangerous are the four-footed perils: polar bears. These big brutes, each about 1,000 pounds of white fur and cold fury, clambered out of the icy sea to scavenge around our camp. The polar bear is undisputed king of the Arctic and he brooks no interference from man or animal. In the past year, we have shot nine—all but one in self-defense.

It would be folly to wander around camp without a rifle or .45, and practical jokes about polar bears are strictly taboo. Creeping up behind someone in the darkness and growling would invite a bullet. For when a bear is about, you shoot first and ask questions afterward.

Not long ago, a campmate and I were chased twice in two days by the same bear. We had made our way to a little hut some distance from the main camp. As we rounded the hut, we almost walked into the bear's great white mittens. I must have leaped 6 feet in the air and hit the ground running. We both dashed into the hut to safety.

The next day at the hut, he came after us again and started clawing at the flimsy wall. We scrambled to the roof, and my friend blasted the bear with his rifle. We gave the skin to the commanding officer. There isn't much demand for polar bear rugs. Whoever wants one has to skin the beast—a cold, messy job.

The Far North Frontier

With such close shaves frequent, why do men go back again and again—as I have—to the Cube? For many reasons: One is a love of adventure and frontier life. For scientists, there is the opportunity to do field work and get away from shuffling papers. For Air Force men, six months' duty on the Cube is counted as triple time in Alaska and is often followed by an assignment of their choosing.

Fifteen Air Force men and six to 10 civilian scientists, living snugly together in 13 trailers, make up our community. Inevitably, there is a certain amount of strain and strife. But there never has been a fight among the members of the group. Only one man ever was sent home—and not for psychiatric reasons. He had received a "Dear John" letter from his wife.

Why We Love Winter

If you want to know what kinds of men should not live on an iceberg, I can tell you bluntly: the booster, slacker, whiner, and martinet. When these types rub noses raw, we invoke the silent treatment. The Arctic days and nights are too long and lonely for a man to invite more solitude.

You might imagine that we dread the winter most, with its darkness, below-zero temperatures, and wind howling around the trailers. But it is summer that presents the most problems. When the weather warms, the ice begins to drop, and we wade around in slush. The airstrip is too soft for planes to land, and parachuted supplies must be dragged laboriously into camp. We are always glad when the first breath of winter starts to harden the ice.

Will I go back to that lonely iceberg again? You bet, if I get the chance. Once a man's eyes have been filled with the breathtaking beauty of the Arctic, it remains in his heart forever. I have often wondered if the Cube—yes, even with the polar bears included—may not have many advantages over the trials, triumphs, and tears of civilization.

"I have no trouble shooting in the low 60s—I get power in my drives, chip like a pro, putt with perfection and cheat on my score!"

EDITOR'S NOTE: William Bendix, whose new TV show, Overland Trail, got under way a few weeks ago, used to be a grocery-store manager in Orange, N.J. In 1929 when he was 23, the Depression hit New Jersey, and Bendix ended up in the state's Federal Theatre Project.

Since then, he's stayed out of grocery stores, largely because he's been too busy on Broadway and in Hollywood even to do the family shopping. Television and radio fans will remember Bill as the bumbling, lovable "idiot-father" in The Life of Riley.

Last year Bendix tried his hand at personal appearances. Then he went into his new TV show, forsaking comedy for drama. His craggy face should find a comfortable home in Westerns, but he regards himself as a "character actor with emphasis on comedy."

Here are some of his favorite jokes:

My favorite jokes

by WILLIAM BENDIX

A FEW NIGHTS AGO I was taking a walk with my wife. A well-known Hollywood actress who's been married five, maybe six times, strolled by with her latest husband. My wife squeezed my arm. "Look at her," she said. "She's been married so many times she has rice marks."

TWO BUSINESS PARTNERS were fishing in a small boat. Suddenly a storm came up. The boat capsized, and the two men found themselves in the water. One began to swim, but the other had all he could do to tread water. He was splashing and sputtering helplessly.

"Say, Harold," the swimmer said to his sinking partner, "can you float alone?"

"You crazy?," the partner yelled. "I'm drowning, and you talk business."

A PATIENT ENTERED a dentist's office to have a tooth pulled. He was so frightened that he began to tremble. Finally, in order to calm the poor guy down, the dentist offered him a shot of whiskey. The patient downed three slugs in a hurry. The dentist smiled tolerantly and said, "There, young fellow, you should feel a whole lot braver now. Got your courage back?"

"You bet," he snarled. "I'd like to see anybody try and touch my teeth now."

FOREMAN: Boss, the men on the dock are leery of that new freight-loader you hired yesterday.

BOSS: What do you mean? He seemed okay to me.

FOREMAN: Maybe so, but this morning he stubbed his toe on a crate of iron castings and said, "Oh! The perversity of inanimate objects."

THERE WAS the fellow who came home to his furious wife at 5 a.m. "Okay," said the wife, "what sort of ridiculous excuse have you got this time?"

"No excuse," said the husband. "Friendship has its responsibilities, you know. And I was taking care of a sick friend."

The wife's eyes narrowed into a pair of dark green slits. She demanded to know the name of the sick friend.

"I'm sorry," her husband said. "He was too sick to identify himself."

I LIKE THE ONE about the customer who complained to the restaurant manager, "Why do you serve cloudy water in this joint?" The manager looked at the glass of water. "I'm sorry to disagree with you, sir," he said. "There's absolutely nothing wrong with this water. The glass is dirty, that's all."

HEADACHE RELIEF STARTS IN YOUR STOMACH

LIQUID PAIN RELIEVER

There are pills for headache and neuralgia. But they must dissolve in the stomach (this is sometimes a slow process and delays relief).

But ALKA-SELTZER in a glass of water is a pleasant, easy-to-take liquid pain reliever. ALKA-SELTZER gives you more complete relief because it contains more medication, special ingredients not obtainable in pills. These ingredients quickly relieve pain of headache and neuralgia, and soothe away upset stomach.
